OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Oregon Normal School is pleasantly situated in the attractive little city of Monmouth in the most beautiful part of the Willamette valley. It is located about 15 miles southwest of Salem, the state capital, and 70 miles from Portland.

The site of the present campus and principal buildings was originally the property of a denominational college belonging to the Christian Church. The most cherished traditions, sacred to the memory of the heroic pioneers, whose sacrificial endeavors brought into realization their dream of Christian education, cluster about the walls of the central building dedicated by their devoted efforts. Here a number of influential men and women, some of the leading spirits in the development of the Northwest, secured their early training.

In 1885, the college buildings and surrounding grounds became the property of the state, and upon this material basis was organized the first State Normal School of Oregon. The founding of this institution became the incentive for the establishment of three other schools within the next several years: The Central Oregon Normal School at Drain, the Southern Oregon Normal School at Ashland, and the Eastern Oregon Normal School at Weston. After a comparatively short existence, in 1909, the Normal School at Drain was abolished by legislative action and the property transferred to the school district of that community. The same year the three other Normal Schools were forced to suspend operations because of lack of legislative appropriation for their maintenance.

In 1910, the school at Monmouth was reestablished under the authority of the electorate expressed through an initiative measure, and the institution opened its doors for active operation in September the following year. Since that time its growth has been steady and its development progressive. The attendance has constantly increased, except that during the period of the World War the number of young men students especially was greatly reduced. Following the war, the recovery in favor and influence has been rapid and the institution has advanced both intensively and extensively. The enrollment has more than doubled during the past three years, confronting the state with the obligation of providing enlarged facilities in the way of buildings, equipment, and instructional force.

The unusual development of the Normal School, under pressure of the educational necessity of the state, seems to be advancing rapidly to the inevitable expansion of the institution from the standard normal school with a two-years' curriculum to a teachers' college with a four-years' curriculum.

FOUNDATION AND AIM

The Normal School at Monmouth, true to its original conception as a vocational school, is concerned with the professional training of teachers. It executes its purpose in full consciousness that teaching is an art—the greatest of arts—and that the basic principles of this art are to be found in the greatest of sciences—the study of human life—especially from the biological, psychological, and sociological standpoints. It recognizes that unity of endeavor which properly characterizes the aims of the educational institutions of the state, and realizes the decisive responsibility of the state in selecting and training its teachers. Toward this end, the purpose and the curriculum of the Oregon Normal School are directed.
The entire course of study is organized around the central idea of contributing power and culture to the individual student and in aiding him in acquiring skill in the teaching process. Every class exercise, every assignment, and every recreational activity is designed to contribute to these fundamental purposes. The Normal School exists not primarily for the benefit of the students, intended to enhance the earning power of one class at public expense, but to extend a knowledge and develop a skill dedicated in a peculiar way to the general welfare of all the people of the state.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

The material plant of the Oregon Normal School consists of a group of seven buildings, including an administration building with auditorium and classrooms, a modern training school completely equipped, a women's dormitory (the most tastily furnished and best appointed in the Northwest), a commodious gymnasium, a “Senior Cottage,” a “Junior House,” and a “Faculty House,” and a central heating plant and laundry, located upon a campus of about eleven acres adorned by a beautiful grove of native fir and maple, and by other ornamental trees, shrubs, vines and flowers.

In addition to these buildings provided by the state, the Normal School has the unrestricted use of the public school building at Independence, Oregon, for training purposes; and is accorded the privilege of supervising the commercial work of the Monmouth and Independence high schools in order to secure teaching experience for students of the Commercial Department of the Normal. To make provision for students desiring practice in rural teaching, six rural schools thoroughly equipped and located in progressive, intelligent communities are at the service of the Normal as model training schools.

In the Administration building are two libraries: One a general library consisting of professional and reference works and books of general literary, scientific and historical value, as well as the current magazines and newspapers; the other a teachers’ model library where practice teachers secure their material for the elaboration of lesson plans and their inspiration for the most effective teaching.

LIVING ACCOMMODATIONS

IN WOMEN’S RESIDENCE HALLS

Excellent accommodations are available for about 200 women in the Women’s Dormitory, Senior Cottage and Junior House. The rooms are completely furnished, but it is suggested that students provide themselves with a dresser scarf, shoe-bag and laundry-bag. Household linen is taken care of in the institutional laundry but facilities are provided students for doing their personal laundry at a small charge. A deposit of two dollars ($2.00) is required for the reservation of a room in advance, which amount will be refunded in case the student occupies the room for a full term, or will be forfeited if the room is not claimed by noon of the opening day. The following prices prevail at the present time:

- Room rent per week, payable monthly in advance............. $1.50
- Board per week, payable monthly in advance.............. 4.50

No reduction for meals or room will be made unless the student is absent for more than one week. The above prices are subject to slight fluctuation according to the current cost of living.
WITH PRIVATE FAMILIES

A majority of the students of the Normal School find comfortable living accommodations in the homes of the citizens of Monmouth. A committee made up from the faculty and the student body passes upon the sanitary condition and desirability of the rooms and places for living offered students. The committee keeps a list of rooms and boarding places for the convenience of students. Such lists will be furnished students upon their arrival at the office of the Registrar or of the Dean of Women, and will be sent students upon request, for consideration and selection before they leave their homes for the Normal.

Furnished room and board may be secured at from seven dollars ($7.00) to seven and one-half dollars ($7.50) per week. For those students who desire to do light housekeeping, rooms are available at two dollars ($2.00) per week. Appreciable economy may be practiced by students who desire to club together. A limited number of opportunities is offered students to earn a part or all of their living expenses by securing employment about the Normal School or with citizens of Monmouth.

TUITION AND FEES

A tuition charge of six dollars ($6.00) is required by the state, and a student body fee of three dollars ($3.00) is collected, each quarter, making a total charge of twenty-seven dollars ($27.00) for the regular school year, or thirty-six dollars ($36.00) for the four quarters.

A charge of three dollars ($3.00) is made for a diploma at graduation, and an initiation fee of one and one-half dollars ($1.50) is required for life membership in the Alumni association.

A fee of one dollar ($1.00) for the first day and an additional dollar for succeeding days up to a total of three dollars ($3.00) is required for late registration. Also an extra charge of 50 cents is made for change in registration after the first week.

A charge of one dollar ($1.00) is made for each additional transcript of credit furnished after the first one.

ADMISSION TO THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Requests for information concerning admission should be addressed to the Registrar, the Oregon Normal School, Monmouth, Oregon.

HEALTH

In order to be able to complete the training required for successful teaching, and then to perform satisfactorily the varied duties of the school room, a person must possess a sound mind in a sound body. Persons characterized by mental abnormalities or afflicted with pronounced physical deformity or suffering from active tuberculosis, excessive goitre, valvular heart disease, epilepsy, or convulsions, are not eligible for admission. In cases of doubt, applicants for admission are required to be examined by qualified psychologists and physicians. To avoid interruptions in attendance, all dental work should be completed before entrance. Only persons of approved moral character are retained in the Normal School.
NEW STUDENTS

Students arriving in Monmouth for the first time should proceed directly to the Administration Offices of the Normal School, where information concerning living accommodations and direction as to procedure for registration will be given. All students notifying the Normal School of the date of their arrival will be met at the terminal station and advised concerning registration and living accommodations.

CREDENTIALS

1. Students entering the Normal School for the first time should send their credentials to the Registrar by mail at least two weeks in advance of registration.

2. Students entering with advanced standing, through credits earned in another institution, should present to the Registrar, in advance, a transcript of entrance and advanced credits to be transferred, accompanied by a letter or statement of honorable dismissal.

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

The scholastic requirements for admission to the Normal School are determined by the uniform rules for admission adopted by a committee from the State University and State College, and the independent colleges and Oregon Normal School. These rules modified to apply to the Normal School require

A. Graduation from a standard four-year high school (or an equivalent academy.)

B. Fifteen or more units of high school or academic work distributed as follows:

1. Ten units,* earned from the subjects in Group One, three in English,* one in algebra and six in the following subjects elected ad libitum—American history (including civics and economics), foreign language, mathematics, laboratory sciences.*

2. Five units earned in subjects in Group Two: Any subject offered in high school courses of study of the state, except penmanship, spelling, military drill, physical training or student body activities.

Students who meet the entrance requirement of 15 or more units of credit, but who are deficient in some of the required subjects, may be admitted on condition, the deficiency to be eliminated as soon as possible.

Students whose preparatory work was done in nonstandardized institutions, or who lack one or more credits for entrance, may be admitted by passing an entrance examination covering the subjects in which admission credit is desired.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Persons of 20 years of age who are able to demonstrate their ability to pursue with profit the courses offered by the Normal School may be admitted as special students, but they do not become candidates for graduation until they have met the requirements for admission.

