STUDENT COUNCIL REPORTS CHANGES

Three Changes Proposed in Constitution; Students To Vote Soon

The Student Council reports three suggestion changes in the constitution of the Oregon Normal school.

The first is in regard to the awards for wrestling. It is suggested that Article XII, Section 1, Clause 4 be made to read: "To any one who participates in three conference meets or their equivalent and wins one of these matches;" instead of the present wording: "To any one who participates in at least one-half of the intercollegiate and equivalent meets."

The Women's Athletic association reports in favor of the point system as stated in the constitution previous to August 29, 1923 and opposed to the point system as given in the revised Student Body constitution. It also recommends the following:

1. That Article XII, Section 2, Clause 3, be amended to include the following:
25 points for folk dancing,
25 points for dancing club,
100 points for archery club,
That soccer be replaced by speed ball, with the following rewards:
100 points for first class team.
75 points for substitute on the first class team.
60 points for substitute on second class team.

2. That Article V, Section 1, Clause 3-a, be amended to include one member of the Women's Physical Education faculty and the president of the Women's Athletic association.

The last suggested change is in Article X, Section 5, which at present reads as follows: "The balance in any fund at the end of each term shall be placed in the general fund which shall be administered by the Student Council." It is considered that the funds should remain separate as this would be more conducive to good management of the money by the respective organizations.

The changes will be submitted to the student body for consideration at an early date.

Symphony Orchestra Resumes Rehearsals

The O.N.S. symphony orchestra held its first rehearsal this term, Monday evening. There was a good attendance and six new members were added.

Professor Gaskins has stated that the orchestra may play at chapel from time to time this term. Definite announcements will be made later.

All members of the orchestra wishing one-half hour credit for their work, must see that the director has their class registration cards. This should be attended to at once.

Anyone playing an instrument, and interested in orchestra work, either for credit or otherwise, should register with the orchestra.

Order of the O Receives New Members to the Fold

The men's order of the O will initiate ten new members at a basketball game sometime in the near future, it was decided in a meeting Wednesday. The order is keeping it a secret just what is planned as initiation for the new lettermen but something in the line of a stunt between halves is expected.

Twelve new men receive monogram sweaters for football this season. Two of the men, Robert Lewis and Ed Warren, are not in school this term.

The men to be initiated are: Maurice Stearns, Bill Wymer, John Phillips, Ralph Long, Barney Senn, Eugene Dane, Harold Chapman, Roland Watkins, Harry Cloninger, and Snide Campbell.

Book Exchange Will Issue Checks Soon

The book exchange has done very well this year, making it possible for a great number of the students to purchase their books second hand. To those students who have books that were sold this term an announcement will be made in chapel concerning the time to get checks.

Practice Begins for Girls' Interclass Basketball

Class basketball is of first importance this six weeks. All girls are eligible to try out for these teams whether or not they have played on a donut team. There will be at least four practices before the teams are selected. Miss Parker, Miss Crain, Miss Kirk, Mary Grayless and her two assistants will choose the teams with the help of representatives chosen from the Junior and Senior groups by the girls themselves.

There will be three Junior teams and two Senior teams. Six games will be played and perhaps more and the class teams will play an inter-class game to decide the championship. The first practice was held last night, the Juniors playing from 6:30 to 7:30 and the Seniors from then until 8:30.

The second practice Wednesday night, the Juniors will play from 6:30 to 8:30. In fact, the whole week will necessarily be given over to basketball practices. These games are very important. Seventy-five points are given toward an honor letter to any player making one of these teams. Everyone interested in basketball should be out.

WRESTLERS TO MEET CORVALLIS HIGH SCHOOL

The O. N. S. bonerushers will attempt to gently place the strong men of Corvallis right on their backs next Saturday night at Corvallis. The affair promises to be exciting and thrilling as Corvallis high is known far and wide for its brand of wrestling. At present there are two state champions at Corvallis high school who are going to uphold their honors at all costs.

This will be the first meet of the season for the local ear pullers who are being coached up on the fine art of muscle pulling by Coach Everett Newton who has no mean ability himself.

Much interest has been shown in this sport here this year and competition for berths was hotly contested. The men who will probably make the trip are: Rowland, Phillips, Ginther, Gillis, Newton, Smith and Lefever.

