"The Ivory Door" Will be Senior Class Production

The Ivory Door by A. A. Milne is the play which has been chosen by the senior class to be presented in the Normal school chapel on the evening of February 28. The production was staged in New York two years ago and was released for amateur production last year. Several institutions of higher learning have given this play, among whom are the University of Oregon and Kansas State College and all have pronounced it a tremendous success.

The play is woven around the superstitions of a village in a country a long, long time ago. Everyone fears to enter the Ivory Door in the castle because they believe the other side is a bottomless pit where devils lurk. King Perivale, anxious to learn the truth goes through the door on his wedding day. If you are interested in discovering the fate of the princess, who, in turn, endeavors to find the king, don't forget the production date, February 28.

The play is very delightful with extremely clever lines. Those who have seen "The Romantic Age," or "Mr. Pim Passes By," know something of the skill of A. A. Milne.

The cast will be chosen this week and work will begin on the play soon.

Outstanding Play Chosen At Senior Class Meeting

One of the most interesting features of the senior class meeting last Wednesday night was a resume of the play to be given by the seniors. The play selected for presentation this year is one of A. A. Milne's outstanding successes, "The Ivory Door."

At the conclusion of the meeting tryouts were begun. An election for class historian was also held, Katherine Holloway being chosen for this office.

The class treasurer, Eva Fuegy, asked that all seniors pay their dues, 25 cents, as soon as possible, since this money will be needed for use in the presentation of the class play.

New Members Received At First W. A. A. Meeting

The first meeting of the W.A.A. for the winter term was held Thursday evening, January 14. The new members were asked to be present. Every girl must be a paid up member before her points will be computed or her W.A.A. insignia presented to her. The secretary, Zella Davidson, asked that all dues be paid by the end of this week.

Several new by-laws for the W.A.A. constitution were discussed. Plans for a W.A.A. dance were discussed. This business will be straightened up at the next meeting and all members, old and new, are urged to be present.

Archery Meet Planned For This Term's Students

Arrangements are being made with schools in Portland, Eugene, Corvallis and Salem for archery contests this term. All archery students may compete as it will consist of both beginning and advanced archers.

There will be a men's, women's and mixed teams consisting of four to each team. Plans are now under way for an indoor tournament to be held in Eugene in the near future. In the spring outdoor tournaments will be held which should create much interest.

Women's Houses Choose Officers

Women Leaders Elected to Pilot Students in Winter And Spring Terms

At their first meetings of the term the various organized women's houses on the campus held their regular elections. Those to hold office for the winter term are:

Loan Cari Van: Edna Goodknecht, president; Alleda Beauregard, vice-president; Lillian Massman, secretary; Lois Lucas, social chairman.

The Bee Hive: Frieda Yates, president; Mina Kester, vice-president; Frances Friend, secretary; Mae Nettleton, social chairman.

Howell's House: Gladys Hoisington, president; Mary Jo Ferguson, vice-president; Abbie Woodward, secretary; Bonnie Walker, social chairman.

Cornelius Hall: Grace Parmenter, president; Patricia Jean Spencer, vice-president; Gladys Fletcher, secretary; Louise Mason, social chairman.

Merrimac House: Ruth Parker, president; Madge Duckworth, vice-president; May Gill, secretary; Esther Lumjarve, social chairman.

Tillicum Illahee: Theresa Quigley, president; Hazel Byington, vice-president; Ellen Speerstra, secretary; Pauline Orey, social chairman.

White Hall: Laura Williams, president; Blanche Daugherty, vice-president; Loetta Sommers, secretary; Evelyn Lakin, social chairman.

Third Floor Dorm: Winnabeth McDowell, president; Jean Grebe, vice-president; Lucile Trenary, secretary.

Staff and Key Party Welcomes New Member

A short meeting of the Staff and Key was held Tuesday. After discussing club pins and stationery, the meeting was adjourned to the home of Jean Hagmeier. A delightful informal party was held to welcome a new member, Betty Fosdick, into the club.

