SCRIP BOOK ON SALE FOR CO-OP PURCHASES

The immediate sale of scrip to colonists for the purpose of recording individual purchases to serve as a basis for the payment of premature dividends to Co-op members, was decided at the meeting of the Board of Directors.

The reason for the immediate sale of scrip is to protect the Cooperatives from the payment of taxes on profits made from member purchases, or, after-tax income may be levied against the past profits of Community Enterprises.

The first scrip issued will be the ones used for clothing purchases. As soon as a colonist becomes a member of the cooperative, these purchases will be credited to his membership number for use in the computation of his patronage dividends. The scrip is now on sale at the Civic Organization Office, 11608. In denominations of $2.50, $3.25 and $5.75 and will be honored for all purchases at all Community Enterprise establishments.

Citizens are urged to purchase scrip as soon as possible so that money which would go for income taxes will remain in the colonists’ hands.

SPORTS LIGHT... TOCO FULLA.

Initial meeting to organize basketball activities was held last Monday night. Although nothing specific was decided on, several interesting conclusions were drawn from the random discussions.

The divisions decided on were A, B and C. In the unlimited class everything was rosy except for one thing: it will not be a race. Everything points to a runaway for the all-powerful Mike from Sacramento. They have developed into one of the top nine teams on the coast in the last few years.

Last year's title bound team boasting such luminaries as all-NUCO Kenji Honokawa, George Nagasawa, Johnny Yoshimura, Hide Kagawa, Butch Takei, and sensational Tak Taniuei will be augmented by stars acquired in camp.

From the Oakland ME Tigers comes, Zippy Akuhoshi, "The All-Chance". For famed SF Mike "Have contributed scoring and personnel all-JAU Mas Haru. Former Wabash first stringer Mas Haru, considered one of the best ball handlers in the valley conference, has also joined up with potentially three deep Mikes.

Against this star-studded array of maple-wood performers will be pitched the rest of the league. Thus far, the youthful Wabashers are the closest thing to competition that the Mikes will have to face. The Wabashers were beaten twice last year by the first mentioned Mike—minus Akuhoshi, Haru, and Watanabe.

The loss of pivot man Beno Takagishima, to the Grandada College basketball, and Mas Watanabe leaves the Wabashers with but a few veterans in Bob Iwata, and Ryo Matsubara.

If the crippled Wabashers are not expected to give the favorites much competition, that will the rest of the loop do. Tacoma Bassel, Clippers and the like are not even near the Mikes in experience and ability. The only other team capable of giving off an upset in the Wabashville outposts, the Mexican Bowl Twins Yamamoto and Takada have never been beaten a Mikes aggregation in the last couple of years, although we may see a turnover. Other than that—all but rather remote possibilities considered—there is no pennant race at all but decided.

NATIONAL STUDENT RELOCATION COUNCIL SEEKS FINANCIAL AID FOR NEEDY STUDENTS in the new community will not decrease the student any difficulty are necessary for relocation.

National Student Relocation Council has figured actively in the placement of evacuee students from relocation centers to colleges and universities approved by military and naval authorities.

Through questionnaires and personal interviews, the council has compiled information concerning all students who plan to be relocated. A committee as possible of student needs and desires are being carefully studied, together with college and high school transcripts and letters of reference, by a committee of college deans, registrars and student counselors. Scholarship and qualities of character, adaptability, and leadership will be used as the basis for the selection. Although the council is attempting to raise scholarship funds, it is too early to determine the amount of scholarship aid that will be available to students this fall; therefore students who can pay all or part of their expenses should do so. Opportunities for students to help pay expenses by part-time work will be offered by a number of colleges.