January 28, the O.N.S. wrestling team will twist necks with the Multnomah club in Portland and February 1 they will meet Corvallis high here in a return meet. Much new equipment has been added which was sadly in lack last season.

Men's Glee Club Enjoys Increase of Membership

Enthusiasm was in the air during the past glee club rehearsals. An able director, increased membership and a library of new music which has cost fifty dollars, combine to make the rehearsals decidedly worth while.

The hour of meeting has been changed from 6:30 Tuesday night to 6:45 to 8:00 on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. There has been no other change and the music hall is still the meeting place.

Pep Band Begins Term With Membership Drive

The O.N.S. pep band, directed by Oscar C. Christiansen, will play for the games this year. The organization has at present, only a few members, but is launching a drive.

Last year the band played at most of the games and held a concert in the spring term. The members of the band are: Joseph Wenzel, cornet, Kenneth Thompson, cornet; Durward Helyer, clarinet; Marvin Smith, clarinet; Cecil Loose, trombone; Edgar Hite, trombone; Herb Baker, saxophone; and Mr. Christiansen, tuba.

Religious Education Classes Have Improved Outlook

Enrollment in the religious education courses is splendid this term. In the four classes there are about forty members enrolled. This term the interest is exceedingly good. The outlook for the future of this course is very good. There are two new instructors who are assisting in this work. They are Dr. Hertzog, of Willamette university and Dr. Warrington of Oregon State college. Mrs. Miller hopes that credit for graduation will be given here in the near future for work in this course.

JUNIORS SELECT CLASSIC ROMANCE

Robin Hood, Merry Men in Sherwood Forest is the Class Play Theme

"Robin Hood," by Owen Davies, will be the Junior class play! Every one is rather surprised and delighted with the announcement by Miss Johnson. Do not get the impression from the title that the play is a childish fairy tale for it decidedly is not. Owen Davies is a modern playwright who usually writes materialistic things. It is very remarkable that he should be able to write such a delightful fantasy. The play is not in the least antiquated. It is filled with humor and exceedingly rapid action. Robin Hood is a costume play with a medieval atmosphere. Everyone is familiar with the character of Robin Hood, the bold outlaw of Sherwood forest; Lady Marian is the lovely maid whom Robin Hood saves from the scheming sheriff; Little John is Robin Hood's good right-hand-man; Dorothy, Lady Marian's friend and companion; and Friar Tuck, one of the jolly outlaws. Guy is the sheriff's nephew who would marry the Lady Marian; Hugh is the sheriff's assistant.

All of the parts are character parts and every character is of exceptional importance. People who do not make the cast but are interested in costuming, properties, or staging, see Miss Johnson and offer your services.

This play has not been used widely for high school productions but has usually been staged by more experienced dramatists.

There are fourteen men's parts and five women's parts. The tryouts will be held next Thursday evening at 6:30. The order of the tryouts will be first come, first serve. The tryouts will be individual before Miss Johnson and her assistants. The cast will be picked very soon in order that rehearsals may begin.

Everyone is anticipating something different this year. Robin Hood will be thoroughly entertaining, so all Juniors, cooperate to make it a success.

O.S.C. Students Help in Y.M.C.A. Educational Work

A joint meeting of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. to which all Normal students were invited was held Tuesday evening in chapel. Representatives of the O.S.C.A. associations of the same name, were present and gave a delightful educational program.

Mr. Ivan Jones, member of the Y. M. cabinet, who was introduced by Dr. E. M. Warrington, general secretary, led in a short devotional service. He also acted as chairman of the group.

Miss Ruth Hudson, accompanied by Miss Rosena Gallatear gave two pleasing whistling solos.

Miss Lan Chen Kung, member of Y.W. cabinet gave a talk on "World Relationship." She said, "You don't have to go to China to meet the problem. It is right here in the Willamette valley. She asked the audience to name the capital of China. The audience named Peking, and she said there is no such city as Peking any longer.

One question she asked was: "How much time do you spend reading about other countries and how much do we know about other people?"

She said, "Such things as calling the Japanese, Japs; and the Chinese Chinks, are what cause the trouble."