---

* It is not necessary that these ten units be made up from a required number earned in each subject, except that the minimum in English is three units. If no science is included, the student will be required to earn certain credits in science in the Normal. The emphasis in English should be upon syntax and original composition.
Exemption by Entrance Examination

1. In order to secure a thorough knowledge of arithmetic, grammar and spelling before entering upon a study of methods of teaching them, students are required to enter classes organized to present the fundamental principles of these subjects from the pedagogical standpoint. No credit is allowed for the study of these common branches in the Normal School. However, students may earn exemption from these courses by passing an examination in them at the time of entrance, or upon returning to the Normal School after an absence of three or more terms. These examinations are given at 8 o'clock on the first day of registration each term.

Students entering with advanced credit sufficient to enable them to graduate in one or two terms are exempt from taking arithmetic, grammar and spelling.

2. Students who have mastered the elements of certain subjects by former study may secure exemption in them by passing an examination as indicated above, thus relieving them to devote their time to more advanced, elective courses, or to proceed directly to the study of methods of teaching these subjects.

Credit Secured by Examination

Students with thorough knowledge of subjects offered in the Normal School, gained by study in other institutions, or by teaching them repeatedly, but who have not earned acceptable credit in any institution, may earn credit in the Normal School by passing an examination in them at the time of entrance.

Advanced Standing

Students who have completed courses, equivalent to those offered by this institution in other normal schools, approved colleges and universities, will receive credit for such courses; though but limited credit is allowed for professional or technical subjects. Credit from other institutions should be filed with the registrar on the official form of the institution from which they are earned, at least two weeks prior to entrance.

1. Undergraduates.
   a. Students who enter the Normal School with a year or more of advanced credit from another institution, but who are not graduates, are required to complete three terms of residence work with a credit of 48 hours before graduation.
   b. These students may secure the one-year certificate without examination in two terms, with a credit of 32 hours, or may secure the same certificates in one term, with a credit of 16 hours, by also passing the state examinations.

2. Graduates of Other Institutions.
   a. Graduates of standard normal schools, colleges, or universities may be graduated from the Oregon Normal School after successful residence work of two terms, 24 weeks, in case the accepted credit includes at least 15 hours in education. Graduates entering with 30 hours of credit in education may complete the course in one term.
b. Graduates of standard colleges in Oregon, who after their freshman year have attended the Oregon Normal School for a period of one term (12 weeks) and completed the course in methods and in the training school for that period, will be entitled to receive from the State of Oregon, without examination, a certificate entitling such graduates to teach in the elementary grades.

c. Graduates of Oregon Normal Schools prior to 1911 may be graduated after residence work of two terms, with a credit of 32 hours.

3. Teachers of Long Experience.
   Teachers who have had five or more years of successful experience and who present 64 hours of advance credit may be graduated after residence work of two terms with a credit of 32 hours.

4. Holders of State Diplomas or State Life Certificates.
   Holders of state diplomas or state life certificates acquired by examination may be graduated from the Oregon Normal School after residence work of one year, and the completion of 48 hours of credit.

CORRESPONDENCE STUDY

Because of its limited financial resources, the Oregon Normal School does not, at the present time, conduct any correspondence study department. To meet such deficiency and to give students an opportunity to have the advantages of such study, it is now availing itself of the efficient correspondence study department conducted by the University of Oregon. Credit secured through correspondence study with the University is accepted by the Normal School on certain subjects that are similar to, or related to, those offered in the Normal. A list of such subjects with the credit to be earned will be furnished students upon request.

RESIDENCE

The residence requirement is three terms, 36 weeks, with full credit, 48 hours. The only exceptions to this regulation are those indicated in paragraphs 2 and 3, under advanced standing. The residence period must include the final term, though a six-weeks' summer session will satisfy this part of the requirement.

REGISTRATION

1. Time of Registration.
   Students in residence at the close of any quarter will register for the succeeding quarter on the days announced on the bulletin boards and in the Students' Weekly Newspaper. New students or those returning after an absence of one or more quarters will register on the first day of the quarter.

2. Order of Procedure.
   Registration is held in the Administration building, beginning at 8 o'clock a. m. Usually new students are registered in the early part of the day and former students later. Due announcement of this fact will be made.

   On arrival at the building, students will be presented with a direction sheet explaining the routine to be followed. It indicates the rooms in which faculty advisers may be found who will aid each student in planning his program. Early in the process, each student is given a matriculation card that should be filled out accurately and handed in with the other cards containing the student's daily program. To avoid confusion, it is recommended that students follow closely the procedure indicated on the direction sheet. The particular order is subject to change from time to time, hence is not indicated here.

3. Changes in Individual Programs.
All changes in programs must be made officially by the instructor in charge of the course and the registrar. This applies to subjects dropped, subjects exchanged, and subjects added. Changes in program may not be made after one-fourth of the work of the quarter has been covered. No credit is allowed for subjects carried but which are not indicated on registration cards of the students on file in the office of the registrar. Subjects dropped will be counted as failures against students registering for them unless cancelled from the registration record in the office.

4. Amount of Work a Student May Undertake.
Each student is expected under ordinary circumstances to register for 15 or 16 credit-hours each term; but for special reasons this number may be increased or decreased:

a. Strong students may register for 17 credit-hours.
b. Those students who have earned not less than 15 hours of credit during the preceding term with an average grade of 1 or 2, and no grade below 3, may carry a maximum of 19 hours.
c. Mature students desiring to carry additional hours during their first term must apply to the credits committee for permission.
d. Students employed part time outside of school and those who for other reasons are permitted by the credits committee to carry fewer credit-hours may register for a minimum of 12 credit-hours.

RELATION TO OTHER EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS
Students presenting certified statements of credits covering work completed in other normal schools and standard colleges and universities will receive full credit so far as such credits apply to the particular course for which they register. Graduates of the Oregon Normal School receive two years' credit in the courses in education when admitted to the University of Oregon or to the Oregon Agricultural College. Similar standing is given in teachers' colleges and other state universities. The work of the Oregon Normal School is standardized by the United States Department of Education.

ORGANIZATION

THE FOUR QUARTERS
The work of the Oregon Normal is organized on a quarter basis, the academic year being divided into four quarters of 12 weeks each. The first three quarters or terms beginning in September coincide with the school year of other educational institutions. The summer quarter or term, beginning the week following commencement in June and continuing until schools open in September, is added to make the work of the school year practically continuous. This gives opportunity for teachers engaged in the schools during the regular school year to spend the summer in the Normal School, enhancing their knowledge and increasing their skill, thus improving themselves while in service. The work offered in the summer term is equivalent in character and method and credit value to that of each of the other terms, except that a number of advanced elective courses supplement the regular curriculum during the summer quarter. Practically the same faculty, with some additional members, is employed to conduct the courses.
A VIEW OF CAMPUS

Students may enter the Normal at the beginning of any term with equal advantage.

COURSES AND CREDITS

The Normal School offers two groups of studies, which broadly considered are called courses—the elementary course and the standard course. The elementary course includes three terms or 36 weeks of work, and involves the earning of 48 hours of credit. The standard course includes six terms or 72 weeks' work, and involves the earning of 96 hours of credit. The elementary course leads to the granting of a one-year State Certificate, and the standard course to graduation and a Life Diploma. An assigned amount of physical education is required in addition to each course.

By an hour of credit, or a credit-hour, sometimes called a term-hour, is meant the successful completion of a subject of study pursued during one term, the class meeting once each week for a period of one hour, the student devoting two hours to preparation for each hour of class work. A two-hour class exercise of laboratory work or unprepared work is also considered as earning an hour of credit.

SYSTEM OF GRADING

The standing of students in class work and in the studies pursued is indicated by a series of marks, each of which represents the outstanding characteristics of the student as manifest in the recitation period and in his general attitude toward the work.

STANDING INDICATED BY STUDENT'S CHARACTERISTICS
1. Superior, or highest mark.
2. Excellent, or above average.
3. Good, or average.
4. Weak or poor, below average.
F. Very poor, failure.

The characteristics of the group marked 3, always the largest group, should be the basis on which the judgment as to the number of students in the other groups, above and below, is found. The following characteristics or qualities are recommended as a criterion for each group:

1. Superior—Outstanding ability in all phases of the work undertaken; broad knowledge of subject-matter, plus ability to use it in the appropriate situations.

2. Excellent—Or above average.
a. Eagerness to undertake work that is difficult.
b. Interest in, and intelligent contribution to, class discussion.
c. Dependability in covering assignments and a "little more."
d. Completion of tasks promptly, neatly, and thoroughly.
e. Comparative freedom from teacher's corrections and suggestions.
f. Discovery of practical relations, and application of the work done.
g. Tenacity of purpose in undertaking a difficult task.
h. Ability to hold relations and rethink the problem.
3. Good, or average—
   a. Cooperation—willingness to apply himself through the class hour.
   b. Alertness and awareness during class discussion.
   c. Obedience to instruction, attentiveness to assignments.
   d. Promptness and dispatch—arrival at class with tasks completed with reasonable freedom from carelessness.
   e. Adaptability—prompt response to corrections and personal suggestions.
   f. Productiveness—contribution to class discussion when necessary.
   g. Initiative—general vigor in attacking problems with ample curiosity and inquisitiveness when he finds something different or difficult.
   h. Clear thinking—retentiveness of main principles of subject matter recollectively rather than through rote memory.

