Landscaping Project Planned for Campus

Ellis Stebbins, business manager at Oregon College of Education, announced that bids are now being called for landscaping around the Robin J. Maaske Memorial Pool, which was completed in 1958. The planting of lawns and shrubbery is an important part of the beautification plans for both buildings. The landscaping project will also include a terrace, walk, driveway, and outdoor parking space for 44 cars. Another feature of the dormitory planning is an underground sprinkler system.

In addition to beautifying the entrance to the Wolverton Memorial Pool, the area behind the pool will be converted to a parking area for 46 cars and provisions will be made for visiting buses to unload at the back entrance. A completely new drainage line are also planned for the baseball diamond.

It is estimated that the two projects will cost $40,000. David C. Johnson, landscape architect, is doing the architectural planning.

Mr. Stebbins has announced that the Mustangs' baseball team is doing well and that the team will play against the Portland State University Mustangs on April 17th.

OCE Campus To Be Scene For Meetings

Faculty members from the humanities departments of Oregon colleges of education will meet on the Oregon College of Education campus on May 11–12, according to Dr. Jana Dolce, assistant professor of English at OCE and chairman for the meeting. Art and music departmental people will also attend the meeting.

The May meeting is one of three departmental meetings which are being planned for the purpose of tapping the resources of the departmental people in inter-institutional planning, rather than limiting planning to the administrative heads. This will be the first time such a series of meetings have been held in ORE.

Among the meetings which will be held include:

- English department
- English and social studies
- Music and theater
- Art

These meetings will be held in the following rooms:

- English: Room 101, Mathematics Building
- Social Studies: Room 102, Modern Languages Building
- Music: Room 103, Fine Arts Building
- Theater: Room 104, Fine Arts Building
- Art: Room 105, Fine Arts Building

Included in the meetings will be the exchange of paper and the presentation of student projects.

Way Is Cleared for Campaigns As Nomination Assembly Ends

The nomination assembly held this morning in Campbell hall auditable, confirmed the nominations of candidates for the offices of student body president, first vice president, second vice president, secretary, and all members of the nominating committee. The assembly also voted to release the candidate's names to the public.

The nomination assembly was called to order by the chairman, Dr. R. E. Lilleuland, president of the college, and adjourned by the vice president, Dr. J. H. Bunting, assistant professor of English.

Enjoying the assembly were members of the nominating committee, including Dr. R. E. Lilleuland, president of the college, Mr. J. H. Bunting, assistant professor of English, Mr. Donald G. Bliss, assistant professor of education, and Miss Jo Seavey, dean of women.

With Senior Week-end over: A car will be at the bus depot to take the visitors to the place of registration. Sally Edgar is general chairman of senior week-end and Eva Mr. Baker is the secretary. Miss Seavey and Dr. Glogau are the advisors.

VOTER DEADLINE NEAR

Voting registration closes on April 17th for the May primary election. To be eligible to vote this year, it is necessary that your exact address be in the poll book, so that even if you are still in the same precinct but have changed your address you should submit this in writing above your signature.

Yesterday, with the dedication of Roben Maaske Memorial Hall, another step in the development of OCE was achieved. Naming the building in honor of the man whose dream it was and who had the ambition necessary to achieve its completion was a fitting honor.

Erection of such a building at no expense to taxpayers and keeping it filled with students, more firmly substantiates OCE as a bulwark in the system of Higher Education. As a college, we were adjudged by many to be "washed up" in 1954 when the legislature gave the go-ahead to elementary teacher programs in the state. However, since that time, while holding our own in the elementary teacher enrollment numbers (in 1959 there were 430 elementary majors on campus) we have grown like the proverbial "Topsy" in secondary and pre-professional students. There are now 146 secondary majors compared with 65 a year ago, and 54 are enrolled in pre-professional courses while 41 enrollees were recorded last year.

