Eugene Gleemen To Sing Tuesday

The Eugene Gleemen, a civic male chorus of some 75 voices, will present a program at Oregon College of Education on Tuesday, February 19, at 8 p.m. in the Campbell hall auditorium. No admission fee will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Composed of amateur musicians who sing for pleasure and as a means of rendering community service in Eugene and elsewhere, the group represents many trades, occupations and professions. During the 29 years of its existence the Gleemen have sung more than 150 formal concerts and the members have made six extended trips outside of the state of Oregon. The Gleemen appeared at the governor's inauguration last month.

The programmed numbers are taken from sacred classics, from opera and light opera, from folk music and from current favorites. Dr. Theodore Kratt, professor of music at the University of Oregon, conducts the group and William Woods is accompanist.

Jobs Offered for Summer Counselors

The Employment bulletin in the Administration building has posted notices of counseling positions open to students for summer employment in Oregon, California, Washington, and Alaska.

Directors of summer camps are anxious to secure counselors with experience in child development.

Students interested in summer camp counselor positions should check the bulletin boards for positions available. Further information may be obtained from the deans' office.

In the spring, members of the Oregon Camping Association will be on the campus to interview prospective candidates. Notice of these interviews will be posted at this time.

"Mock Interviews" Highlight FTA Meeting

"How would you plan for individual differences in your classroom?" "Tell me about your activities in college." "How do you feel about professional organizations, such as OEA and NEA?"

These are but a few of the questions which were asked Bob Wilson and Keith Richard at the FTA "Mock Interviews" held last Tuesday evening at the regular FTA meeting. The men asking the questions were Mr. Bud Neal of the Dallas schools, and Mr. Henry Tetz, superintendent of the local school district.

The interviews gave the group a glimpse of an official "closed door" interview.

Pictures were taken of the FTA group before the meeting began.

Honorary Initiates

The Oregon College of Education Beta chapter of Theta Delta Phi, men's scholastic honorary fraternity, held initiation ceremonies in Maple hall on Tuesday, February 12. The five new members initiated were: Bob Barnes, George Evans and Richard Goertzen, all of Salem; Joe Hooven, Bay City; and George Slawson, Dallas.

To gain membership in Theta Delta Phi, a student must maintain a 3.0 grade point average for at least two consecutive terms. As a part of the initiation, the new members are required to write a thesis and defend it before the fraternity members.

NOTICE:

All students desiring to apply, or re-apply for state scholarships for the 1957-58 school year, should do so at once. Application forms are available in the registrar's office. These applications must be in by March 1, 1957, to be considered.

State scholarships are not automatically carried from year to year. If you have been the recipient of a state scholarship during the 1956-57 year you must re-apply if you want one for the 1957-58 school year.

To Appear Friday In Corvallis Concert

LÉONARD DE PAUR

Leonard de Paur will appear with the de Paur Opera Troupe in Corvallis, February 22, at Gill coliseum on the Oregon State college campus.

The dePaur concert program will include excerpts from three Broadway opera hits in English. The musicals are "Four Saints in Three Acts," "Carmen Jones," and "Porgy and Bess." Lawrence Winters, baritone of the New York City Opera and the Stockholm and Hamburg operas, is the featured performer. Other singers are Inez Matthews and Luther Saxton. The company of 50 singers is accompanied by a 25-piece orchestra.

"Shadow and Substance" Said Controversial

Have you ever wanted to write a book criticising the educational system? In the play, "Shadow and Substance," by John Vincent Carroll, to be given Thursday and Friday, February 28, and March 1, in Campbell hall auditorium, you will see what kind of trouble you may be involved in if such a thing occurred to people you know.

When asked, if the play was controversial, Kay Salter replied, "Oh, of course!" Other comments from people who have read the play are as follows: Barbara Anderson, "People can't expect to come just to be entertained." Sam MacIntosh, "... a volatile subject; one which will not be settled in any age." George Davidson, "Anyone who may consider an idea for itself should not be bothered by the attitude displayed by the actors." Dr. Dale, "The play has tremendous possibilities and I'm anxious to see it." Kay Brady, "It will take some effort on the part of the audience to understand it." Nancy Lovett, "Intriguing and thought-provoking."

EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

People strive for certain goals, particularly in education, but this striving is not an entirely individual matter. Since each person is a part of a group in one form or another, the education of that individual is affected by association with others.

One learns best by doing, so it is here that social activities play an important part in education. Desirable values such as cooperation, poise, leadership and competency can be gained not through reading books or taking courses alone, but mostly through taking an active part in some activity where these traits are drawn upon and put into practice.

A few of the outstanding social activities of a college might be dances, musical programs, sports events, dramatic presentations, to say nothing of the many small, unorganized social groupings so important to well-rounded, happy living.

At this point, the individual has to do some intelligent evaluating. Experience has proved that one learns and gains most where his or her greatest interests lie. This perhaps would be the logical reason for someone who was interested and talented in music to belong to a musical group, the athlete to join a sports club, and so on down the line.

