Day To Honor Mothers, Originated in Philadelphia in 1907, Now International

"Put them all together, they spell 'Mother.'"
A word that means the world to me. —Howard Johnson

One day during each year, all people, whether young or old, rich or poor, pause for a brief time from their daily business to pay tribute to the person who has been most influential in their lives—the one and only woman we call Mother.

Church services and family parties were enjoyed by many students yesterday, as they did every Memorial Day to wash dishes, to giving beautiful gifts, as an indication of gratitude on the part of their mothers.

The idea of setting aside a special day for honoring mothers was first suggested by Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia in 1907. She thought that all of us once a son and daughters should pay a tribute to their mothers. Under her direction, a special mother's service was held in one of the churches, and all those attending the service were asked to wear white carnations.

This plan appealed to others and the following year the majority of churches in Philadelphia held special services for mothers. May 8, 1914, a presidential proclamation declared that the second Sunday in May should be established as a holiday especially for mothers.

On Mother's Day this year, the observance, the plan of wearing a white carnation has been modified so that carnations may be made between those whose mothers are living and those whose mothers are deceased. The idea is to honor the memory of our dear ones who remain with us on earth.

The progressive growth of Mother's Day in such a few years to the national and international holiday it is today, is a living indication of the love that exists in every heart towards mothers. This keeps the fires burning.

S & K Pledge Seven, Hold Pre-Initiation

A week ago Thursday, the present members of S&K and Key met for a show in which they, and then departed to surprise new pledges. Seven excited girls were pinned with Staff and Key symbols by Ethel Fox, S & K president. They were Pat Kopp, Sally Cronan, Mary Lou Rodwin, Gloria Lewin, Verna Ward, Diana Daniels, and Lecha Thomas. The new pledges were taken to Maple ball for cakes, where they entertained with an informal skit.

The informal initiation was held Tuesday evening in the main room of Todd hall. At this time the new pledges read their 200-word themes to the group and entertained members with two more impromptu skits. They were presented with their "badges" from which they read since the duties they would have to perform during the remainder of the week. Among these duties was the presentation of a slide Thursday night at nine o'clock in Maple hall.

The formal initiation, which is to be held this week, will be followed by a formal banquet with Collectors present. Among these duties was the presentation of a slide Thursday night at nine o'clock in Maple hall.

OCE Skiers Make Mount Hood Climb

"Why do you climb mountains?"

George Leigh Malby, the famous Everest mountaineer, was once asked this question. In a minute he replied:

"Because it's there!"

The story of Ayru Tonviscon, a Burmese girl and the NBC Symphony is almost legend in itself. She decided at the last minute that an orchestra has been created for a conductor. In 13 short years (it usually takes a generation or more) the NBC Symphony was named by the great musical genius of the era, Leonard Bernstein. The symphony concerts are operated by the NBC Symphony, Inc., as the symphonic orchestras of all times.

The NBC Orchestra is nationally famed. It is the only time in history that an orchestra has been created for a conductor. In 13 short years the NBC Symphony was named by the great musical genius of the era, Leonard Bernstein. The symphony concerts are operated by the NBC Symphony, Inc., as the symphonic orchestras of all times.