Contrasting total enrollment, we see that there three years ago there were 460 students as compared with 682 now, an increase of over 200. Only slight growth from the 654 registered at this time a year ago may be attributed in part to a slight tightening of the administrative Scholastic standards.

This year there were 52 students suspended from school at the end of winter term while a year ago only five were "booted out" so to speak. This is just another healthy outgrowth of the total development of the program. When a school attains a position in which the development and strength of a constantly developing school is stated to give a healthy increase in enrollment, we are justified in relying that the future of "Topsy the Elephant" is assured.

Dr. Arthur P. Coladarci, associate professor of education and psychology at Stanford University, has been invited to speak at the 30th annual education convention held in Peoria, Illinois, at the end of winter term.

Dr. Coladarci, in addition to presenting a keynote address, will speak at the joint banquet of Phi Delta Kappa, Delta Kappa Gamma, and Phi Lambda Theta, professional education fraternities, on Saturday, April 28.

Dr. Coladarci, who has been at Stanford since 1951, has also cut class at Danbury State teachers college, Hartwick College, and Indiana University. He received his B.M. degree from Hartwick in 1940; his M.A. from Yale in 1947; and his Ph.D. from Yale in 1951. He served four years with the U.S. army in the Pacific area. Dr. Coladarci has recently published, "In Search of Educational Psychology." This will be the first year that

The Oregon College of Education campus will be the site for the annual Future Teachers of Oregon convention. The convention will be held on April 14, according to Margaret Perry, supervising teacher and chairman of the FTO organization.

The convention is sponsored by Future Teachers of America. Approximately 1000 students from all over the state will be attending. It is hoped that a "Challenger" to FTA will be the topic for an address to be given by Mrs. Perry. Committees head assisting in preparations for the convention are: a committee under the general chairman, Dale Long, Dundee, consisting of leaflets, tables; Jane Noll, Gresham, clean-up; Evan Burns, Salem, transportation; Betty S. Seld, Portland, posters; George Savage, Forest Grove, sign-up. Mrs. Perry is president of the OCE chapter of FTA because of a vacancy left when Mrs. Ponton completed her studies at the end of winter term. Other officers are: secretary, Paige Nichol, and treasurer, Ruth Nichols, Eugene, historian, and Bonnie Nicholson, member- ship chairman.

DeGandi and Pease Relate First Year School Experiences

First year teachers Bonnie DeGandi and Harry Pease, both of Monroe, related their classroom experiences to members of the Oregon College of Education chapter at North Salem high school during the monthly meeting held on March 17.

Mrs. DeGandi, who referred to her bachelor's courses at Pedee as her "little bright spots," declared that "you can find your little bright spots in school as well as in college." Mrs. Pease, fifth grade teacher at Bend, related her story in the Salem system, stated: "We all have quams about the first week in college. I was very surprised that the first day went wonderfully and the first week rapidly passed. I really enjoy each day one enjoyable day after another." Both teachers asked the two visitors answered questions from the audience concerning such topics as; classroom decorations, test cards, test books and testing programs.

DeGandi's committee from the FTA chapter at North Salem high school were also special visitors at the meeting.

The students, who are members of the "big five" were: San Francisco State college, United States; San Jose State college, California; Boston University, England; University of Oregon, China; and University of South Carolina, France.

Tallyman on Campus by Dick Tallyman

“OK, OK, you guys! Let’s quit clowning around with that shot put!”

Campus Breezes
Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Smith will be on the OCE campus on April 11 between the hours of 9:30 and 11:30 to interview students interested in working at Crater Lake National Park this summer. Students seeking interviews are asked to check with Dr. Gladman or Miss Scovell for an interview time.

The next meeting of the Student Welfare Committee will be held Thursday, April 12, at 8 p.m. in the faculty lounge. Besides taking care of old business, review of possibilities for meeting classroom shortage and other items suggested by members will be discussed.