Miss Martha Fisher, president of the Y.W.C.A. told about the organization and the things the Y.W. does at O.S.C.

J. Svenh, publicity chairman, told about the value and purpose of the association, and also about the summer camp at Seabeck, on Hood's canal and urged as many as possible to go there.

The purpose of the Y.M. is to help students to solve their life problems, help bring the spirit of religious relations in all phases of life: also to bring the individual into personal fellowship with Christ. The local Y.M.C.A. cabinet is at work planning an interesting and helpful program for the local organization.

HOOP PROSPECTS APPEAR BRIGHT

Pacific College Puts up Fine Contest but Fail to Stop Wolves; Score 41-31

The first conference game between Oregon Normal and Pacific college, started out with a bang. The game was played in the high school gym before a packed house.

Neither team scored the first few minutes. Dead Eye Swartz dropped in a free throw and a field goal to put his team out in front. He drew first blood but the lead was short lived, as Pacific took the lead with a couple of field goals. The Normal team called for time. They came out fighting hard and scored two baskets, but Pacific tied the score a moment later.

The Wolves, in a fiery attempt to take the lead, scored a basket and a field goal in rapid succession, to take the lead once more. Both teams were fighting furiously for the lead. It was nip and tuck, with anybody's ball game.

The Normal team showed a big improvement over their preceding game last week. They were functioning with machine like regularity. The strong combination of Schunk, Young and Swartz, in the running positions with Watkins and Ayers as the guarding men was showing up well. They were a well oiled combination and were working as a unit which seemed to please Coach Wolfe considerably.

The quarter ended with the count 13 and 13. Two foul throws and a field basket put the Wolves out in front, but Pacific, with two field goals tied the score once more.

The teams were battling on even terms, and it seemed no ending to the tied count. First one team would score. Then the other would follow.

Each team was striving hard to gain the lead but effort was seemingly helpless. At this stage of the game, Finley, the brawny chap with the curly hair, replaced Young.

Swartz and Young were dropping the ball through the hoop from all angles of the floor. Coach Wolfe took out Young to give him a little rest. It must be said here that Young is a dead shot and more than once brought the spectators to their feet with his deadly shots.

Schunk, the tall, handsome lad from Independence, towered above Pacific's team and he got the tipoff with ease. This helped much in getting the team work down to the real thing. At half time the score was 22 to 19 in favor of Oregon Normal.

The second half started out as did the start of the game with neither team scoring for a moment or two. Here Pacific drew first blood with a field goal.

The rest at half time seemed to give added pep and strength to the Normal team for after a few minutes of furious playing, basket after basket was looped in and the Wolves rung up a ton point lead, which they never relinquished to their most humble opponents.

Ayers with his uncanny ability to grab the ball from the back board, more than once brought the fans to their feet with his catlike way of doing things. Ayers, it must be said, is one of the hardest, yet cleanest men on the team. He always gave the fans many thrills with his long shots, which were accurate and true.

Watkins played a long up game and was all over the floor, playing up to his usual form and coming in for his share of the baskets.

Pacific tried very hard to overcome the lead of the Wolves, but it was of no avail. Wolfe must have given them a shot of H2-O at half because the team came out and fought like real Wolves, and clearly outplayed their opponents in the second half and lived up to their name.

Ed Swartz was clearly the star of the game. His uncanny way of dribbling down the floor and tossing in baskets with the eye of a marksman brought the throng to their toes many times. He would loop them in from close and far and many times he had a chance to score but would pass to some one else. This shows his clean sportsmanship, as well as the rest of the team's attitude.

Fifty-nine New Students Register for Winter Term

Reports from registration which has been taking place for over a week shows that fifty-nine new students are registered for the winter term. It is most surprising to note that of this group thirteen are boys and forty-six are girls. Also, that a very large number of these have entered from some other college or have gone here previously.

For this registration it is evident that Multnomah county leads the other counties in having the most students enrolled. Willamette valley is also well represented.

RURAL LIFE CLUB HAS LAW TO GOVERN TEACHERS

A meeting of the Rural Life club was held Thursday evening.

Mr. Knapp brought before the group a report of the bill on which the club is now working which pertains to the requirements for teachers to return to school.

A lively interest is being shown by the members in the making of this bill, the purpose of which is to make the rural schools of Oregon more progressive and the teachers of the second and third class schools better fit to teach.