4. Weak, or Poor— Below average.
   a. Indolent or tendency to indolence.
   b. Little interest in work of class period.
   c. Lack of preparation, scarcely covering assignments.
   d. Carelessness in written work, speech, etc.
   e. Indifference or resentment toward suggestions or corrections.
   f. Little or no part in class discussion.
   g. No speculative interest in problems and subject-matter of course.
   h. Dependent on rote memory for principles of subject-matter.

F: Failure— Scholarship, interest, attitude toward work low; general indifference to all incentive to personal improvement or social responsibility.

If estimated in terms of per cent, the marks may be considered as follows:

SUMMER SESSION

The fourth quarter of the school year constitutes the summer session, under the present plan of organization. However, its schedule is more flexible than that of any other quarter of the year. Courses and class work are planned to accommodate students of varied interests. Programs are provided for those who wish to remain during the twelve weeks and continue the regular work of the year through four quarters, and also for those who desire to spend only a part of the vacation period in study, and who will be in school but six weeks, either the first one-half or the last one-half of the quarter. In this way, students just graduated from high school in June are provided for as well as the teachers who have been teaching during the year and who wish to spend a short time in further preparation during the summer. Besides the same academic courses and method courses given during the regular school year, a large number of advanced supplementary courses in education, social science, history, and international relations and psychology and other subjects are offered for mature students who have completed most of the required subjects.
BRANCH SUMMER SCHOOLS

The rapid growth of the Normal School has made necessary the conducting of branch normals during the summer at Ashland to accommodate students of Southern Oregon and at Pendleton to accommodate those of Eastern Oregon. Opportunity is given for practice teaching during the first six weeks of the summer quarter. In order to enlarge the facilities for practice teaching during the past summer quarter (1924), besides the training schools in Monmouth and Independence, Ashland and Pendleton, practice schools were conducted in Corvallis and Salem, and at the Children's Farm Home. Even with these increased means, the Normal School was unable to meet the demand of all students who wished to enroll for this last course in normal training.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS

The training school provides the most essential and characteristic phase of the teacher's preparation. The distinctive feature of the Oregon Normal School is the exceptional facilities it offers for practice teaching, and the strong emphasis it places upon this aspect of training. All the courses offered are anticipatory to the teaching process, and all the work undertaken is directed toward that end, and finds its culmination in the class-room teaching performed by the student under expert supervision.

The Oregon Normal Training School embodies some of the elements of each of three types of training schools current today. The supervision and control is entirely under the direction of the Normal School, yet the training school is a regular public school, including all the children of a given district, and the district shares jointly with the Normal in the running expenses of the school. Thus the cadet teachers receive their training under conditions that duplicate all the salient features found in the public schools of the state. The aim is to realize out of ordinary conditions, through efficient direction, the most satisfactory experience and most nearly perfect results. It is a model school created out of average normal conditions, and performing the functions of a public school and of a training school. It thus has a double purpose: (1) To educate the children of the district; and (2) to train the pupil teachers in the art of teaching.

The Oregon Normal School enjoys unusual advantages in training school facilities. In order to train in teaching for a city system, it has complete charge of the teaching in the elementary grades of the public schools of the cities of Monmouth and of Independence. And for experience in rural school management and teaching, six rural school districts within easy reach are connected with the Normal School for training purposes. Three of these are two-room schools—the Children's Farm Home, Mountain View, and Rickreall; the other three are one-room schools—Elkins, Eola, and Oak Point. All these schools are located in progressive communities where students may see the rural school and rural community life conducted in the most approved way under modern conditions.

The rapid increase in enrollment in the Normal School during the last few years makes it necessary to conduct branch summer schools at Ashland, Corvallis, Pendleton and Salem, in order to secure adequate facilities for teaching practice. A public school building providing accommodations for the pupils of each of the eight grades is at the disposal of the Normal School during the summer quarter. In Salem, two such buildings were in use the past summer. These typical school situations give the student teacher an actual, practical experience in the conduct of school affairs and in the teaching process. As the supervising critic is confined to but one, or at most, two grades, there is opportunity for the most careful, accurate direction of the cadet teacher’s plans and practice.

Practice Teaching

The training in teaching covers two distinct fields, that of the rural school of all the elementary grades, and that of the more closely organized and graded urban school. A student, without experience in teaching, entering the Normal School and registering for the elementary course secures teaching practice in one of the rural training centers. After the necessary preparatory courses, including rural methods, rural sociology, rural problems and rural homemaking, and methods courses in branches to be taught, the student is assigned to one of these model rural schools for practice teaching. The rural center is under the charge of a skilled supervisor or critic teacher, who carefully directs the preparation of the cadet teacher’s lesson plans and supervises the actual teaching. The student lives in the district during the time of his assignment there as a member of the community, participating in the social life of the community and endeavoring in all respects to be a worthy leader and inspiring educator of the children of the district.

A student who has had two or more years of experience in teaching and one who registers for the standard two-year course will pursue a different line of study from that undertaken by the student who registers for the elementary course. In the standard course there is a central group of studies arranged in sequence, each of which is taken one term, along with a sufficient number of additional subjects to make up a student’s program. The order of these subjects is Introduction to Teaching, Psychology, General Methods and Observation, Practice Teaching, and Principles of Education or Tests and Measurements.

The practice teaching undertaken by the student in the standard course is done in the public schools of Monmouth or Independence. Ordinarily the student teaches for one-half day and spends the other half day in writing lesson plans and preparing for the next day’s teaching and in pursuing one or two subjects of study in the academic department of the Normal School. The course in teaching practice runs through a period of twelve weeks.

An expert critic teacher is assigned to each room under whose direction the student teacher encounters and solves the various problems of organization, management, program making, discipline and teaching that arise in ordinary classroom procedure.

Certification

An Oregon statute provides that “No certificate to teach in the elementary school shall be issued to any person unless such person has completed an elementary teacher’s training course, or its equivalent.” After January 1, 1925, this elementary teacher’s training course includes 36 weeks of normal training. The Oregon Normal School offers such an elementary training course to high-school graduates and others who have never taught, who desire to enter the teaching profession.
ONE-YEAR, FIVE-YEAR, AND LIFE CERTIFICATES

1. Upon the satisfactory completion of the elementary course, which covers three terms of residence work, with 48 hours of credit, a one-year certificate will be issued upon application, without examination, by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This certificate may be renewed for another year after six months of successful teaching experience in Oregon, and upon the recommendation of the superintendent of the county in which the applicant taught.

2. A one-year state certificate will be issued without examination, upon application, to graduates of the standard two-year Normal course, authorizing them to teach in any grammar school or in any one-year, two-year, three-year, or four-year nonstandardized high school in Oregon.

3. A graduate of the Oregon Normal School holding a one-year state certificate will, after six months' successful teaching experience in this state, and upon the recommendation of the county superintendent of the county in which the applicant last taught, receive a five-year state certificate without examination, authorizing him to teach in any grammar school, or in any one-year, two-year, three-year or four-year nonstandardized high school in Oregon.

4. The holder of a five-year state certificate, obtained as above, will after 30 months' successful teaching experience in this state, and upon the recommendation of the county superintendent of the county in which the applicant last taught, receive a life state certificate, authorizing him to teach in any grammar school, or in any Oregon high school described above; provided that if at any time the course of study of the Oregon Normal School meets the requirements of standard colleges, then the graduate of the standard college course of the Oregon Normal School shall receive a life certificate entitling him to teach in any school in this state.

5. Graduates who have held one-year and five-year certificates before graduation from the Normal School must apply for these certificates again before securing the life certificate, as other certificates cannot be accepted in lieu of those based upon graduation from the Normal School. When a graduate has had the required teaching experience, the five-year and the life certificates may be issued at the same time as the one-year certificate on receipt of the necessary fees.

6. The holder of any of the above-mentioned certificates secured in accordance with the foregoing provisions is authorized to act as city superintendent of schools in any city of this state.

7. Students who have had two years of work beyond the high school in an institution of higher learning and those who have held a valid teaching certificate are not required to take a teachers' training course, but are required to take the state examinations.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATES

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction will grant special certificates to those completing the special courses, entitling them to teach these subjects in the public schools as follows: (a) Art, music and physical education in the elementary grades, junior high school and nonstandardized high schools; (b) commercial subjects in all classes of high schools.
All the above certificates are issued on graduation for a period of one year. After six months of successful teaching and upon recommendation of the county superintendent, a three-year certificate is issued. After 18 months of successful teaching and upon recommendation of the county superintendent, a life certificate is issued.

Assembly and Chapel Exercises

In order to inculcate the spirit of the institution, to cultivate a reverential devotional attitude, and to instruct students in various topics of general information, chapel exercises and general assembly are held three times each week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Following the devotional exercises consisting of patriotic and sacred songs and Scripture reading, without comment, and prayer, addresses are given by the President and members of the faculty, and by men and women representing diverse interests on a wide variety of subjects. The list includes the leading speakers, lecturers, authors, musicians and entertainers of the country. Usually one assembly period each week is devoted to student-body affairs, conducted by the students themselves through their regularly elected officers. Literary and advertising features from the student societies and musical numbers from Glee club or orchestra are frequently interspersed. Opportunity is given for announcements pertaining to the many phases of organization, class work, student activities, social functions, and items of public interest. As frequently as time affords, opportunity is given for the singing of Normal School songs and general chorus singing. Attendance at assembly is required of all students.

