'57 Festival Plans Ready for 'Folks' Visit

Choir Plans "Dry"

"Tahitian Hut" is the theme for the dry night club to open for one night only on February 18, at 8 p.m. in the OCE Gym.

Four hours of true island entertainment will be presented by the Oregon State college and University of Oregon Hawaiian clubs. The Sigma Nu orchestra will supply calypso music for dancing.

Night Club

Real cigarette girls will lead color to a nightclub atmosphere.

Purpose for this gala affair is to raise money to send the OCE Choir to San Francisco.

All seats will be reserved in advance so those planning to attend should purchase their tickets early. Tickets will be on sale soon for $1 per person.

Songs Chosen as Groups Practice for All-Campus Sing

Practice, rehearsal, tutu and bedlam— all these things are what will combine to make the 1957 All-Campus Sing an eventful and successful one. "Toot to the Twenties" is the theme for this year's event, which will take place January 30 in the Campbell hall auditorium. The arrangements of "Sissi" and "Jerry's Jamboree" by general chairmen for the long fest. The theme is designed to re-enact the golden era of the 1920's, when the whole world was dancing and singing to tunes like "Charleston," "Blue Moon," and "Daisy.

Group competition between the different living organizations on campus will help to increase the mood of festivity. Prizes will be awarded to the first, second, and third place winners. First prize winners will receive the annual revolving plaque which will have the group's name inscribed upon it. Groups will be judged according to originality of their presentations, continuance of costumes, and singing and dancing — oh yes, har­mony and music.

D-OCE-DO Performs For Maclaren School

The D-OCE-DO folk and square dance club sponsored a dance program at the Maclaren School, for boys near Woodburn last Wednesday evening. The program consisted of folk and square dances in which the boys of the school participated, assisted by D-OCE-DO members.

Callers for the dances were Bob Krebs, Jim Beck, Carolyn Thayer and Annelie Roberts. An exhibition square was a feature of the program.

The D-OCE-DO club has made previous trips to the Maclaren school. Those visits provide a valuable experience for students preparing to enter the teaching profession. The visitors also provide a variety of activity for the boys of the school. Other trips are planned for the future.

The D-OCE-DO club also provided half-time entertainment for the Maclaren basketball game. The members who participated in the two exhibition squares included Jerry Williams, Sandy Allen, Loretta Olson, Ken Cado, Alonzo Jones, Ken McMahon, John Hill, Donna Reynolds, Don Ford, Fred Collins, Jim Beck, Don Stanfill, Jerry Holcomb, Kay Heers, Judy Fel­laries, Diane Willard, Betty Ceb­shan and Annelie Roberts.

Winter Carnival

At Mt. Hood

Starts Saturday

The weekend of January 26-27 may well prove the beginning of one of the biggest single events of OCE's academic year as the first winter carnival gets underway at Mt. Hood. This event of patterned after the famed Dartmouth winter cer­emonies, has been anticipated by winter sports enthusiasts here on the west coast. Many events are featured which will interest all those who love the out­of-doors. A queen will be chosen from representative princesses from the participating colleges.

Two ski races, including bottom hill and slalom as well as a dance and banquet are the activities for the scheduled weekend events. Each college will have entrants to snow sculpting, flyin' saucer races and tobog­gan slalom. Use of all ski facilities is included in the ticket price. In short, the entire mountain area will be devoted to the college's for this event. Ticket prices for the carnival are $4 for the weekend and may be pur­chased from the business office. Transportation will have to be individually provided for but those having difficulties are or­dered to see the Winter Carnival office located in the library of the college.

Ad. 208 at 6 p.m. on January 23, 1957.

Meetings will be in the music building of the college auditorium.

Committees Busy With Schedule

As Plans Are Formed For Event

Plans are being formulated for the 1957 Festival. The event will be held February 8 and 9. A meet­ting of the various committee chairmen was held January 14, to discuss different phases of the planning. Audrey Archibald, chairman, and Jim Beck, student rep­resented, presided over the meeting.

"Folks' Festival" adviser, Dr. Jane Osle, was also present to help with specific details that in­cluded extra considerations. Scheduled events for the week­end are as follows:

Friday, February 8:

8 p.m.—Game with SOCCE

10 p.m.—After-game dance

Saturday, February 9:

9 a.m.-12 noon—Registration in the faculty lounge

12 noon—OCE Luncheon

IRG Offers Test For MUN Delegation

A six-student delegation from Oregon College of Education will attend the annual meeting of the Model Uni­ted Nations which will be held at Stanford university at Palo Alto, California, April 10-12. The student council has placed its stamp of approval on this trip to finance the excursion.

OCE will represent the small nation of Yemen at the conven­tion this year. The Model United Nations is a small-scale imitation of the United Nations. Every nation of the UN will be represented by a college delega­tion and authentic international problems will be discussed and debated according to UN proced­ures. A test will be given by Mr. Norren, International Relations club adviser, to determine who will represent OCE at the con­vention.

The test will be held in the library of the college to Ad. 208 at 6 p.m. on January 22, and will include questions on the organization, "The Role of the UN, Roberts's Rules of Order," and pertinent current events. The test will be open to all OCE students, but is intended for the MUN club members only.

The play is scheduled for performance on February 28 and March 1 in Campbell hall audi­torium.

NOTICE!

Tuesday, January 29 is the last day for ski races, including half mile event, and the board of al­ready being responsible for the grade.

Is Consolidation The Answer?