The bill provides that all teachers in active service in the elementary grades of the second and third class schools shall return to school at least once every three years and earn nine hours credit. This bill annuls the Reading circle requirements and does not apply to teachers until five years after graduation.

Miss McKellar is Guest At Campfire Girls' Dinner

The Campfire girls held a meeting Wednesday night at 6:30 in room 10. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss and pep-up the fire-makers' banquet which was to be held Thursday evening in honor of Miss Jane McKellar, field secretary of the Campfire girls organization. Miss Mitchell led the girls in singing the campfire songs.

Thursday evening at 5:30, the Campfire group met in the cafeteria in the training school for the fire-makers' dinner. Some of the girls, from the group served. The table was lighted with seven candles, and the place cards were in the form of the Campfire insignia.

After the supper they went to room eleven in the administration building, where Miss McKellar gave the girls a very interesting talk on Campfire work. They adjourned at about eight o'clock.

CAREER CONQUERS EARLY OBSTACLES

Anna Case, Soprano, Won Recognition Because of Outstanding Talents

Miss Anna Case who sings in chapel Friday, January 18, has attained rare distinction in musical circles all over the world. She has sung before kings and queens of the greater powers of Europe and was acclaimed by them as one of the best singers of today.

Miss Case did not have the same opportunity to become famous some singers have because she was born of poor parents in an obscure village in New England and vocal tutors were sadly in lack in the vicinity. However, Miss Case seemed to be gifted with a naturally perfect voice and by first playing and singing in the village choir and by next moving to New York city she began a musical career.

Dire poverty was her position at this time and after many privations and hardships she was rewarded by being asked to sing in a hotel.

By a coincidence, the director of the Metropolitan opera company happened to be present. Miss Case played her own accompaniment, being too poor to afford to hire one. The director after hearing her wonderful voice immediately offered her a contract which she accepted.

Her debut followed shortly after and her rise to fame since has been like a fairy tale. One reason for her astounding ascent to fame is her personal beauty which wins her audience, even though her singing were mediocre which it is not.

She is deeply interested in her work and her singing is life itself to her. She takes her work very seriously and dramatizes her songs to a degree of perfection that cannot be excelled.

Her success should be an incentive and an inspiration for other young people contemplating taking up this vocation. She emphatically advises no one without a good voice to begin with, to attempt to gain fame in the field for she firmly believes that singers are born and not made.

Arrangements are being made to take care of the large attendance expected and all are urged to get to their seats as early as possible to avoid disappointment.

Some men smile in the evening,
Some men smile at dawn,
But the man worthwhile
Is the man who can smile
When his two front teeth are gone.

Anna Case, Soprano

WILL WE WIN?

Judging our basketball team by its first game showing, it seems that the Wolves will win the conference cup for the third consecutive season, which means that the cup will remain our permanent property. This may sound boastful but the three lettermen back from last year's championship team, one from the 1926 team and a wealth of new material—why not?

As the past season's football team pointed toward a bigger and better football future, so the performance of O.N.S. basketball teams during the past two years and last week's victory over Pacific university, points toward a rosy future for the maple court sport. Pacific university is in a conference with such schools as Willamette, College of Idaho, College of Puget Sound and Whitman. In the pre-season games Willamette held her own with O.S.C. and seriously threatened to belittle Oregon's famous basketball reputation.

Everything indicates a year that will make our school, athletically. It is up to the student body, however, to give the team support, that it may lose none of the spirit and sportsmanship for which the Wolves are growing famous.

Spectral Leader Baffled, No Artifice or Stragem Potent to Move his Followers

Only the dim light of a winter moon lightened the darkness of the waiting crowd. The meeting of the Ten-Hundred had again been called. Now, nothing was so peculiar about calling it, but at this time—?

Every mind in the audience was chilled and tense with the very breath of the mysterious night about them. Suddenly a form appeared on the platform—their self-elected president. Each individual sat a little straighter, intent upon the speaker. How he thrilled his hearers! But, somehow, he sensed, tonight, that they were not paying the rapt hypnotized attention that they usually did. Why?

The speaker soon came to the climax of his speech.