Student Activities

The student body maintains a very active and enthusiastic organization. This organization through its committees and officers controls most of the student interests outside of the classroom work. It has the chief direction of athletic, recreational, forensic, dramatic and social activities. Aided by the physical education department and the faculty advisers of each class, the student body is responsible for the May Day pageant and other special programs and festivals. It has taken a commendable interest in the improvement of the playground and athletic fields. During the last two years it has leveled and laid out the baseball grounds, erected bleachers, and paved two tennis courts.

A student activity fee of $3 is collected from all students. This fund aids in the support of a lyceum course, a weekly cinema production, a weekly news publication and the annual, and provides for athletic equipment and insignia.

Most of the responsible business of the student body is conducted by the student council, consisting of the officers of that body and representatives of the junior and senior classes. Upon the council also devolves the chief responsibility of the discipline of students. The vast majority of those making up the student body are self-respecting young men and women who require no external restraint. Except in the rarest of cases, practically all students are willing and able to accept the responsibility of self-government, and the student council and social committee of the faculty act only in an advisory capacity.
APPROACH TO CAMPUS
ETHICAL INFLUENCE

The essential aim of the Oregon Normal School is not merely to develop professional skill. It does desire that every student coming under its tuition shall attain high efficiency in the teaching art before engaging to teach a school. But it is more concerned that every young person who completes any of its courses shall go out from its doors inspired with a high moral purpose and endowed with a character developed sufficiently to meet successfully the most serious problems of life. It endeavors to maintain for its student body a stimulating atmosphere of positive moral influence. Pervading all its courses and class exercises, and its extra-classroom activities as well, is a readily discernible undercurrent of high devotion to the recognized principles of righteousness and truth. The social functions and activities of students are as carefully planned and guarded by faculty members as are those children in the home by the most solicitous parents.

All public attractions open to students in Monmouth are provided by or sanctioned by the school. The only moving pictures shown in the city are under the auspices of the Normal School. The best pictures obtainable are presented weekly. The attendance of students upon functions other than those of the churches in the community outside of the Normal School is carefully supervised.

Regular hours for study are required in the evenings of all week-days, and social calls and other diversions are deferred until week-ends, when suitable recreations are provided. On each Friday and Saturday evening a literary society, concert, lecture, cinema entertainment or social function is arranged. Students are encouraged to attend church services, Sunday school and young peoples’ meetings at the various churches on Sunday. The pastors of the churches extend special invitations to students at the opening of each term to avail themselves of the privileges that the churches offer. The character of the young people who select teaching as a life work and come to the Normal School for their training is of an unusually high standard. They constitute a homogeneous group and the fine student morale reflects a high individual excellence. Attendance at the Oregon Normal School of persons lacking serious intentions or fitness and adaptability to the teaching profession is definitely discouraged.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

One of the assets of the Oregon Normal School is its loyal and active Alumni Association. The School endeavors to keep a record of its graduates, with the purpose of rendering a continuing service to them wherever possible. Members of the alumni, on their part, desire to be constantly informed as to the nature of the work, the aims and needs of the Normal School. Regular annual programs consisting of the alumni address, the yearly banquet, the reception of the new graduating class and the business meeting are a feature of commencement week, and are carried out enthusiastically at the close of each school year.

TEACHERS’ APPOINTMENT BUREAU

In order to aid superintendents and school boards in securing qualified teachers, and to be of service to students receiving certification through credits earned in the Oregon Normal School, a bureau for the placing of teachers has been established. No fee is charged students or members of alumni for any aid given them in securing suitable employment. While positions are never guaranteed to students, superintendents visit the Normal School regularly before the appointment of teachers to make selections of desirable applicants personally. Generally the demand for graduates and qualified teachers is greater than the bureau can fill. The bureau endeavors to keep on file a statement of the history, the preparation and experience of each student of the Normal School.

STUDENT LOAN FUND

A loan fund for the relief of worthy students who may be in financial need has been established in the Oregon Normal School. Following the death of President J. H. Ackerman, the fund that had been initiated by the donations of members of faculty and friends, chiefly through his efforts, was enlarged and renamed the Ackerman Memorial Loan Fund. This is always available to deserving students as long as any unloaned balance of cash remains in the fund.

The assets of the fund are administered by a committee of the faculty, of which Mr. J. B. V. Butler is chairman, working in conjunction with the president of the faculty. To foster the self-respect of the borrower and to observe the application of business principles, a moderate rate of interest (6 per cent) is charged for loans, and an adequate assurance of payment is provided by requiring personal security on loans. Time of payment is adjusted to the convenience of the student borrowing. The integrity of the beneficiaries of this fund is attested by the fact that during the several years of the existence and constant use of the fund, only one loss, and that occasioned by the death of the borrower, has been experienced by the fund.

The Eastern Star, through its state chapter, and the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, also grant loans to a limited number of students.

LIBRARIES

The Oregon Normal School maintains two good libraries. The main library offers unusual advantages for independent investigation by students upon educational, professional, scientific and current topics, through unrestricted use of the open-shelf system. Here are at the disposal of the student over ten thousand (10,000) volumes, besides several thousand pamphlets and all the principal magazines and newspapers.

The model library contains the books adopted by the state for use in the public schools and valuable supplementary text and reference books. This room offers especial advantages to students in preparing lesson plans, in the abundant material provided for the supplementation of the texts.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Prominent among the out-of-class activities of the Normal School is the work of the literary societies. There are six such organizations, membership in one being required of all women students. The programs, which the members present in the auditorium one evening each month, are generally arranged in celebration of some special occasion, e.g., Thanksgiving, Washington's Birthday, etc., and include short plays, musical numbers, aesthetic dancing, readings and other appropriate features. The planning and presentation of these programs furnish the members excellent training in such work, for all the numbers are activities which may be used later in their own schoolrooms, or in community entertainments. The Christmas programs are always particularly attractive.
OUTLINE AND SEQUENCE OF COURSES

Two regular curriculums are offered:
A. An elementary curriculum of one year, leading to the one-year state certificate.
B. A standard curriculum of two years, leading to graduation and the life diploma.

Since undergraduates and teachers without experience are rarely engaged in city school systems, those holding the one-year certificates from the elementary course must necessarily seek positions in rural and village schools. The elementary curriculum prepares especially for teaching in such schools. One term of work in this course is devoted exclusively to rural conditions and activities.

The courses are classified according to the nature of the subject matter and the processes involved. Some are required for the elementary curriculum, others for the standard curriculum, and certain of the courses are assigned to students at a given time and in a prescribed order. Others not sequential in nature may be elected at the time most convenient to the student.

CENTRAL SERIES

One series of courses embodies the fundamental ideas and activities offered in the Normal School and is designed to lead directly to securing skill in the teaching process. The series constitutes the core of the standard curriculum. The subjects included are: Introduction to Education, General Psychology, General Methods and Observation, Practice Teaching and Principles of Education. It is essential that these courses be studied in the order indicated. There are five main

SPECIAL COURSES

Special courses are offered in art, commercial subjects, music and physical education, leading to a special certificate issued by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The following conditions distinguish these courses from the standard courses:

1. Application for a special course must be made by (a) a student entering with advanced standing, of 48 or more hours, at the time of entrance; (b) a beginning student not later than the beginning of the second term of residence.

2. Students entering such courses must give evidence of undoubted fitness and ability to succeed in the particular department chosen, and must earn at least an average grade or standing in the subjects pursued.

3. In addition to completing the Standard Course covering 96 hours of credit and to securing the Standard Diploma, students of special courses in (a) Art, Music, and Physical Education are required to complete one term, or 16 hours of work, in these subjects, or in related electives; (b) commercial students are required to complete, at present, two terms, or 32 hours, and after September, 1925, three terms, or 48 hours, of work in commercial subjects or related electives.

DESCRIPTION AND EXPLANATION OF COURSES

ART

1. ART FUNDAMENTALS—This is a subject-matter course for beginners, presenting the principles of representation, and teaching the handling of mediums. Nature study, object drawing, and theory of color are developed.
   Mediums: Pencil, and water color.
   Credit, 3 hours.

2. ART METHODS, PRIMARY—Methods and problems for those expecting to teach the primary or intermediate grades. The theory of color is applied, and practice is given in nature study, object drawing and industrial art. Prerequisite, art fundamentals.
   Mediums: Paper tearing, crayola, water color and materials for handwork.
   Credit, 2 hours.

3. ART METHODS, ADVANCED—This course presents more technical problems and emphasizes the needs of teachers and children from the sixth grade to the high school. Theory of color applied. Nature study, object drawing and industrial art are taken up, and methods of presentation emphasized. Prerequisite, art fundamentals.
   Mediums: Crayola, watercolor, pencil.
   Credit, 2 hours.