Local Country Life Club Studies Farm Problems

The Oregon State Normal American Country Life Club which is affiliated with the National Country Life Association of Washington, D. C., is composed of rural majors and those interested in rural education. The purpose of the club is to promote sociability among its members and to promote special instruction in rural problems. Three terms attendance to this club entitles a member to one credit.

Any problems of interest to farm life are of vital interest to this group. The fluctuating and low prices of wheat, how the different nations have treated the problems of the wheat industry, and the different ways in which grain has been consumed are some of the topics discussed in an informal manner. Comparisons of prices of today's products with those of past years are often made. Newspaper and magazine clippings presenting facts and thoughts of experienced men relating to farm life and labor problems are the basis upon which discussions are made at each meeting.

Miss Larkins has been elected president for the winter term. The other officers are: Janet Gwilliam, vice president; Constance Henningsen, secretary, treasurer; Ruby Hughes, Lamron reporter.

This past fall term is the first time H. C. Seymour, state club leader, who is interested in this line of work has kept any of the term papers to use in club work. The play written by one of the rural club members, Hila Cornelius, is to be used by 4-H workers at Corvallis and may be used state and even nation-wide.

State Speaking Contest To be Held February 13

The Oregon State Extempore Speaking contest will be held here February 13. Eleven colleges, including the three normal schools are entitled to place entrants in this contest.

The rules are as follows:

One month before the contest the main topic will be announced to the participants so they may read any material available on that subject.

One hour before the speeches are to be delivered each contestant draws a sub-topic and goes into a room alone to prepare a speech on that subject. He may carry any books or papers necessary for study but may not use them on the platform.

Hoop Team Starts An Active Season

Wins from Fresno State and Likewise San Francisco Columbia Tonight

The Oregon Normal school basketball team recently completed a very successful trip to California where games were played with Fresno State college and San Francisco State Teachers' college.

The first game played with Fresno State was won by the Wolves who were successful with the Californians by a score of 28 to 27. But the second game was lost to Fresno by a score of 26 to 25.

Fresno has one of the leading teams in the Far West conference and has three all-conference men on their team. U.S.C. won from Fresno by only two points.

The Wolves also played San Francisco State Teachers' college and rolled up a score of 26 to 19. While in San Francisco, Coach Wolfe and team visited Fleischacher's pool and menagerie and also the San Francisco museum and aquarium in Golden Gate park.

The players who made the trip with Coach Wolfe are: Holt, Marr, Edwards, Watkins and Ayers. All the boys report a fine time with fine treatment and hospitality.

Tonight the Wolves will play Columbia university of Portland, here and the supervarsity will play a preliminary game with the Monmouth high school.

Earlier in the season the Monmouth quintet played Company L of Dallas, and also Linfield college; the Normal men winning both games.

At the Columbia game tonight there will be a good opportunity to see fast playing and also some of the new recruits in action.

Debaters Find New Way Of Gathering Information

The Debate club has found a new method of gathering information so they are sending two men, Kenneth Dart and Earl Steward, to Linfield college Wednesday evening to listen to some speeches on the tariff. The question will be: Resolved—that the nations should adopt the plan of free trade.

Strange Creatures Invade O.N.S. Gym. Attend Annual Junior Costume Party

Dear Mom: You should have seen our campus Wednesday night. We were sure a swell looking bunch, although it was hard to recognize some because they looked as if they were dressed in Aunt Mary's cast off or maybe it was the property room's.

Even the seniors came out to view the landscape to see what strange creatures had assembled in the gym.

Strange is right. You should have seen Ed Taggart. He got a prize for the most comical costume and such an Irish immigrant I never saw. We all thought that Margaret Lacy looked the sweetest in her quaint colonial costume, and so did the judges for they gave her the prize for the prettiest there. Tim West took the honors as the Arabian shiek. Isabelle Gill certainly made us think of the days when women were waspy waisted and men were men.