"Now, all those in favor of molesting the Chapel period, say 'aye.'"
No answer!

What the deuce! Surely this crazy horde weren't going against him! In vexation, he shouted, "I say, can't you good people answer? You have listened to me of yore. Are you now deserting your leader? Why do you act as dumb as a mute school?"

He raged, cursed, pounded his feet, pulled his hair, tore up and down the stage, begging this strange assembly to answer him.

They paid unquestionable attention, but answer—no!

Only the pale moon light flickered in answer as it capered with the fantastic shadows on the walls. But the ghostly gathering remained silent. In desperation, in final banished efforts, and with what angry flustered dignity he could muster, Satan left forever the room. But little did he know that there were new seats in the auditorium, and therefore could not and would not squeak assent to his malicious temptations.

Our chapel hour, hereafter, will be devoted to the services rather than to the howling of the chairs.—Mary K. Loomis.

Remembering Their Smiles

(To the memory of my students, Florence Graham, Margaret Hemmers and Evelyn Ohman, who departed this life, January 1, 1929.)

Dark
Athwart the dawning year,
Like an evil dream,
Came tragedy.
Even as we greeted one another,
Exchanging good wishes,
The horror
Was upon us,
Suddenly.
Three of our number
Were passing,
But we knew not
Of their extremity
Until they were gone.
And then
Our strength seemed Weakness;
Our wisdom,
Polly.
Remembering their smiles,
We give them our tears.

Mrs. Hutchinson Fills Vacancy on Music Staff

Mrs. Hutchinson, the new faculty member on the music staff, has been engaged to fill the vacancy left by Miss Woodruff. Mrs. Hutchinson supervises the work in the training schools in Monmouth and Independence besides acting as instructor of various theoretical branches in the department of music.

She takes the position as supervisor of methods and comes from Teachers Training college, Valley City, North Dakota, and the McPhail school, Minneapolis, Minn.

ated herself with her Indian motive and honors she had won. Honors are given for several different things such as Homcraft, Healthcraft, Handicraft, Nature craft, Camp craft and Business craft. Besides doing the work to earn the honor bead the girl must be happy in her work and enjoy it.

The ideals that Campfire girls are working for are expressed in the Law of Campfire, which is to seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glory in work and be happy.

Exchanges

The Beaver quintet met defeat at the hands of the fast Willamette five in a flashy game played here Friday night. The Beavers started out at the long end of the score but were overtaken before the end of the first half. The Willamette Bearcats came out ahead 24 to 21.

The visitors were satisfied after avenging their 39 to 31 defeat taken at the hands of the Beavers at Salem Wednesday night. The Beavers met the basketballers from Multnomah club Saturday night in a return game. The O.S.C. team won in Portland during the holidays by a score of 47 to 20.—The Barometer.

A shadow was cast over the University of Oregon campus the first week of the new term when Dean Frederick Young, 71, dean of the school of sociology, died at his home at 10:30 Friday morning.

Dean Young had been ill for several weeks but had continued to teach his classes and take an active part in the progressive work of the university. Dean Young had been at the university for thirty-five years, coming to Oregon as head of the department of economics and sociology in 1896. No successor has been named to fill the vacancy left by Dean Young.—Oregon Daily Emerald.

On the same night the disastrous fire at Mack's house in Monmouth occurred, a girls' three-story rooming house at the state teachers' college at San Marcos, Texas, was also destroyed by fire.

The fire occurred at eight o'clock and started in one of the girls' rooms from a heating stove. The second and third stories were badly damaged and the girls on the third floor lost all their belongings. No lives were lost.—Taken from College Star, San Marcos, Texas.

Registration closed at Oregon State last week with a total of 3681 students, a decided increase over the enrollment of a year ago.

Seventy-seven students have entered college this term for the first time and 143 others have returned to school after staying out the fall term. Every county in the state has a representation among the 2914 Oregon students in the college.

Multnomah county leads in number of students here with 770. Benton county is next in order with 643, followed by Marion, Clackamas and Linn counties. Three hundred fifty-six students are enrolled from California. Maine, New York and New Jersey are also represented with one student each.—Barometer.

The annual high school officers' conference was held last week-end the 10, 11 and 12 at the University of Oregon. An interesting program during the three days was arranged by the Oregon committees and the guests were housed at the different fraternity and sorority houses.