4. MECHANICAL DRAWING—The use of the mechanical drawing instruments, T square and triangles, is presented, also the setting up and finishing of plates. Working drawings of objects of two and three dimensions applied through knife work.
   Credit, 2 hours.

5. DESIGN—Fundamental principles of art structure applied in line—dark and light—and color. Application: Decorative problems. Prerequisite, art fundamentals.
   Credit, 2 hours.

6. HIGH SCHOOL ART—This course provides advanced problems and mediums preparatory to high school teaching of art. Prerequisites, art fundamentals and advanced art methods.
   Credit, 2 hours.

7. ART APPRECIATION—The course in appreciation includes the presentation of elements essential to the best in art, and enough history to explain the characteristics of the great art groups.
   Credit, 1 hour.

8. INDUSTRIAL ART—This course provides suitable material for seat work. It teaches the utilizing of crude material and offers suggestions for relating the work of the school to that of the industrial world.
   Credit, 2 hours.

9. SPECIAL ART METHODS—This course is for those preparing to be special teachers of drawing, and includes organization of subject matter, development of definite projects, and specific methods employed in various schools. Prerequisite, art fundamentals and primary or advanced art methods.
   Credit, 2 hours.

10. PRACTICE TEACHING—All students who are taking the special course in art are required to teach all grades under supervision.
    Credit, 12 hours.

COMMERCE

1. ELEMENTARY STENOGRAPHY—Theory of Manual, Gregg Shorthand, fundamental principles, first seven lessons. “Word building is substituted for the hitherto heavy task of memorizing designs.” The law of continuous motion is constantly stressed. Sentence dictation is a vital part of the work from the beginning. Texts: Gregg Shorthand Manual, Hunter’s Graded Readings, Frick’s Analytical Lessons in Gregg Shorthand (on the press), Gregg Writer.
   Credit, 4 hours.

4. DICTATION—An advanced course in applied stenography. Special vocabularies. Texts: Gregg Speed Studies, Gardner, Constructive Dictation; magazine articles. Transcripts are required. Credit, 3 hours.

5. ELEMENTARY TYPWRITING—Touch typing, kinesthetic method of memorizing the keyboard, intensive drills in fingering and rhythm, correct position of operator, the various mechanical devices, instruction in care of machine. Texts used are the Rational Typewriting Manual, Seven Speed Secrets, Kinesthetic Method of Learning Touch-Typing. Credit, 3 hours.

6. INTERMEDIATE TYPWRITING—Letter writing with artistic balance emphasized throughout the course. Addressing envelopes, centering, tabulating, various kinds of copy work. Use of phonograph. The correct syllabication of words is an integral part of the course. Credit, 3 hours.

7. ADVANCED TYPWRITING—This course includes the writing of commercial papers, legal forms, rough-drafts, etc. Special attention is given to speed. Credit, 3 hours.

8. BOOKKEEPING I—A study of the elements of bookkeeping. The books of original entry, ledger, assets, liabilities, proprietorship, balance sheet, and profit and loss statements are studied. A practice set is written up involving these principles. The entire class period is given to discussion and an average of one hour daily is required for laboratory work. Credit, 3 hours.

9. BOOKKEEPING II—Introduction of partnerships, miscellaneous accounts and methods. Controlling accounts and subsidiary ledgers are added. Two complete sets of books are written up. Credit, 3 hours.

10. BOOKKEEPING III—This course includes more advanced work, with some corporation accounting. Special column cash journals and other time-saving devices are studied. Two sets of advanced work are written up. The work involves both class discussion and laboratory work. Credit, 3 hours.

11. BANKING—Prerequisite; bookkeeping III. A study of the various kinds of banks, banking laws, discounts and banking methods. A set of books illustrating several days of actual business in a bank is written up. Credit, 3 hours.

12. COMMERCIAL LAW—A nontechnical course designed to give the student a general knowledge of the field as applied to business. Contracts, sales, business organization, negotiable instruments, etc., are studied in this relationship. The student is familiarized with the more common forms of business papers and methods of handling them. Credit, 3 hours.
13. Business English—This course includes a study of the elementary principles involved in writing correct English. The second half of the course is confined mostly to the study and writing of various types of business letters. Credit, 3 hours.

14. Penmanship—Required of all students not holding a teacher's certificate in Palmer Penmanship. The method side is emphasized in the presentation of the work. Opportunity is given for plenty of drill in rapid arm movement. Papers are sent in regularly for criticism to the Palmer office in Portland. Credit, 2 hours.

15. Commercial Geography—This course includes the principles underlying commerce. Among those stressed are man's resources and the dependency of these on natural conditions; raw materials and finished goods; division of labor; value of machinery; how markets are obtained; routes of commerce and means of transportation; laws of international trade, and other governmental control in commerce. Credit, 3 hours.

16. Commercial Advertising—A study of the mediums and methods used in modern advertising. This course deals with magazine and newspaper advertising; posters, booklets and window display. National and local advertising campaigns, including the uses and problems of trade-marks, trade names and slogans are studied. Special emphasis is placed on the study of color processes, engraving, type selection and arrangement, and the writing of advertising copy. Credit, 3 hours.

17. Office Practice—Office Training for Stenographers by Rupert P. SoRelle, is the text used. The course presupposes shorthand, typewriting and business English. Practical office work is given in cutting stencils, use of mimeograph, dictation, transcription, filing, etc. Credit, 4 hours.

18. Practice Teaching—All commercial students will do practice teaching in the commercial department of the Monmouth or the Independence high school, one period each day for 24 weeks. Twelve weeks in bookkeeping and 12 weeks in either shorthand or typewriting. Credit, 6 hours.

EDUCATION

1. Introduction to Teaching—The purpose of this course is to introduce the beginning student to definite thinking in the science of education. Many educational problems are raised for discussion. These include a survey of the nature of the child's mental life as beginning in instinctive reactions to stimuli and furnishing the basis of method and the field of subject-matter which constitutes the curriculum. Naturally, definite facts must be acquired, but this is done essentially to provide a basis for scientific thinking in the various problems which confront the educator. This course is required of all students, and should be taken in the first term of residence. Credit, 3 hours.

2. School Management—This course is intended primarily for students who are registered for the elementary course. Special emphasis is placed on the mastery of the technique of schoolroom organization and management; the daily program; the relation of the teacher to her principal, fellow teachers, pupils, school board and community. Credit, 3 hours.

3. General Psychology—The course is designed to introduce the student to a study of consciousness and behavior, and to give such an insight into mental life and the learning processes as will provide a scientific basis for the teaching methods and activities involved in later courses. It includes a study of the nervous system as it functions in impression and response—in the formation of sensations, percepts, images, concepts, in the higher intellectual processes, and in emotional and volitional life. The purposive standpoint is maintained throughout the course to correct the prevailing materialistic trend of scientific thinking, and to inculcate a sane philosophy of life that seeks to coordinate and harmonize the various aspects of a student's thinking and mental attitudes.

4. General Methods and Observation—This course is basal for all other method courses, and should precede the special methods in particular subjects. It consists of a study of the fundamental principles of instruction viewed from the learner's standpoint, and of an articulation of them into a system of procedure. The course in general psychology is prerequisite. In Observation, the purpose is to organize the subject matter into projects, problems, or lesson series in conformity with the requirements of general methods. Much classroom instruction, usually of high efficiency, is observed and constructively criticized. Students are brought into close contact with real teaching.

   Credit, 3 hours.

5. Practice Teaching—This course is the most essential, hence the most critical in the student's training career. It is the one in which he strives to realize his entire theory of instruction. He works in a real schoolroom, with real children, under the guidance of a sympathetic but exacting supervisor. Each student is afforded a period of 12 weeks, half-day sessions, in which to do this work. This course should be taken the last term but one before graduation. It should follow the completion of general methods and observation.

   Credit, 12 hours.

   In summer term, Credit, 8 hours.

6. Educational Psychology—This course reviews very briefly the principles of general psychology, and seeks to apply them more specifically to the daily school procedure than time permits in the course in general psychology. It concerns itself especially in making clear to the educant the materials of education from a psychological standpoint. Prerequisites, Introduction to Teaching and General Psychology.

   Credit, 3 hours.

7. Child Psychology—This course seeks to make a psychological analysis of the child as a basis for educational procedure. The factors of inheritance and social environment are given attention. Special emphasis is laid upon the periods of early childhood, later childhood, and adolescence. Prerequisites, Introduction to Teaching and General Psychology.

   Credit, 3 hours.

8. The Psychology of Subject Matter—The material of the various courses in the elementary school and high school function most adequately when presented in the light of the best psychological principles underlying the subjects studied. This is not a course in methodology of specific subjects nor in devices. The various subjects are analyzed in order to discover their underlying laws and principles upon which method can be built and adjusted to meet varying conditions. Prerequisites, Introduction to Teaching and General Psychology.

   Credit, 3 hours.