When we speak of an educated person we are referring to a person who has been educated through various centuries. Small number of ideas have been brought to light and offerings suggestions as to how one should be educated. Man's view has been too narrow at the requirements of an education changes constantly. However, most men realize there are two important factors from which education pours. These are the schools and teachers, with their varying ideas, and the other is contact with, and awareness of others. Each one has to strive to become educated. It is not something that can be acquired merely by going to school. While one is attending school he may be careless of the things that go on around him.

Our school offers many activities for those who are interested in them. Yet, where are the members? Those who are taking active part seem to be the same people in every club. These people are often overloaded with club activities and would gladly pass on some of their duties to others, if the others would take the initiative required to carry them out.

What can be done about this type of problem? It is apparent that something should be done, yet, who is to start the ball rolling? It will have to be the organizations and the members of the various groups themselves! This week I was told by the president of one of the campus organizations that he had no desire to be an officer of that organization, because he was forced to accept. He also felt that he had gained very little from the organization and that the real importance of membership was to have that title on his record. This attitude seems to carry over to the campus. Why? Are there too many clubs, service organizations, and social groups? If so, why don't some of them consolidate to the benefit of all? When the offices of organizations are vacated and also become casual and interested in the things that go on around them.

Consolidation of the various activities and definite paths must be taken by each and every social organization on this campus, if we are not to lose a vital part of our education machinery. We must look at the constitution and by-laws of the organization to which we belong and determine what they were organized to accomplish? If you as a member of an organization are not doing your part take some action to correct this. Consider consolidation of your club and discuss it with other members.

This could be the answer. If you are but duplicating the function of another organization and consolidation is out of the question — attempt to re-evaluate and re-state your objectives.

Social contact is vital to an educational institution. Let's preserve and strive for a more realistic approach to our social groups, their goals, achievements, and, most important, their value to the student, the school, and the community.

PAY FOR THE PRESIDENT OF ASOCO

The Oregon College of Education student body president in order to carry out the duties of his office incurs many expenses. He must attend many functions (sometimes incurring travel expenses), baby-sitting, and additional expenses for other social obligations necessitated by the office.

A student council committee, headed by Charlotte Sakamoto at present, has been investigating this situation for the last three years, and is finally making a definite recommendation to student council. The proposal is to reimburse the student body president with an amount equivalent to one-half the tuition scholarship. (Approximately $25 per quarter at this time.)

The committee feels that this sum is definitely not to be interpreted as a salary, but rather as an aid to take care of the additional expenses of the president incurred while performing his duties.

In arriving at this recommendation, the committee contacted many students, including several former ASOCO student body presidents. The committee also feels that the amount proposed is far from adequate in view of the many expenses that the ASOCO president has each year; however, it would be the first step in reimbursement for our student body president.

Scholarships for Study in Austria Offered to Students

Four scholarships for graduate study in Austria will be offered this year by the Austrian government. These scholarships are intended to cover the full costs of international travel. Applicants may be of any nationality, although preference is given to applicants who are citizens of the U.S. or other countries where the English language is spoken.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents of the U.S., and must have completed at least one year of graduate study. They must also have a good command of the English language and be able to read, write, and speak it fluently.

The scholarships are available to students who are citizens of the U.S. or other countries where the English language is spoken.

FTA Discusses Name Change

The executive officers of FTA met Tuesday evening, January 5, to discuss various items of business. President Clifton Corley, who is club advisor, presented a proposal for a name change. The proposal was accepted unanimously, and the new name of the club will be announced at a later date.

The new name is related to the club’s goals and objectives, and is designed to reflect the club’s commitment to promoting educational excellence.

Let’s Get in the ‘Folkswagon’!

The ‘97 Folkswagon’ sounds like a very attractive model in the activity show for the year at Oregon College of Education. Much thought and hard work is put forth to a festival of this kind, and it should merit some good publicity and enthusiasm from all concerned.

There is still no better insti­tution on earth than the under­standing family, with a whole- some parent-child, or daughter- father relationship. One often tends to disapprove of things not under­stood. Perhaps, here is an oppor­tunity for parents, who are also­likewise patrons of our schools,

Education or Certification

by George Q. Davidson

Senior Fullbright is introducing a bill to make allowance for increased dependency on income tax deductions for college stu­dents. He devotes some time in presenting a discussion of “excellence” in the college academic program. The demand for more facilities for schools and colleges grows; but there is a growing concern about the quality of the instruction and the quality of the learning.

College degrees do not bring with them a natural virtue of wisdom. What is the function of a college? There is concern that we may be training people who may be well disciplined, and well shaped, but whose sense of obligation and responsibility may best be called “time clock punch ing.”

In America we leave the pro­cess of value examination to the individual. Perhaps it is because we are naive, opportunistic, and have believed that if everyone were paid for himself everyone will work itself out, as far as the society is concerned. Colleges and universities have shunned this area of life, either because they had no system of value worked out for themselves, or because they thought that this was entirely the responsibility of the individual.

The process of evaluating the function of the college becomes more acute as the apparent im­possibility of providing every­one who wants one, a particular educational experience. Are colleges to be concerned with virtue and wisdom? What responsibility have they to eliminate from the field of leadership, those who show little talent, responsibility, or concern for excellence?

There is no division between real knowledge and personal ac­tion. Intellectualization is not window. Competence unguided by a sense of value is the equiva­lent of ignorance; in fact, worse. As a friend of mine says, “If he had a brain he’d be dangerous.”

Unless institutions of higher education accept the responsibil­ity of confronting the students with the questions of wisdom, or virtue, we may have production line degrees, and television for teachers.