On the other hand, this might work just the opposite. Participation in an activity in which one lacked ability might prove to be the one opportunity to gain proficiency in that field.

Again it would be the responsibility of the individual to choose that social group or groups which afford him the best opportunity to learn, and to which he, in turn, could contribute the most.

Cooperation with others to achieve a common good is both educational and inductive to a well-rounded personality.

Certainly it would be too time demanding and thus foolish to overdo the social activity side of college; but to include as much of it as possible is vitally important to a well-rounded education. (LN)

Oregon Vets to Receive Game License Benefits

Many disabled Oregon veterans will not have to secure official statements of disability in order to obtain special hunting and fishing licenses this year.

Oregon state law provides that honorably discharged war veterans who have resided in Oregon for a year and who are considered to be 25 per cent disabled, are eligible for reduced hunting and fishing rates.

Previously, the Oregon Game Commission has required each applicant to secure a letter from the Veterans' Administration to establish eligibility for each new year. However, because of a compiled list which states the disability rating for each veteran who received this benefit last year, many licenses may be acquired by filling out only the commission's application form and forwarding it with the money to the State Game Commission at 1634 S.W. Alder, Portland. Price for either hunting or angling license is 50 cents, or a combination license for $1.

This and that

by Kendra MacLeod

The 10th annual award contest for the Eloise Buck award is now in progress. This is an award for a critical appreciation of a piece of literature. In order to be eligible you must be a student of OCE.

If you wish to write for this contest, choose a piece of literature which you have genuinely enjoyed. It may be any type, a novel, a short story, a poem, a play, an essay or group of essays. In the essay manner the following questions, either directly or indirectly, should be answered: What was the author trying to do? How well did he do it? Why was it worth doing?

Contest deadline is March 28. It will not be judged by the OCE staff but by Miss Edna Mingus, retired, former head of the OCE English department, who is the judging committee chairman, and by members of the committee.

Last year's winner was Marilyn Neill, OCE senior. She wrote on Amy Lowell's poem, "Patterns." The year before, Beverly Jellison, Sr., won with her essay on John Donne's "Death, Be Not Proud." Most of the essays have been written on poetry. The only prose selection was Ethan Frome, a novel.

State the most distinctive characteristics of the work, style, ideas, structure, plot and characters, kind of life treated, etc. Analyze the effect the work has on the reader, stating the means used to secure the effect. Prove what you say here by short quotations from the work itself. Compare briefly with other works of the same type. State the significance of the work, both in terms of its meaning and in terms of its influence.

The Eloise Buck Award was established at OCE in 1946 in memory of Miss Eloise Buck who was a member of the English staff here from 1932 to 1942. Miss Buck died in 1946. At that time she was a member of the faculty of the Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School of New York City.

Lodge Group Offers Scholarships

The Grand Chapter of Oregon, Order of the Eastern Star, will again grant five annual $100 scholarships to women students who are members or daughters of members of the Eastern Star. Eastern Star is a women's organization affiliated with the Masonic Lodge order.

Women interested in applying for these scholarships should contact the deans' office.

Retreat Planned

The OCE-Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship winter term retreat will be held at Nelscott on February 22-24. The retreat had to be postponed to this date due to earlier bad weather.

Program for this retreat will consist of informal Bible studies, discussions and recreation. A $4 charge will be made for meals and lodging from Friday evening through Sunday afternoon.

More information can be obtained from Aloha Taylor, S.P.O. box number 716.

INFORMAL TEA THURSDAY

An informal tea will be held in the living room of Todd Hall on Thursday, February 21, from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. All students and faculty members are invited to attend the tea.

My car's a two-tone color job
 And very much admired too.
 There is the part I polished —
 And the part I was too tired to.

Since literature was Miss Buck's chief interest in the field of English, the members of the committee, who had the matter in charge, determined that the local award should be given to students evidencing marked ability in literary appreciation.

Dr. Dale has stated that she will be glad to discuss the competition with anyone who is interested.

The Letter Box

TO THE EDITOR:

As one of the parents who attended the "'57 Volkswagon" I should like to say thank you very much for a wonderful time. I am sure that I speak for all the parents when I say that your hours and weeks of planning, working, and the frenzied rush of the last day were not in vain. The week-end was a huge success!

But all this work would have been for nothing had it not been for the genuine friendliness of every student on the campus not only for his or her own parents but for the parents of fellow students as well. Never have I been in a group where introductions were so quick or smiles so friendly.

We came away feeling well fed, well entertained, and with elated egos from so much attention. The perfect week-end!

Congratulations! Thanks! See you again next year!

Sincerely yours,
 Mrs. Harvey Chapman

Sports of Sorts

BY RUSS BAGLIEN

Ken Cummiskey of the athletic department gives out with the good news that OCE's golf team, which Cummiskey will tutor, has a nine-match schedule lined up for this spring. Also, the Oregon Collegiate Conference tournament will be hosted by OCE, making actually 10 matches. Interest is running high for the golf team, according to Cummiskey. It will take about 10 players to round out a good squad.