That reminds me that Clarence Ellison as the "belle of the ball," daintily tripped away with the prize for the most original boy's costume. Gee, Mom, Kristine Kallander, who won the prize for the most curious girl's costume wore a Swedish national dress and they say it was a hundred years old.

We danced and sang, accompanied by the O.N.S. jazz band. Then we feasted upon doughnuts and more doughnuts until I feel like a spare tire rolling down Monmouth avenue.

Your son,

JUNIOR.

HELLO!

When we register here as students, we are given a legacy, a trust which we are to administer as long as we remain enrolled. Part of this legacy consists of honorable traditions that we should guard faithfully in order that our successors on the campus may enjoy them also. However, to cherish and guard a tradition does not mean to put it away on the shelf where it will be hidden by dust and darkness. A tradition is an illusive, pulsating heritage, requiring constant use to insure its vitality.

Many of us seem to have tucked our "Hello" tradition away in some far corner. Where is the bright greeting that binds us together, that puts a brighter aspect on the wet pavements and ivy-covered buildings? It will not wilt from use but rather will grow and flourish. Will we let it be said that we failed, that we let the tradition of "Hello" die for lack of use?

Let us say the friendly word when next we meet a fellow student or a member of the faculty. Let "Hello" ring strong and true as long as we are its keepers.—L. H.

HOURS AND RESPECT

"Rome was not built in a day," as the old saying goes, and neither is anything valuable, constructive and worthwhile. The standards of Oregon Normal School have steadily risen throughout the years. Yes, slowly, have they raised, first elevating the scholarship requirements, then dropping the elementary course unit, improving athletics. Let us all consider twice before we sacrifice the attainments of years doing away with our only time for a concentrated study period.

As yet, the students are to be congratulated on the sensible stand they have taken. They have realized the fact that we are all here for the same ultimate purpose, to make ourselves better fitted for our life work, and that this purpose can be accomplished only through diligent labor and concentrated efforts. They have realized that we must hold up our honor and sense of fair play to the rest of the state, and especially so to those who have toiled long and earnestly eliminating the flaws and curing the ills of our institution. As a tribute to them, if for no other reason, let us consider carefully, and decide judiciously on any whirlwind breasting scheme before putting it into action.

First Junior Concert Club Performance is Successful

The first performance of the Oregon Normal Junior Concert club was a credit to all concerned. They who so ably entertained were: Velma Voss, John Murdock and Robert Price with well rendered piano numbers; Harold Witcraft of Dallas, accompanied by Rachel Uglow with enjoyable solos; Miss Irlene Athey gave charming solos, accompanied by Florence Ritter; little eight year old Betty Lou Elliott sang with eight year old Imoline De Armond accompanying; a Dutch dance by Margaret Hedges, Winabeth McDowell, Crystal Pounder and Marjorie Montgomery from the Normal Folk dancing class with Judith Severson at the piano.

Other features were a clever tap dance by Jane Parrish, with Norma Parrish teacher and accompanist; Barbara Jane Powers accompanied by Mrs. Roy Miller, performed in her usual accomplished manner on the violin; and the program closed with xylophone-marimba numbers by Kristine Kallendar and readings by Katherine Olday. The coaching classes each Monday and Tuesday at 4 o'clock are taking care of talent offered for future programs. Those in charge can use more entertainers and there is no charge for admission and no charge for coaching.

OREGON A LEADER IN PRODUCTION OF MOHAIR

Because of its high rank among the mohair producing states, Oregon should benefit materially from the establishment of Mohair institute which has just been announced in Chicago. Headquarters for the institute will be maintained in that city under the direction of A. C. Gage, editor of the Angora Goat Journal and internationally known authority.

Last year Oregon's 120,000 Angoras produced 468,000 pounds of mohair. Only Texas, Arizona and New Mexico exceed this state in mohair production according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The institute will conduct investigations and researches in various fields of industry from the breeding of the Angora goat to the finished product, with the idea of improving the quality of the American mohair goats and in developing new uses for the fabric that goes back to Bible times, according to Mr. Gage.

