HAYES REITERATES NECESSITY OF COMM. COOPERATION

"Food problems to be faced today are not as serious as they will be in the future," Acting Director Joe Hayes told the Council Tuesday night.

"You read the newspapers foolishly and you just can't find them. They are already talking about retinuing soon," Hayes announced.

"Even today, there are lots of things we can't buy with good U.S. money, because we just can't find them.

However, residents in Tule Lake, Hayes believes will have no reason to be hungry when they are given rice as a much needed food stuff here.

In an impassioned appeal to the council, Hayes reiterated that and again the necessity of the Japanese populous realizing the fact that Tule Lake is their country and that they must pull together to get the most out of their temporary residences here. He stressed the necessity of showing patience in the part of residents to get what they want.

WE ARE READY

SOMETHING we are at loss to find reasonable justification for a brand of criticism that is based on the WJA and relocation centers as a whole by some of the non-thinking citizens living outside those barbed-wire fences.

They say that the Japanese people within the centers are being malnourished by WJA officials, and that the residents themselves are having a "grand picnic" with all the trimmings that go with it.

WJA personnel are sympathetic and understanding, to be sure, for which we are grateful. They, who can find high-salaried wartime jobs easily outside today, are living in barracks like one of us, foregoing much of their accustomed conveniences and bending every effort to seek comfort for residents under the inauspicious circumstances in which we find ourselves.

But they are not easily-condemned the Japanese. They may certainly regulations to follow, and daily orders from Washington to carry out, and they are doing it precisely and strictly, consistent with the wartime situations prevailing throughout the country.

It is no plume to trudge through hot dusty roads to buy ice-cold to imitate your weary-looked children, and to eat stew, sometimes spilled with sand, and be told your little kids are "wonderful" if you go back home." It is no plume to hear plaintive voice from elderly gent, "what's in store for us after the war?"

It is no plume to realize that we must offer adequate recreational facilities for our growing youth, to till the farm land to feed 16,000, to look after their health, their morals and morale, and to keep everybody busy in useful labor in a closely-confined society like ours.

But this will not get us down. We, who are in the same boat, are making the best of the situation by working hard and playing hard together. We realize the historical part we are taking in the present drama of world-upheaval. We are proud of the fact that we have done so far so good.

Citizens outside are well to let us alone, and with-hold their judgment on us or the WJA personnel until they have a fair view of us. We are mentally prepared and grimly determined to do our part in the present national crisis. Are you? ME!

IT'S UP TO US

Living as we do,—a aloof-cut community of 16,000, in extreme proximity with one another,—it is natural that numerous misunderstandings and problems are bound to arise.

Our City is still in its formative stages. Many perplexing problems must be solved before the City settles down to a well-adjusted communal pattern.

It is up to the residents themselves to iron out the difficulties. The future well-being of the City depends entirely upon how well the residents can handle the first months of occupation.

It is imperative that each problem be solved intelligently, through orderly negotiations. In this respect, utmost cooperation from the administration is necessary to maintain morale and harmony within the City.

Administration officials should spare no effort to maintain close contact with the residents. Only by the comprehension of the residents' problems in their entirety, can matters be satisfactorily solved.

IT'S UP TO US to determine whether we are to live in harmony or in hell.

BY KEN HAYASHI

Loudly acclaimed as the best concert show presented at the Coliseum, last Saturday's Masiguis had thousands of customers rolling in the mythical aisles.

Well balanced and with plenty of "crowd appeal" the program started off with a bang with Pine- dale's TOSHIKO ODAI rendering a popular selection. Little 11-year-old KENKO OKADA, Tacoma's top tap dancing star gave her usual good performance...and it was good. We like- hand NATIONAL's two crack musicians—Harry- ville ace, stylist showed plenty of rhythm punch in especially the "Don't Sit Under The Apple Tree" number—Pine- dale's sensational 15-year-old singer, MARTHA RYDRUM, was in her usual good form and the tremendous ovation she received was justly deserved. GEORGE IWAKI's "sawdust" renditions were not only unique, but the beautiful new quality was amazing. We are sure the customers would like to hear more of Iwakiri, his saw and bow. Everybody in Cal knows about the super lovely coloratura voice of attractive FUMIKO YABE. MINI KATSURAGI's clear strong voice was very easy on the ears...His duet with Miss Yabe was splendid...

A great amount of the credit in putting the Masiguis over should belong to the Maestro DAVE GILDA. His smooth conducting had much to do with how the music rolled along, and it rolled along perfectly. The "experts" DON YABE, PETER IBARASHI, HILL FU- JII and MIN OKADA surprised the audience with their amazing knowledge on things musical. The whole program was studied with excellent talent.

N.G. for the night was PAUL TAKAHASHI.