SHOULD KEEP RECORDS

A pet peeve with the OCC, so far as the writer is concerned, is the conference's lack of any record keeping (at least to my knowledge) for team sports. For instance, does anyone know who holds the record for the most yards gained by an individual in OCC football, or for the most points scored in a single basketball game, or for the high batting mark in a baseball season. I know of no one who can supply these figures. Might be a good idea for the OCC to hire someone to do research and compile a record book for the conference.

FACE 27-GAME BALL SLATE

Coach Bob Livingston's OCE baseball squad will play a heavy 27-game baseball schedule this spring, including games with Oregon and Oregon State. The OCC will operate on a round-robin schedule this season, with teams playing each other three times. OCE, for instance, will play three games at opponent's field this season and the same opponent will come here three times next season. The conference baseball tournament will thus be eliminated from the spring sports carnival, to be held at Monmouth this year. Golf, tennis and track will remain on the tournament basis.

FAVOR 24-SECOND RULE

The few comments I have received concerning the column of two weeks ago about basketball rules changes seem to indicate that most people would favor the 24-second rule. So far, I have talked with no one who doesn't think it is a good idea that will be good for the game. Not too many comments have been received relative to the rule change proposed to eliminate one-and-one free throws on offensive charging fouls.

FREE THROW SENSATION

Cece Miller, OCE's free throw shooting sensation, climbed into second place among the nation's small colleges last week following an 8-8 series against Southern Oregon College.

Miller has now connected on 59 of 66 attempts for an .894 percentage (not including week-end games at Eastern Oregon). In OCC play he has dunked 30 of 33 attempts for an even better .900 mark.

Miller, in leading the Wolves in scoring last season with 301 points, had an .835 free throw average. With a good week-end performance against the Oregon Tech Owls, Miller could very well lead the nation's NCAA small colleges. He had a string of 19 straight conversions going into the EOC series.

FROSH WIND UP SEASON

OCE's freshmen and JV basketball teams will wind up their 1956-57 season here this week-end with games against Jefferson and Neahkani high schools and the OCE intramural all-stars. The frosh will play against Jefferson and Neahkanie squads and the JV's will tangle with the all-stars.

In season play the frosh are unbeaten in seven games and the JV's have dropped five of 14 contests. Two of the JV losses were to independent teams and a third was suffered at the hands of the powerful Oregon frosh team.

Statrers for the frosh team on Thursday and Friday nights will probably be Gary Walker and Ed Gregory, forwards; Jerry Myers, center; and Don Sherk and George Bennett or Paul Pellatz, guards.

JV starters Saturday night will probably be Walker and Stan Kenyon, forwards; Myers, center; and Sherk and John Mihelcich, guards. Also slated for action are Gregory, Bennett, Phil

Crowds Enjoy "Dry Night Club" Presentation; "Tahitian Hut" Theme of Choir Benefit

The OCE Choir's "Tahitian Hut" night club—which opened in the OCE gym for one night last Saturday, provided a great evening of true island entertainment. The crowds attending the gala affair were entertained by members of the Oregon State college and the University of Oregon Hawaiian clubs. Enchanting calypso dance music was supplied by the Sigma Nu orchestra from OSC.

Twenty sarong-clad damsels waited on tables and acted as cigarette girls to lend color to Estergard, DeWayne Crabbe, Pellatz and George Marlatt.

OCE TO TRY FOR UPSET

OCE winds up its 1956-57 basketball season here this week-end, playing host to the Oregon Tech Owls in a two-game OCC series. Game time Friday and Saturday nights will be 8 o'clock, with prelims at 6:15 both nights.

The Wolves, cellar-dwellers in the OCC conference, will be gunning for an upset victory over the Owls, who have already clinched at least a tie for the OCC title. The Owls have a 10-4 conference mark and OCE is 3-10 in the conference (Saturday night game at LaGrande not included.)

OTI defeated the Wolves twice earlier in the season at Klamath Falls.

the night club atmosphere. Non-alcoholic drinks with enticing names were featured by the club. The gym was lighted, on the most part, by candlelight, which gave a romantic touch to the entire evening.

Purpose of this gala affair was to raise money to help finance the choir's trip to San Francisco, during the coming spring vacation. General chairman for the entire activity was Ron Martin.

New Officers Elected

Harold Shaper of Beaverton was elected president of the OCE Dads' club at a meeting held in conjunction with the Folks' Festival last weekend. The other officers elected were: Elmer Adams of Portland and Ross Hart of Beaverton, vice-presidents; and Pete Elsenbach of Portland, secretary.

At this meeting the Dads' club voted to allocate over $500 to OCE loan and scholarship funds. The club will also continue sponsoring the Delmer Dewey award, a grant to an outstanding senior man.

Outgoing officers were: Gottfried Krautscheid of Hillsboro, president; Vernon Amell of Beaverton, vice-president; Noland Yoder of Hubbard and Loren Gower of Aumsville, members-at-large.