Turkey is the original home of the Angora goat, but the United States now has more mohair producing animals than any other country in the world. There are Angora goats in each of the 48 states with Texas by far the largest producing state. Improved range practices in recent years have resulted in a finished product superior to that produced in the old world.

Mr. Gage was formerly secretary of the National Mohair Growers association. In the past four years he has traveled over 100,000 miles in the United States and Canada in behalf of the industry. His home has been in Portland, but the headquarters of the institute will be in Chicago.

Mohair has been found by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to be the longest wearing fabric known. The physical nature of the fibre is such as to lend itself to colorings of every hue. It is widely used in the upholstery of motor and railroad cars, good furniture, in making of quality rugs, robes, draperies, clothing and many other articles. It is estimated that 100,000,000 yards of mohair fabric is in use today in automobiles and 12,000,000,000 yards in railroad cars, which use it almost exclusively. The natural resiliance of the smooth fibres of mohair pile, their tendency to spring back to vertical position, makes for greater comfort and riding ease by preventing sliding around in the seat with the motion of the car. Attempts of automobile manufacturers to substitute flat fabrics of inferior wearing quality in automobile upholstery have met with disfavor on the part of the motoring public. Its use in the upholstery of furniture has enjoyed greater popularity too since a process to make the fabric immune to moth damage was adopted some years ago.

THE STROLLER

While searching about the campus for news, observed that:

Jo Hardie's fish story didn't go over so big.

"Eleven thirty, Saturday Night," is not yet the campus theme song.

That Mr. Santee gets the hand crocheted pen wiper when it comes to telling gruesome stories.

That some people have just as difficult a time as Andy does trying to keep out of trouble.

That "Oh, See the Birdie," is the favorite saying up on the third floor.

No need to worry about breaking the camera now, cause you're too late. For reference, see the guilty one—Mr. Ernest Calef.

She: "Isn't that splendid! I only learned to drive yesterday."

"No, your worship, I don't think one ought to be ashamed of his convictions."

She (in poetical mood): "What are the wild waves saying?"

He: "Sounds like 'Splash'."

There had been an auto wreck. One of the drivers climbed out in a fit of temper and strode up to a man standing on the sidewalk thinking him to be the other driver.

"Say, where's your tail-light?" he roared.

The innocent bystander looked up at him. "Wot do you think I am—a bloomin' lightnin' bug?"

Mary (just home from a holiday in Egypt): "And Auntie, it was so interesting; the tombs and pyramids were all covered with hieroglyphics."

Auntie: "Oh, dear, I hope you didn't get any on you child."

Watkins: "Why did you wake me out of a sound sleep?"

Lewis: "Because the sound was too loud."

Smith: "Have you ever been in a railway accident?"

Ginther: "Yes, once, I was in a train and as we went through a tunnel, I kissed the father instead of the daughter."

—!—?—!—

The stingy farmer was scoring the hired man for carrying a lighted lantern to call on his best girl.

"The idea!" he exclaimed. "When I was courtin' I never carried no lantern; I went in the dark."

"Yes," said the hired man, sadly, "and look what you got."

INDEPENDENCE

Miss Wolfer's seventh and eighth grade room in the Independence training school is being transformed into a real post office. Last Thursday in the upper hall, had you happened by, you would have seen an excited group of boys and girls gathered about a little table. On the table were cakes, candy, salad and sandwiches being sold for five cents by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grade combination room that they might get money enough to start their post office in operation. Some actual post office boxes borrowed from the Independence post office have been installed in their room. They will actually sell stamps and envelopes. Letters may be mailed there and the postmasters will take them on to the Independence post office. Post masters are chosen by civil service examinations compiled by the practice teachers Cecil Loose and Paul Gordon.

Miss Howe's eighth grade pupils in studying parts of speech have been observing the words used by younger children. They have been allowed, two at a time, to observe for fifteen minute periods in the lower grade rooms. They exhibited much interest and enthusiasm in reporting their findings to the class, and all gained a great deal by their observations.