9. Educational Tests and Measurements—The course is introduced with the statistical procedure upon which the science of tests and measurements is so largely built. The aim of the course is (1) to give a brief overview of the theory upon which standard tests are built, (2) to give an historical perspective of the measurement movement, (3) to give a familiarity with a number of the existing standardized tests, (4) to produce skill in the use and application of standardized tests, and (5) to single out the purpose and value of the theory of testing as applied to the examination, marking systems, promotion, classification and other schoolroom problems. Prerequisites: introduction to teaching and general psychology. It is advisable that the student have also one other course in education before taking this course.

Credit, 3 hours.

10. INTELLIGENCE TESTS—The general aims of this course are analogous to those stated for the course in educational tests. It is advisable, although not necessary, that the student take this course at the same time he takes the work in educational tests and measurements.

Credit, 3 hours.

11. PRINCIPLES OF EDUCATION—Although not a review course, this course reaches back into all the other courses in education, and attempts to unite definitely the theory and practice in education. The course is constructed fundamentally upon the idea that any successful educational procedure must be built upon the student’s native or biological equipment, and also upon his social equipment. The roles played in education by biological, psychological, and social development provide the fundamental problems for discussion. Application is constantly made to schoolroom practices, with the aim that schoolroom procedure may bring about the desired stimulus-response relation in harmony with the accepted aims of education. Required of all students who complete the standard course. This should be the last course taken in education, and should follow or possibly accompany practice teaching.

Credit, 3 hours.

12. HISTORY OF EDUCATION—This course, although it gives some attention to the philosophy of education, deals chiefly with the history of education as developed in the United States. It seeks the causes for the introduction of the various subjects into the curriculum, for the introduction of administration changes and of developments and methods. Briefly, it takes the school as it is and studies it from an historical standpoint, applying at all times the methods of historical criticism. Prerequisite, consent of the instructor; designed mainly for advanced students who have had several courses in education and psychology.

Credit, 3 hours.

13. MORAL EDUCATION—This course deals with the moral development of the individual, more particularly with the needs of the individual, and the procedure for the teacher in making the pupil a moral and social being. The problem is attacked from the following standpoints: Biological, psychological (including the behavioristic), philosophical (essentially ethical), and particularly the definite use of the materials in the present curriculum. The fundamental aim is to show what possibility there exists in making the individual react morally, hence socially, to stimuli. Prerequisite, Introduction to Education and General Psychology.

Credit, 3 hours.

14. SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION—Attention is given to problems of supervision, management, and organization of the school from the administrative standpoint. The course is especially recommended for supervisors, principals and superintendents, but is also highly valuable for the classroom teacher. It deals with such problems as teacher employment, teacher rating, types of administrative organization, auxiliary organization affecting the school, student participation in government, parent-teacher organizations, marking and promoting schemes, classification of pupils, etc. The course is designed for advanced students who have had several courses in education and psychology, and is taken under advice of the instructor.

Credit, 3 hours.
15. Modern Educational Problems—This is an advanced course in education dealing with outstanding problems under discussion in the educational world. The problems discussed will naturally vary from term to term, depending upon the interests, experience, and ability of the class. It should be of interest to anyone interested in the field of education from the standpoint of the teacher, the executive, the administrator, or the supervisor. It is largely a lecture course with assigned readings and is taken under advice of instructor.
Credit, 3 hours.

16. School Surveys—The purpose is essentially to familiarize the student with the materials and value of school surveys made in the past, and to guide him in the technical procedure in making a survey of his own school or school conditions. This aim is set with a view to guiding the student in evaluating and improving the conditions wherever he may be employed. The course is designed for advanced students who have had several courses in education and psychology, and may be taken with consent of the instructor.
Credit, 3 hours.

ENGLISH

1. Children's Literature, Grades I to IV—The work in this course is designed to acquaint the students with the subject matter of the basic literary material to be used in these grades, and to give help in the intelligent understanding and use of such material. A working knowledge of the principles of story-telling and dramatization is one of the characteristic features of the course.
Credit, 2 hours.

2. Children's Literature, Grades V to VIII—As in English I, the work in this course is intended to give the student a thorough knowledge of literary selections adapted to these grades. Attention is given to problems of selecting and presenting literary material, to historical and biographical explanations, and to fundamental characteristics of the literary types used.
Credit, 2 hours.

3. Grammar—A review course in the principles of English grammar is offered without credit to those students who desire to refresh their knowledge of the subject before studying methods.

4. Corrective English—This course is designed to aid the individual to correct structural faults in his own speech and to increase his vocabulary.
Credit, 2 hours.

5. Business English—See page 33.

6. English Composition—A study of models, discussion of principles and practice in writing. Supplementary reading throughout the course.
Credit, 3 hours.

7. Contemporary Literature—A study of a few outstanding tendencies among recent writers. The material considered includes the essay, biography, fiction and poetry.
Credit, 3 hours.

8. Current Literature—The aim of this course is to help the individual in his classification and selection of present-day reading matter. The time is divided as evenly as possible among current poetry, essays, novels, plays and short stories.
Credit, 3 hours.

9. Language Methods—The aim of this course is to give the student a practical knowledge of methods of presenting various phases of the language work required in the first three grades.
Credit, 2 hours.

10. Language Methods, Intermediate—This course deals with the methods of teaching language in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.
Credit, 2 hours.
11. Grammar Methods—A course which gives the student a working knowledge of the methods to be used in teaching oral and written English in the seventh and eighth grades. Continual use is made of the state text, "Oral and Written English, Book II."
   Credit, 2 hours.

12. Reading Methods, Primary—It is the aim of this course to lead students to recognize the importance of the teaching of reading in the primary grades; to trace the history and development of reading methods up to the present time, and to acquaint students with the materials and methods now in general use in the best school systems, based upon child psychology and good pedagogy. Special stress is given to plans and methods for carrying out the state course of study in reading by means of practical demonstrations conducted in class, followed by the actual teaching of lessons by students under competent supervision.

GEORGRAPHY

1. Geographical Concepts—This course is planned for teachers of all grades for the purpose of giving a knowledge of the basic principles upon which the teaching of geography is founded. These principles will be applied in discussing the problems of the different countries.
   Credit, 3 hours.

2. Method Courses in Geography—Three distinct courses in geographical method are offered: the primary, intermediate and advanced. Each prepares the student to teach the work as outlined for their respective grades. Type lessons will be taught and discussed, after which the students will teach various lessons under supervision. The courses and grades are distributed as follows: Primary methods, for second and third grades; intermediate methods, for fourth and fifth grades; advanced methods for sixth and seventh grades.
   Credit for each course, 2 hours.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

1. Educational Hygiene—A course which is concerned with the problems of health work in the schools, and which endeavors to develop a realization of the relation between health and education through a study of: (a) the hygiene of the school child and (b) the hygiene of the school environment.
   Credit, 3 hours.

2. Hygiene Methods, Primary—A course dealing with hygiene facts, materials, and methods essential for carrying out the state course of study, especially emphasizing the ways and means of establishing health habits.
   Credit, 2 hours.

3. Physiology—A course presenting: (a) the essential facts of human physiology and hygiene, and (b) considering the fundamental topics for instruction in the elementary grades in relation to fundamental hygienic needs.
   Credit, 2 hours.

4. Physiology and Hygiene Methods, Advanced—A course required of students specializing in fifth and sixth grade work. It aims to discover aids for the formation of health habits, as suggested in the state course of study, to outline the state text for these grades, and to develop methods of presenting the desired physiological and hygienic facts. Prerequisite, Physiology.
   Credit, 2 hours.

5. Physical Education Methods, Primary—A course designed for students specializing in primary grade work. The course provides methods and materials dealing with stories, plays, action songs, singing games and rhythmic movements for the first three grades.
   Credit, 1 hour.
6. PHYSICAL EDUCATION METHODS, ADVANCED—A course designed for students specializing in intermediate and upper grade work. The course deals with (a) activity—discovering its natural forms, modifying these for school room practice, habituating their use, noting physiological effects; and (b) posture training methods, devices, and helpful exercises.

Credit, 1 hour.

7. SPECIAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION METHODS—A course necessary for students specializing in physical education. It endeavors to train the student (a) to be able to denote physical defects in children for the purpose of bettering their condition; (b) to take measurements relative to growth and vitality, to study the physiology of exercise and its application in children’s plays and games; and (c) to make health surveys and records.

Credit, 1 hour.

8. FIRST AID—This course is confined in its scope to school room and playground needs. It seeks to train the student to meet the responsibility of caring for injuries and emergency conditions.

Credit, 1 hour.

9. HOME NURSING—A course in prevention and care of illness as maintained in higher schools at the request of the American Red Cross.

Credit, 1 hour.

10. PAGEANTS AND PROGRAMS—A course designed to aid the student in planning special-day programs by helping to find sources of material, by teaching how to build a program, by developing a power of selection, and by giving the underlying principles of pageant making. Each member of the class is expected to write a simple pageant.

Credit, 2 hours.

11. PLAYGROUND SUPERVISION—A course dealing with (a) the values of the playground and play period, the types of activities for school or city playgrounds, and the problems and duties of the playground director and community leader.

Credit, 1 hour.