Junior and senior students who are interested in employment with the Federal government will wish to acquaint themselves with the Federal Service Entrance Examination schedules. These examinations are given for all candidates seeking Federal employment and students should plan to take them on the date stipulated. Examinations for peacetime will be held April 19 will be tested on May 5; for the period after June 21 will be tested on July 7; and those who apply by July 19 will be tested on August 4.

A bulletin from the Near East College Association indicates that there are openings for secondary teachers in Turkey, Lebanon and Syria. Students who might be interested in such teaching positions are advised to notify the bulletin from the association on the placement office bulletin board.

Mrs. Clara Thompson Honored on Birthday
April Fool’s Day may be remarked by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, director of dormitories, not as a day when she was the center of a practical prank, but as the date for the surprise observance of her birthday on March 31. Held in the Todd hall dining room, the party was attended by the head residents of the dorms: Esther Mason, head housekeeper, and girls of Todd Hall, the Cottage and Arnold Arms. Merle Scott, Todd hall president, presented Mrs. Thompson with a plant as a birthday gift.

Entertainment, conducted under the guidance of Bonnie Schultz, mistresses of ceremonies, consisted of Jerry Ann Bailey, Jo Castillo and Doni Eclipse, vocal trio; Donna Peterson and Lonnie Lamb, piano duet; Jesse, Mary Bernis, Shirley Miller and Charlotte Nyland, vocal quartet; and Sherry Ripple and Kaye LeFrancq, skit.

Mrs. Heath Exhibits Work in California
Pearl B. Heath, chairman of the OCE art department, is one of five west coast craftsmen who are currently exhibiting jewelry and enamels in the department of fine arts in Harris hall at the University of Southern California. The exhibit opened March 20 and will close April 18.

Mrs. Heath’s exhibit includes several pieces of cloisonne enamel, a craft which dates back to the 14th century, B.C. The material used is a strained glass which is ground under water to a fine powder. After the design is drawn on copper, fine hair-like wire is bent and formed to fit the design. The copper wire is baked in a 1500° kiln for 30 seconds. This process forms the cloisters in which the enamel is then placed. Layer upon layer is applied until the top of the wire is reached, each time the enamel being baked under the heat.

Mrs. Heath, who has been on the OCE faculty since 1927, has studied the art of cloisonne enamel both in the United States and Switzerland.

Room Parents Repair Worn Library Books
Mrs. May Lucas, an eighth grade teacher in the local elementary school at OCE and head of the elementary school library, reports that a total of 167 books were repaired and put back into circulation during the current work nights in which room parents participated. Between 15 and 20 different parents manned library books during each of the three work nights in which room parents participated. A bulletin from the Near East College Association indicates that there are openings for secondary teachers in Turkey, Lebanon and Syria. Students who might be interested in such teaching positions are advised to notify the bulletin from the association on the placement office bulletin board.

Two Losses Open Season's Games

The Oregon College of Education completed its 1946 baseball season with two losses at the hands of the Pacific University Badgers, 4-3 and 8-3. Both games were scheduled for seven innings but the opener went into extra innings when the Badgers won, Ed Ramsdell was the hero for Pacific in the first game. With the score knotted at 4-4 and the bases loaded, he hit a line drive to left field to bring in the winning run for the Badgers.

Pitching chores were shared by Wolf team mates serviced O.C.E., Von Summers and Kelly Hoy in the first game. The Wolves scored-off of Von in the middle of the inning. O.C.E. scored three runs on four hits and had three miscues and Pacific had eight runs on eight hits and also had three errors.

Ed Ramsdell was the leading hitter for Pacific with a collection of nine runs and two runs batted in at bat, including three doubles and six runs batted in. Larry Bass was the winner for the Badgers. He carried an earned run average of 3.00 for four games.

The second game the Badgers out fits the Wolves 8 to 4 and scored five more runs. Freshman Terry Strong enjoyed a great game in finding out the pitching and batted in four runs as well as scoring five more runs.