MONMOUTH

The center of interest in the first grade at the present time is a playhouse which the children are planning and working upon. They hope to make it of stucco but no final decision has been made.

The first grade room won the $10 prize awarded for having the largest percentage of parents and teachers at the P. T. A. meetings for three months. The children have expressed the desire to buy a canary with the money.

The second and third grades have elected a newspaper staff and expect to be publishing a newspaper soon. They also are looking forward to making a number of improvements in the room, among which will be the repainting of chairs, the repainting and refelting of the bookends, and the painting of boxes in which to keep crayons and pencils.

Friday, January 16, the junior high held an assembly. The program consisted of a talk by Mr. Dewey, the singing of school songs and a dramatization presented by the seventh grade.

The first game of the basketball tournament was played Friday afternoon, the teams being the Warhorses under the leadership of Cyril Wilson and the Rangers under Harold McKern. The Rangers won 32 to 16.

The pupils of the fourth and fifth grade room are building log cabins and constructing a sand table project in connection with their study of the Virginia colony.

Miss Gentle's fifth and sixth grade pupils have organized themselves into a number of self-governing groups, such as for the room, teams, council and noon hour. They show fine ability for conducting themselves in these meetings and great promise of becoming some of our leading citizens in their time.

A Year Ago

The basketball season for the Wolves had a good beginning this week with two wins and one defeat. We won two games from the McMinnville town team and lost to the Multnomah club team, 31 to 21.

appearances here both last year and this year.

The class basketball teams are to be chosen this week, the juniors have 20 members out to the senior's 16. The leading players are: Zella Davidson, Alleta Bjorg, Alleda Beauregard and Wynona Johnson for the juniors and Frances Custer, Peggy Waterman, Olivia Beehler and Judy Rimkus are the outstanding senior players.

Faculty News

A meeting of the State Board of Higher Education was held Friday, January 9, in Portland at which all the higher institutions of Oregon were represented by the presidents of their schools.

President Landers and Mr. Stebbins attended the inauguration of the new governor at the hall of representatives in Salem to hear the farewell address of the retiring governor, Mr. Norblad, and to witness Governor Meier take his inaugural vows and give his address.

President and Mrs. Landers accepted an invitation to attend the Governor's reception held in the Salem Armory. A large number were present.

So that all attendants at social hour may know the patrons and patronesses for the evening, notice will be made in the Lamron each week, of the chapters for the following week end. Those who will act as patrons and patronesses for the next social hour are: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Christensen, Mrs. Beulah Thornton, Miss Florence Johnson and Miss Grace Maurie Mitchell.

At Chapel

Miss Ann Raymond of the Cleanliness Institute, New York City, presented many useful and interesting facts in her charming humorous manner. She had done extensive work in the eastern states as county and Red Cross worker.

The Cleanliness Institute aims to help teachers in health instruction. Most of their work has been compiled in answers to calls from teachers and business women. Besides the independent pamphlets and stories, they have just completed a teaching unit.

The Sky Is Weeping Today

The sky is carrying a grey handkerchief today. Tears are falling, falling, falling.

The leafless, shivering trees are mourning too. Winter—around the corner, waiting—is winking slyly to himself.

Rain falls, silently.

The sky is weeping today.

Helen Eisert.

FIRST LOVE

Down a path where none would follow her she wandered aimlessly,
The sky was dark, her heart was sad,
her whole world was turned awry.
What good was living? Breathing?
Eating?

He had been faithless to their love.

So she thought—

But then you must understand that she was only thirteen,

Which, after all, is so very very young.

"You seem to have plenty of intelligence for a man of your position," sneered a barrister, cross-examining a witness.

"If I wasn't on an oath I'd return the compliment," replied the witness.