Representatives of the newspapers, annuals, student body presidents, girls' league leaders and faculty advisors from all over the state attended.—Oregon Daily Emerald.

Carl Sandburg, noted poet, biographer, and maker and singer of American Folk songs will appear in a special program at the State Teachers College at San Marcos, Texas on January 23.

Mr. Sandburg is coming to Texas this winter under the general auspices of the civic forums of a number of Texas cities. His program will be "A Night with Carl Sandburg."—The College Star.

The Oregon football team, "The conqueror of the Pacific" returned home Wednesday noon from their trip to Hawaii. The twenty-two players who made the trip returned on the Cascade limited from San Francisco and on their return were welcomed by a big student rally.

The players were gone a month and made an enviable record while in the islands. The Webfoots defeated the Honolulu team in their first game 13 to 2. They also scored another victory New Year's day defeating the University of Hawaii 6 to 0.—Emerald.

DO TEACHERS TEACH?

"The darkest shadow ever cast upon the face of the fine arts of pedagogy is that the business of the teacher is to teach. Emphatically it is not. Rather it is to see that the student learns."

We are unable to give proper credit for this rather shocking statement. It appeared in a magazine article which Miss Lila Myers, principal of the Ashland junior high, used as a basis for discussion at a group conference of the student teachers.

What are we here for if it is not to prepare to teach? The statement implies that pupils learn through a keen desire for knowledge. The teacher's job is to motivate the subject matter of the curriculum, to put life into the subjects, to vitalize the facts is our task.

A well known educator has said, "If cornered, teach. Otherwise, let the children learn."—Siskiyou.

CORRECTION

The alumni reporter wishes to express her regrets that a false rumor, relating to the statement that Miss Cecil Cothran had died, made its way into the Alumni column, but the report was typewritten and given to the reporter to be put in the Lamron. Miss Cothran, however, is very ill, due to an injury sustained when she was thrown from a horse which she was riding.

Students and others, please aid the Lamron staff to keep false rumors from getting in your paper, by being definitely sure of the validity of news before telling it to the reporters.

Norma Livingston, an elementary student in the class of '27, is teaching at Oak Lawn, Clackamas county.

Una Hyatt, Lamron editor for 1925-26, is teaching in the Bolton school near West Linn.

Additional December graduates to those mentioned in last week's Lamron who have obtained positions for the remainder of the school year are Bernice Daugherty and R. Keith Barnes. Miss Daugherty is teaching at Blachly, Oregon, and Miss Barnes has a position near her home.

Alma Sandwich, a graduate of 1927 who has been attending Oregon State college for the past term, has been placed at Carlton where she will teach the seventh grade for the remainder of the school year.

University Students Will Film Collegiate Movie

The University of Oregon campus will soon be the scene of a real full-fledged motion picture, released by a student company, acted by students and filmed by students.

Work on the production has been under way since the last part of the winter term, and practically all of the necessary details have already been attended to. Casting and rehearsing will get under way in a few weeks and actual filming will be done during spring term. The production is expected to be ready for showing by the end of the school year.

The photoplay will be collegiate and is being based on a short story by Professor W. F. G. Thatcher. The stars of the play will be chosen by tests.

Teachers

What will you do with the little child
Who timidly comes to you?
Are you able to guide him as he grows,

To make him fine and true?

Can you show him the better things
of life

And point out the road to take

In order to gain what we call success,
The best of his life to make?

Can you hold to his eyes a telescope,
Showing life in a wider view,

And help him judge the value and worth

Of the things that he may do?

This little bit of human clay
Has been put into your hands.

The world is looking to you to build,
Can you meet its best demands?

Are you worthy of all the faith and trust

That this child puts in you,
Or do you very often neglect

To keep yourself pure and true?

Have you fitted yourself the best you can

To serve as a model for him?

It all depends on you, you know
Whether he'll sink or swim.

So, if you haven't, begin today
To choose those things in life

You may give to the child as guide posts,

Through this world of sin and strife.—Lulu Caverhill.

WHO HAS THE BLUES?