12. COACHING—A course for students specializing in physical education, giving theory and practice in leadership in organized games—basketball, baseball, volleyball, hockey and tennis.

Credit, 1 hour.

13. PRACTICE TEACHING—Students who desire a special certificate in physical education must have practice work in the training schools, taking care of schoolroom and recess activities of both primary and upper grades, and elementary gymnastics and coaching of Normal classes.

Credit, 8 hours.

14. FOLK DANCING, ELEMENTARY AND ADVANCED—Courses arranged to give a usable knowledge of fundamental “steps” and related musical structures and their application in characteristic national dancing.

Credit, ½ hour.

15. PLAYGROUND GAMES—A course which may be substituted for one term of gymnastic practice. It is devoted to the playing of games which have been tested out and found to be of the most lasting interest to children. The games are grouped according to their form and according to their suitability for different ages.

16. RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES—The purpose of this work is two-fold: (a) to preserve and enhance the good physical condition and bodily control of the students through her own efforts under the supervision of the instructor; and (b) to provide her with material and methods to carry on the work in the school in which she may teach. Among the courses offered are the following: Elementary floor work, advanced floor work, apparatus, corrective gymnastics, playground games, basketball, baseball, hockey, soccer, tennis, swimming (summer school), folk dancing and aesthetic dancing.

Credit, ½ hour.
GYMNASIUM SUITS—All students are required to dress in a suitable manner for gymnasium work and must provide themselves with:
(a) For women—full black serge bloomers, a black blouse or white middy and tennis shoes. (b) For men—gray trousers, gray one-quarter sleeve jerseys and tennis shoes.

HOME ECONOMICS

The aim of the course in home economics is chiefly to give the teacher a broader knowledge of the subject, which she can use in her own experience, thereby making more intelligent home-makers and better women citizens. It is also the aim of the course to train students for teaching the elementary principles of home economics in the grades.

One of the following courses is required of all students:

1. COOKING FUNDAMENTALS—This course is especially for those training for grade work in the city schools, and takes up work suitable for the eighth grade, giving subject matter as well as technique. Teaching-points and methods are emphasized. The aim in this course is to give the fundamentals of good cooking worked out on the meal basis. It gives a general working knowledge of simple foods, their selection and preparation, correct combinations of these foods in a meal, and the serving of the meal; one recitation, two two-hour laboratory periods.
   Credit, 2 hours.

2. CAFETERIA—Application of the principles of cooking to the preparation of food in large quantities. The work includes the planning and preparation of cafeteria luncheons; five three-hour laboratory periods.
   Credit, 3 hours.

3. SEWING FUNDAMENTALS—A detailed study of the wardrobe, with simple constructive work which includes all the processes necessary in elementary sewing. Principles of dress, choice of materials, and the care and repair of clothing are emphasized; one recitation, two two-hour laboratory periods.
   Credit, 2 hours.

4. ADVANCED SEWING—Course III or equivalent work in an accredited high school is the prerequisite for this course. Additional practice and subject matter are given, with further attention to textile study, economy, hygiene and art in the solution of clothing problems. The making of dress forms and simple dresses, and the renovation of clothing make up the practical work; one recitation, two two-hour laboratory periods.
   Credit, 2 hours.

5. RURAL HOMEMAKING—This course is required of all those preparing for rural teaching. It deals with the problems peculiar to rural conditions. Special emphasis is given to the hot-lunch problem—its installation and management, and to the home, its sanitation, furnishings, decoration and care, as well as to the problem of food and clothing; three two-hour periods.
   Credit, 3 hours.

LIBRARY INSTRUCTION

The aim of this course is to train teachers to use libraries intelligently, with care for school library law, to teach the principles of book selection and buying, and to establish a wider knowledge of children's books by actual examination and reading.

The course gives a thorough knowledge of the use of the library, and practice in the routine work involved in the administration of a school library. Lectures are given on such phases of library work as the selection and buying of books on the state list, mechanics of preparation of books for circulation, use of library tools such as card catalog, magazine index, short-story and poetry indexes, reference books, and the making of bibliographies. There are also talks on the helps which teachers may receive from the library—graded lists of books, pamphlets and pictures—and on the value of the State Library to teachers. Instruction is given in the teaching of library lessons in the grades, that children may use the library more intelligently. Library work is emphasized in all departments throughout the course by required and supplementary reading.
This is especially marked in story-telling work and in the advanced literature classes taking up present-day writers. The current-events classes conducted by the history and English departments assure a wide use of the magazines and magazine indexes.

In addition to the recitation periods, 10 periods of practice work at the loan desk are required of all students.

MATHMATICS

A course in the subject matter of arithmetic is offered without credit for those students who desire to increase their knowledge of principles and develop more skill in processes before proceeding to the study of methods in arithmetic.

ARITHMETIC SUBJECT-MATTER—A systematic presentation of the facts, processes and principles of arithmetic, with special emphasis upon the more difficult topics. The aim is to give students a working knowledge of arithmetic, as used in the industrial and commercial world.

PRIMARY ARITHMETIC METHODS—A course in methods covering the work of the first three grades as outlined in the state course. Methods are illustrated by observation work in the training school.

Credit, 2 hours.

INTERMEDIATE ARITHMETIC METHODS—A course in methods covering the work of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades as given in the course of study. Skillful presentation is observed in the training school.

Credit, 2 hours.

ADVANCED ARITHMETIC METHODS—A course in methods covering the work of the seventh and eighth grades as given in the course of study.
Work is observed in the training school.

Credit, 2 hours.

ALGEBRA—Two aims in the course: (1) A review of the subject-matter of elementary algebra; (2) a presentation of methods of teaching the subject in junior high school classes.

Credit, 3 hours.

PLANE GEOMETRY—Two aims in the course: (1) A review of the subject-matter of plane geometry; (2) a presentation of methods of teaching the subject in junior high school classes.

Credit, 3 hours.

MUSIC

1. MUSIC FUNDAMENTALS—This course deals with the rudiments of music, including ear-training, rhythm, time signatures, intervals, scales, chords, musical terms, sight-singing and music dictation.

Credit, 3 hours.

2. MUSIC METHODS, PRIMARY—A course consisting of modern methods of presenting music to the pupils of the first five grades of the public schools. The study of the child voice is included in the course, as well as a psychological treatment of monotones. A list of 50 rote songs is given, and material suitable for programs for the entire year.
Books I and II of the Progressive Music Series are used as song material.

Credit, 2 hours.
3. Music Methods, Advanced—This course consists of appropriate song material and modern methods of presenting music to the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, and to a high school chorus. The voice of the child before adolescence, the changing voice, and the adult voice are considered. This is followed by testing of children's voices and the assignment of parts. Practice in conducting is also given, each student being asked to conduct selections before the class. Book III and IV of the Progressive Music Series are used as song material and for sight reading.
Credit, 2 hours.

4. Art of Conducting—The problem of classifying voices, organizing a chorus, and selecting material are considered; also a correct use of the baton and the directing of a chorus or orchestra, with attention to tempo, attack, phrasing, dynamics, and balance of parts.
Credit, 1/2 hour.

5. Music Appreciation—The object of this course is to awaken a real love for the best music and to present methods for creating in children a discriminating taste for music. The development of the orchestra, opera, oratorio and other musical forms is taken up. Liberal use is made of piano and Victrola.
Credit, 2 hours.

6. History of Music—This course includes a survey of music among primitive peoples, early church music, development of musical forms and instruments, and the polyphonic era. The course is biographical, musicians from Bach to the present time being considered.
Credit, 2 hours.

7. Elementary Harmony and Ear Training—The first principles of chord construction in major and minor keys begin this work. Later, dictated and original melodies are harmonized. The student is trained to listen intelligently to intervals, chords and chord progressions, and to harmonize them.
Credit, 2 hours.

8. Advanced Harmony and Melody Writing—A continuation of elementary harmony. Work in the writing and singing of intervals, triads and chords is continued. Modulation and transposition are introduced. Original and familiar melodies are harmonized.
Credit, 2 hours.

9. Practice Teaching—Students taking the special music course are required to teach music classes, under supervision, in all grades, and to conduct the training school assembly and the junior orchestra. They are also required to direct the Normal School assembly music once a week.
Credit, 1 hour.

Orchestra—The Normal School orchestra affords an opportunity for all students who play orchestra instruments to get instruction and practice in orchestra playing, as the orchestra furnishes music for special occasions. Any student who has moderate success with any instrument is eligible for membership, and a limited number of the more unusual instruments can be loaned. Rehearsals Monday and Wednesday at 6:45 p.m.
Credit, 1 hour.

10. Junior Orchestra—The Monmouth training school orchestra and the Independence training school orchestra meet once each week. Normal students may attend these rehearsals. Special music students receive instruction in conducting children's orchestras.

Glee Club—Glee clubs are organized for both men and women, which give practice in part singing. Compositions of the better class and excerpts from the standard cantatas, operas and oratorios are studied. and prepared for public presentation. Two concerts are given each year, in addition to assisting on other school programs. Continuous membership is required of students specializing in music. The course is open to all students who can sing. Rehearsals once a week.