Book Exchange Balance Adds $255 to Norm Fund

At the meeting of the student council Tuesday the following business was taken care of:

Since there a great many Oregon Normal song books printed and ready to be sold, it was decided to put the Pep club in charge of the sale of them and use the money for the Norm fund.

The book exchange recorded a balance of $255, and as there is no other financial matter so pressing as that of the Norm, it was decided to add this sum to the Norm fund. It is hoped that with this money and with this term's tuition, the entire debt will be paid.

Mr. Stebbins presented the bills for the Christmas play which amounted to $30 in all. As this is thought by the council to be a worthy thing and should be held traditional by the school it was agreed to pay $19 of the expenses from the sinking fund, the rest of the bill is expected to be handled by the state.

It was voted to appoint a committee to take charge of all requests for future benefit activities for the coming year. This committee will consist of two council members and one faculty member.

Men's Glee Club Meets To Discuss Term's Work

A large group of men reported for the first meeting of the term of the Men's Glee Club at the regular rehearsal last Wednesday evening, and work has been started on various songs for this term.

A highly interesting program of music is planned for this term and all men who are interested in singing are urged to attend. Several social events have been planned as well as numerous projects. The club meets regularly under the direction of Mr. Richman every Wednesday evening from seven to nine o'clock in the Music Hall.

Y.W.C.A. Serves Faculty And Members at Tea

The Y.W.C.A. held a meeting Tuesday to discuss business of the club. After the regular business meeting, Anna Moses gave a report on the Northwest Students International conference which she and several other of the Oregon Normal Y.W.C.A. members attended at Reed college in Portland the latter part of November. Students from Oregon, Washington, California and Canada were representatives at the conference.

The Y.W.C.A. gave a delightful tea Wednesday afternoon, January 14 at West house in honor of the new girls who entered this term and women faculty members. About fifty persons were served with tea and dainty sandwiches Marjorie Montgomery, general chairman of the tea, is to be given much credit for its success.

During the tea musical selections were given by Ruth McKee, accordion solos, Helen Lettow, vocal solos, assisted by Frances Shogren at the piano; Frieda Yates, piano solo.

Assisting about the room were Margery Montgomery, Pauline Ellingson, Janet Gwilliams and Florence Kidd.

House Presidents Meet At First League Council

Thursday night the Women's League council met for the first time this term in the living room of the dormitory. "Manners at the Table," was the topic of discussion. The object was to help make every house on the campus a more charming one by observing the niceties of good manners at the table. Refreshments of hot chocolate and wafers were served later in the evening.

The presidents of the houses are a representative type of girl and will strive to make their houses outstanding in scholarship and school activities.

Committees Appointed At Crimson "O" Meeting

Plans were discussed for future productions by the Crimson O Players at the regular meeting last Tuesday. A play reading committee consisting of Margaret Lacy, Dorothy Covey, Ernest Calef and Gladys Bentley was appointed.

A review of the expenses of the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang," and general comment on the play itself was discussed. The expenses approximated fifty dollars. The committee working on new pins gave a report of the letters received from the engravers.

MacDowell Club Works On Negro Spiritual Songs

The MacDowell club is at present working on a group of negro spirituals and songs.

At the program last Friday night they sang two numbers, "Moon" by Harris, and "Mah Lindy Lou," by Lily Strickland.

Several new members were taken in this term, bringing the membership up to its capacity. Although there is nothing definite planned for this coming term the MacDowell club will probably have plenty to do in learning new songs, which will be presented at various programs.

Spanish Lute Quartet To Appear January 29

The Aguilar Lute quartet of Madrid, Spain, will appear here in concert on January 29.

The members of the Aguilar Lute quartet are the only famed lutanists in the world. Known everywhere in Europe and South America for their fascinating programs and their brilliant interpretations of the works they play, the Aguilars were received last season in America with the acclaim given only the greatest artists in this musically surfeited land.

Winter Enrollment Shows Increase of Fifty Students

587 students are enrolled at Oregon Normal school. 527 of these are students who have attended normal here at one time and have returned for additional work. 60 new students have been enrolled.