Sometimes when the day is dark and sort of gloomy, when we're feeling glum, homesick and lonesome—maybe discouraged with our progress in school—we "wake up" just in time to find ourselves slowly sinking down into the cold dismal depths of the 'blues.' We just become so miserable that it is hard to survive, and the melancholy old world round us doesn't seem to hold much in store. We are blue, yes, mighty blue.

Now someone has said that "being in bondage to the blues is precisely like being lost in London fog." The fog is thick and black, and hides all the old familiar landmarks. A man may be within a few doors of his home, yet grope helplessly through the murk to find the worn threshold.
When we have the blues it is difficult to see an inch beyond the dreadful past—everything looks dark and forbidding, and despair with an iron clutch pins its victim down. Ah! A dreadful thing is the blues.

The question is: why have the blues? Why not be contented with life as it is? Why worry, brood, and be gloomy? Isn't it a lot better to be bright and cheerful, a sunshiny fellow student, making light-hearted those around you? Whiting says that no one has any more right to go about unhappy than he has to go about ill bred. The day is dark ONLY when the mind is dark. So clear up your mind and smile awhile, yea, keep a-smiling.—Optimist.

Dramatics Club Selects Name at Special Meeting

Henceforth the group of people of the dramatics club will answer to the appellation of "Crimson O Players." After a contested vote, this very appropriate and satisfactory name was chosen to designate this group of players as long as the club functions. After the selection of the name, an animated business meeting was carried on, presided over by the president, Marguerite Rarick, in which a constitution was drawn up and partially accepted. Due to lack of time, other business was postponed until the next meeting on Monday evening following.

Besides the acceptance of the constitution, the coming meeting of the Crimson O Players promises to be interesting because of a report which is to be forthcoming from the play reading committee. This committee gives a resume or synopsis of the plays and recommends them to the club, letting the club decide which plays
it would like to have reproduced.

It is necessary for every member to be present at every business meeting, because some important work is going to be presented soon.

Operetta for MacDowell Club will Soon be Chosen

The MacDowell club is anticipating an active and enjoyable term of work and social good time. They will soon center their attention on their annual operetta which will be given with the Men's Glee club and orchestra. Everyone is anxious to begin the rehearsals for the enjoyment of both preparation and presentation. Mrs. Bel-

Faculty Men and Student Married Men Play in Thrilling Basket Ball Game

One of the biggest clashes ever sponsored at Oregon Normal was held Wednesday night. This big feature was the Normal Married Men vs. the Normal Faculty Men. These iron clad warriors of a former day came out in all their old time form and gave the spectators the biggest thrill they have had in many moons.

The team work of the Faculty men would make Paul Revere look green with envy. Christensen the big muscular chap with curly blonde hair, was easily the big star of the game. He could drop the ball in from any angle of the floor, and he did it with so much consistency that he had his opponents gasping with awe. Mr. Christensen, in other days was a big star in the Goffus-leather league.

Mr. Wolfe was also a star in this game. The way that man could dribble and shoot fouls was like nobody's business.

The great and only Mr. Dodds showed his many friends how basket ball should be played, and how he used to play at Kansas university.

Dr. Jensen, the man who parts his hair in the center, was a great aid to his team mates, and helped Mr. Dodds out considerably in guarding their goal. The way he dropped the ball in from the middle of the floor had much to do with the victory of his team.

And last, but not least, was the jumping center, Mr. Berreman. He outjumped, outshot and out dribbled his humble but fighting opponent, Mr. Long.

To pick the stars from the Married squad would be a job in itself, but it can be said they played good ball throughout, and if the game had lasted a few minutes longer they would have taken home the bacon. The Married Men who need mentioning are: Cloninger, Ginther, Long, Borthick, Fryer and Dunn.

Pacific University Beaten By O.N.S. in Practice Game

The Pacific university-Normal game Wednesday night in the high school gym was a real battle all the way through. The game was hard fought and except for a few personal fouls called on both sides, it was a game worth seeing. Pacific led at half time but the Wolves came back and clawed their opponents to shreds.

Ed Swartz brought the rans to their feet many times by his superior play ing. His alertness and his ability to drop the ball from any angle of the floor will go a long way to bring back victories for his team.

"Wienie" Schunk showed the fans that he could drop the ball through the loop. Wienie was just a bit taller than the P. U. center which enabled him to get the tip off nearly every time.