Applied Music—Students taking the special course will be required to play one instrument of the orchestra, besides having special talent either as a pianist or vocalist.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

The courses in this department are organized with the belief that speaking and living are inseparable; to speak well is to live more fully, and to live more fully is the basis for effective, interesting speech.

In addition to the credit courses offered, there are opportunities for students to try out for the junior and senior plays and for other dramatic activities.

1. Fundamentals of Public Speaking—This course is planned primarily for those students who have had no training in vocal expression and who need to make a study of tone production, articulation, emphasis, flexibility and cadence. In this course delivery is emphasized. The course should be especially valuable to those who plan to be teachers, but whose voices and bodies are not trained to carry shades of meaning to others accurately. Credit, 2 hours.

2. Advanced Public Speaking—This course is planned to meet the needs of those who have had some training in vocal expression, and who are interested in both the construction and delivery of speeches from a psychological standpoint. Various types of speeches are studied in their relation to the requirements of the audience. The aim of the course is to give students a background of knowledge and practice which will enable them, as speakers, to fulfill the demands of an audience; and, as listeners, to be more intelligent in regard to the psychological forces which cause people to feel and act.

3. Interpretation—The aim of the course is to provide the student with the means of becoming more expressive in his oral work and in his teaching of oral work. Literary selections are studied and worked out for oral presentation. As much individual attention as is consistent with the size of the class is given, and the classes are kept as small as possible. Credit, 2 hours.

4. Dramatics—This course is to prepare students to direct dramatic activities in schools and communities. The staging of plays is studied from the standpoint of interpretation, action, atmosphere, costuming, stage setting and makeup. Plays are presented in class, each member being given an opportunity to take part in at least one play, and to assist with the staging of others. The class meets three times a week. Credit, 2 hours.

5. Reading Methods, Advanced—This course is designed to give the student a broader appreciation of the values to be derived from a wise selection of reading material for the grades and to give definite methods and principles for handling it. The course includes observation of model lessons in the training department. Seventh and eighth grade methods are emphasized. Credit, 2 hours.

6. Reading Methods, Intermediate—The plan is the same as for advanced reading methods except that fifth and sixth grade methods are emphasized. Credit, 2 hours.
RURAL COURSES

1. INTRODUCTION TO RURAL TEACHING—This course is designed to give an insight into the practical working of one-room and two-room rural schools, with special emphasis on individual and class instruction. The student is required to make a study of problems within the school and to become acquainted with the Oregon course of study for elementary schools. As frequently as possible, opportunity is given for observation of teaching in one of the rural training centers. The course is preparatory to and should precede rural observation and practice teaching. Credit, 3 hours.

2. RURAL PROBLEMS—It is a study of the relationship of rural social institutions, present general conditions affecting the school itself, the care and improvement of school property, the management of the classroom, and the establishment of rural school ideals.

3. PRACTICE TEACHING IN RURAL SCHOOLS—Each student who desires to secure a certificate to teach in Oregon schools at the close of the first year’s study at the Normal School is required to spend six weeks in observation and practice teaching in one of the rural training schools under the direction of an efficient critic teacher. The student must submit for criticism all plans for teaching of lessons. He is required to live in the rural district during the time of his work there, and to participate in the community life as well as to assist in the care, management and instruction of the school.

4. RURAL SOCIOLOGY—The aim of this course is to develop an appreciation of conditions and associations of rural life, its fundamental institutions and their relationships to one another. It recognizes the principle that problems of rural life must be solved by the rank and file of the community groups, rather than by a few leaders. The interdependence of rural and urban life, structure of rural society, physical influences, present-day farm life, cooperative buying and selling, land tenantry, and the place of the rural school in the efforts of rural society for self progress, are types of the topics considered. Credit, 3 hours.

SCIENCE

1. PHYSICS, ELEMENTARY—This course is arranged for those who wish to review the subject as well as for those who take up the elementary principles of physics for the first time. The course includes mechanics, heat, magnetism, light, image formation and color. The work is offered in the winter term. Three one-hour recitations and three one-hour laboratory periods per week. Credit, 3 hours.

2. EDUCATIONAL BIOLOGY—A study of the fundamental facts and laws of biology that have a bearing on education. It forms a basis for the intelligent study of other educational subjects; the course considers Mendel’s law; eugenics, and progressive development; variation, its causes and meaning; environment effects; and civic biology. This course is offered the spring, summer and fall terms. Credit, 3 hours.

3. NATURE STUDY—In this course, the main purpose is to stimulate a keen observation of the great out-of-doors. The subject matter covered is based upon the material found in “Nature Study” by Holtz, “Nature Study and Life” by Hodge, and other texts. This course is not offered during the winter term. Credit, 2 hours.

4. NATURE STUDY METHODS—Included in geography methods, primary.
5. AGRICULTURE—The aim in this course is to give the student a suitable foundation for presenting the subject in the grades. "Effective Farming", by Sampson, is used, with a number of supplementary texts.
Credit, 2 hours.

6. AGRICULTURE METHODS—Model lessons are presented and criticized. What to teach and what not to teach, the teacher's attitude, the home and the school, are some of the subjects considered. Observation and experiment are constantly employed, the purpose being to teach the child to know and to do—to do intelligently and honestly and efficiently.
Credit, 1 hour.

7. HEREDITY AS APPLIED TO EDUCATION—This course considers the facts and laws of heredity as based on Mendel's law, Galton's law, and the Chromosome theory; heredity as related to educational problems, to legislation, to immigration, and to race improvement. Winter term.
Credit, 2 hours.

THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

1. SOCIAL SCIENCE—This course is especially designed for upper grade teachers of history and civics and grade supervisors. It gives the teacher both an extensive and intensive knowledge of economics, political, social and industrial problems of our own country and the world.
Credit, 2 hours.

2. AMERICAN HISTORY—The course covers the fundamental facts of American history in a thorough detailed manner, and gives an insight into the principles that underlie human endeavor and development.
Credit, 4 hours.

3. HISTORY TEACHING IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—An attempt is made to train the teacher in the most effective method of preparation and presentation of history subject-matter in grades four to eight, inclusive.

4. AMERICAN GOVERNMENT—The purpose of this course is to study the structure and functions of the American government. The study begins with the government of the local community and extends to national forms and operations.
Credit, 2 hours.

5. HISTORY OF PACIFIC NORTHWEST—The exploration of the Pacific Northwest, fur trade, the missionaries, the gold discoveries, railroad building, industrial development, and political history, with special reference to Oregon.
Credit, 3 hours.

6. AMERICAN HISTORY FROM 1776 TO 1865—The purpose of this course is to give the student a detailed knowledge of the origin, development and final triumph of the constitutional United States.
Credit, 2 hours.

7. RECENT AMERICAN HISTORY—A detailed study of our history in the period 1865 to 1924.
Credit, 2 hours.

8. MODERN GOVERNMENTS—(Second year students). The government of the United States is compared with that of England, France, Switzerland, Russia, and other important variant forms.
Credit, 2 hours.

9. ECONOMICS—The fundamental economic theories, forms and processes are examined. The aim is to secure a general view of the field.
Credit, 3 hours.

10. ECONOMIC HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES—Designed to give an introduction to commerce and industry, labor and currency systems, public lands, internal improvements, western migration and the relation that economic history bears to the political history of the United States.
Credit, 2 hours.

*History stories and biographies are given with Children's Literature.
11. General Sociology—The object of the course is to develop a clear conception of the nature of social relations. The subjects studied are: (a) The influences that shape society; (b) the perspective of social evolution; (c) social control; (d) social pathology.
   Credit, 3 hours.

12. Rural Sociology—See Rural Courses No. 4.

13. Educational Sociology—A study of social forces, organizations and combinations in relation to educational problems. Lectures, reports and reviews with class discussion make up the course.
   Credit, 3 hours.

14. Social Civics—The purpose of this course is to help the student to understand the operations of government from a local, national and international viewpoint. The course aids the student to realize the right relation between the government and the individual.
   Credit, 2 hours.

15. Modern Europe—The history of Europe from the death of Louis XIV to the present. Treaties of the Old Regime, the spirit of reform, the French revolution, the nineteenth century struggles for nationality and democracy, the colonial expansion of Europe, the World war, and the problems of peace. Economic, social, intellectual and religious factors are included.
   Credit, 3 hours.

16. Problems of Modern Democracy—This course is divided into three parts: (1) The origin and traditions of American democracy; (2) the working of our modern democracy, its defects and possible cures; (3) the future problems of American democracy.
   Credit, 2 hours.

17. Latin-American History—A study of the history, together with political, social and economic conditions of the "other Americas.”
   Credit, 2 hours.

18. History of Rome—A study of the forces and factors responsible for the growth, organization and fall of Rome. Comparisons and contrasts are drawn between the government of Rome and modern governments.
   Credit, 2 hours.

19. The Oregon System—An investigation of the growth, development, and present status of government in Oregon; presenting the unique and salient features of her system and comparing the common characteristics of government in Oregon with that of other states.
   Credit, 2 hours.

NOTE—Courses in ancient, medieval and modern history will be offered from time to time.