Registration for this term shows an increase of 50 over last term's enrollment which was 537. A year ago 701 students were registered.

Monmouth High Wins Game From Corvallis

College Town Boys Come to Even Up Scores But Are Again Humbled

Monmouth high school continued its string of victories Tuesday evening at the expense of Corvallis high. This is the second game the local high school has taken from the Corvallis school this year and the ninth consecutive victory. The visitors showed a strong team that was out to get revenge for the earlier beating they had received and in the first periods of the game they had a slight edge.

Neither side scored consistently in the first half but the visitors managed to keep a one or two point lead most of the time and were on the longer end of a 13-12 score at half time. Monmouth high finished strong, however, and in the closing minutes ran up a good lead that, although threatened several times, was never endangered. The final score was 35-27 for the locals.

Corvallis used a form of percentage system in attack, which was not overly effective against the defense of the locals. Their man to man defense so scattered the players that time after time a Monmouth player found himself free under the basket for an easy shot.

The Monmouth high team showed an ability to keep the ball in its possession when necessary to score, and to recover it when the visitors threatened. They frequently intercepted passes intended for Corvallis forwards and often received passes of their own while covered by a crowd of visiting players.

Both teams played beautiful basketball and the local superiority is told by the score.

In a preliminary game between the local second team and the Corvallis seconds, the visitors won with a 32-23 score. The teams were nearly evenly matched but the visitors had the better luck at basket shooting. Corvallis pulled the old play of a four man defense with the odd man parked under the Monmouth basket with good results for the play resulted in more than enough set-up shots to win the game.

Lineups of the feature game:

Monmouth 35		27 Corvallis
Good 8	F	4 Avery
Hockema 7	F	8 Lowe
Santee 10	C	4 Joslin
Johnson 4	G	4 Keasey
White 6	G	5 Painter

Motion Pictures Display Scenic Spots of Oregon

The beauties of Oregon scenery were displayed in the motion pictures shown in the auditorium Friday night. The pictures were supplemented with descriptions and explanation by Dr David Bennet Hill of Salem who exhibited the films.

The views included scenes along the Columbia river highway, Mount Hood loop, Roosevelt highway and Silver creek canyon. Many scenes of the different falls were shown and proved very beautiful.

The audience was thrilled by a film picturing a climb up Mount Hood in which the deep crevasses, rock and ice formations and winter sports were especially featured.

The Civic club of Monmouth sponsored the program and made it possible for the students to hear Dr. Hill.

Preceding the picture the MacDowell club sang several selections including "Noon," and "Mah Lindy Lou."

Collecto - Coeds Elect Officers and New Members

Collecto-Coeds held their first meeting of the term Thursday, January 8, in Room 10, for the purpose of electing officers. The results of the election were: Mildred Kane, president; Martha Hagmeier, vice-president; Helen Burk, secretary; Billie Stewart, treasurer.

It was decided to vote in three new girls to complete the membership quota. Frances Shogren, Winnabeth McDowell and Alice Zook were selected.

At the Ball

Monmouth and Independence citizens who were in attendance at the inaugural ball at Salem Monday night were, President and Mrs. J. S. Landers, Misses Fay Johnson, Mary Donaldson, Helen Hayman, Vera Johnson. Mrs. Elsie Bolt, Martin Blakely, Vincent Johnson, Paul Robinson, Hal Chapman, Melford Nelson, Dr. and Mrs. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walker.

Puddy: "Can you tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Jean: "I don't know or I'd take some of it myself."

"We used to have a board of education in my younger days too," commented father as he scanned the evening paper, "but it was kept in the woodshed."

HONOR STUDENTS

Fred Calef and Percy Riddell, both of Monmouth, were on the honor roll at the University of Oregon at the end of the fall term. The honor roll is comprised of students receiving no grade less than II. Calef is a senior who is preparing for the law course, and Riddell is a junior in the economics department. The honor roll totalled 128 students.