Ayers, the big lumbering guard, gave the fans many a thrill with his fighting spirit, and his basket shooting, to say nothing of the way he would steal the ball from his opponents.

Finley and Young the new men at school, showed up well and although they are new to school, they will make a big hit through their superior playing. Watkins is the fightingest man that ever put on a suit. Due to his long stay in California, he hasn't got his eye yet, but promises to be one of the big stars of the Normal squad.

The last few minutes of the game were filled with action. The O.N.S. boys were staging a comeback, after they had had the lead and lost it again. About five minutes before the game ended Pacific was leading by a small margin, but it did not end thus. The wonderful fighting spirit and the combined team work of the Normal squad helped the Wolves overcome the lead and in a few seconds had a large lead, which they kept until the final whistle.

Much can be said of the Pacific team. They fought hard throughout the game and it is hoped that Manager Phillips gets a return game with them. Mr. Wolfe's large squad of basketballers are looming up fast and it is hoped that many such victories will be brought to the Normal school.

The students turned out in mass for this game, the first of the season, and their wonderful spirit helped the team to a hard earned victory. If the students will only turn out for all the games and yell as was done Wednesday, Coach Wolfe will assure them of a winning team.

The lineup was as follows:
Pacific 36 Monmouth 46
Miller 14 F 4 Watkins
Mills 9 F 2 Young
Dreezen 10 C 15 Schunk
Charlton G 6 Ayers
Walker 2 G 17 Swartz
Substitutes: Pacific: Pollock.
Monmouth: Finley 2.

A rooster discovered an ostrich egg and rolled it into the hen house and said: "Now ladies, I do not want to embarrass you, but here's a sample of what other people are doing."

Junior Class Meeting

At the Junior Class meeting Thursday evening a stunt was given to arouse interest in the Junior costume party Wednesday evening. The stunt was given by Margaret Leitch, Lillian Small, Rosemarie Shild, Lucille Barker, Joe Wilson, Elmo Jensen, Alva Blackerby and Bert Hansen. They appeared in costumes which showed great variety in taste.

The treasurer urges new members as well as some of the old ones to pay their dues. If the class play is to be a success it will need financing.

Miss Johnson gave a resume of the play, "Robin Hood." Her choice has delighted all. Miss Johnson has confidence in the talents of the class and all must do their best.

Oratorical Tryouts Will Be Held in Chapel Tonight

Judges for the oratorical contest to be held Tuesday evening, January 15, at 7:30 o'clock will be Mrs. Beulah Thornton, Miss Edna Mingus and Miss Florence Johnson.

Lyle Thomas who won the local contest last year, is competing in the present contest, the winner of which will go to the state contest. Competition at the state contest is said to be very keen with ten schools represented.

Everyone is invited to the local contest which will be held in the Normal auditorium.

Work on debate is being carried on enthusiastically, although definite arrangements as to the debate schedule have not been completed.

Recent correspondence relative to meets has been carried on with Eugene Bible college and the Oregon State college women's team.

Junior Costume Party Set for Tomorrow Night

Juniors! George Washington, Cleopatra, Napoleon, Captain Kidd, Clara Bow, and Mutt and Jeff have all gladly consented to attend the Junior costume party in the O.N.S. gymnasium Wednesday evening from 6:30 to 8:30. So, Juniors, don your festive garb and come to an evening of fantasy and revel in the atmosphere of the ages.

Everyone look his smartest as prizes will be given for the best costumes.

Herald Office Installs New Folding Machine

No doubt Normal students will rejoice when they discover they will not any longer be compelled to laboriously struggle with an armful of books and an unfolded Lamron. Much of the congestion in the lower hall will be avoided as it is a much simpler and quicker matter to pick up a folded paper than an unfolded one.

Perhaps you will wonder how this has been brought about. The Monmouth Herald printing office, which prints the Lamron, has installed a folding machine this past week. The machine is about three feet high and four feet across and consists chiefly of rollers. The papers are fed by hand onto a row of tapes and are carried from one roller to another until the several folds have been accomplished. The machine will make five different folds though not more than two or three are ordinarily used.

It was purchased from a Seattle printing company who replace it with automatically fed machinery.
