Dr. Baxter Will Speak Tonight

Honorary Fraternities Hold Joint Banquet For Pledges

Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, president of Willamette University, is to be the speaker at the joint Phi Beta Sigma-Sigma Epsilon Pi-Theta Delta Phi banquet to be held this evening at the hotel. Dr. Baxter is much in demand as a speaker, so his acceptance was received with considerable enthusiasm.

The banquet tonight is to be the climax of the initiation of new members of the three organizations. Phi Beta Sigma is taking in 10 new members, Sigma Epsilon Pi 20, and Theta Delta Phi six.

The program includes a vocal solo by Virginia Layton, a neophyte of Phi Beta Sigma, and short welcome and acceptance speeches from all the organizations, according to Art Evanson, toastmaster.

Following the banquet there will be a formal dance in the Recreation Hall for members and their guests.

Tuberculin Tests for Students Offered Tuesday

Tuesday, February 15, at 4 p.m. the Oregon Normal school health service will make tuberculin tests for all students who are interested. Will all who expect to avail themselves of this opportunity please sign the list on the bulletin board in Campbell hall so we may know approximately how many are coming?

There is a state law in Oregon which requires a report of a recent tuberculin test in order to certify teachers.—The Health Service.

Class Basketball Series First Games

In spite of the fact that the fog and cold are not much inspiration for thought of class basketball, much interest is being centered this week on three scheduled games of the series. The series is made up of first, second and third teams of junior and senior classes.

As far as team strength goes—the teams are pretty well matched. This forces high rivalry of competition. (Continued on Page Four)

Council Announces Football Awards

Monday evening, January 24, the student council met in the student's room with Arnie Turnbull presiding.

A report was submitted by E. A. Stebbins on the grade eligibility of football players. There was some discussion on the question of whether to give one sweater for two seasons. There was a discussion of whether to charge the alumni for school formals and other school affairs, as is the custom on college campuses.

Names of the members of the football squad who have been approved for awards are: Glenn Peterson, Oregon City; Theodore Walberg, Foster; George Sullens, Haines; Dave Saleeby, Corvallis; Keneth Lunday, Boring; Jason Miller, St. Helens; Anthol Riney, Monmouth; Dave Howard, Wilark; Floyd McGlinn, St. Helens; Jim Ellingsworth, Nehalem; Harold Lewis, Boring; and Lloyd Lewis, Monmouth.

New Transportation Facilities Discussed

School Problems Aired At School Boards' Meet

Teachers' salaries in Oregon must go up if this state is to retain and improve its educational standard. That, in substance, is the conclusion of President J. A. Churchill as expressed to a meeting of representatives from nine Polk county school districts last Friday night. President Churchill pointed out that whereas the minimum salary in Oregon for teachers is $75 a month for eight months, Washington has a minimum of $100 a month for 12 months and California has an equally high minimum. The result, he said, is bound to be a skimming of the cream of the supply of teachers. Two other factors contribute to the scarcity of teachers, Mr. Churchill pointed out. They are the increase in standard requirements and the decrease in enrollment in state teachers' training schools.

Contributing to the thought of increase in teaching standards, Lester Wilcox, representing the state department of education, stated that there was a gradual abandonment of the one-room rural school in favor of consolidation. While he would not give an unequivocal support to the county unit system, he said that some type of consolidation was undoubtedly better than the isolated rural district school.

The development of the consolidated school system is placing additional emphasis on the problem of transportation, it was pointed out. On this point considerable discussion developed on the Oregon school bus ruling of the Public Utilities Commission, which makes obsolete three-fourths of the school buses now in use in the state. Among other things the ruling provides that all buses be of steel construction and with seats facing the front. The ruling was supposed to go into effect last fall, but so much opposition developed that a postponement was ordered. Willis West, attorney for the Public Utilities Commission, said that it was not the purpose of the commission to work a hardship on the school system and that, consistent with the safety of the children, every effort would be made to work in harmony with the local boards.

President Churchill suggested a three year moratorium for districts unable to finance new busses at once. He pointed to the possibility of establishing a sinking fund to cover the financing of new transportation units and still remain within limits proscribed by the six per cent limitation law.

Mr. Wilcox seconded the president's suggestion by pointing out that there have been no fatal accidents in the state resulting from inadequate equipment.

An idea of the refinancing that would be necessary can be gained from the figures by M. R. Thompson, principal of the Monmouth high school, indicating that in Klamath county alone over $80,000 would have to be invested in new busses. According to Mr. Churchill the local district would be forced to expend between $5,500 and $6,000.

While the discussion of the bus law occupied much of the evening, a number of other problems relating to education in Polk county were discussed, among which were the following: M. R. Thompson spoke on the "A" and "B" league and the athletic tournament. Josiah Wills, Polk county school superintendent, spoke on problems of non-high school districts and district schools.

Senior Dance To Help Norm Fund

Floor Show, Door Prizes Added Features for Saturday Fun

At nine o'clock next Saturday evening immediately after the song contest, the senior boat will leave the dock laden with passengers for an evening of dancing.

All profits above expenses, which will be kept at a minimum, will go toward the Norm fund. Admission of 10 cents per person or 15 cents per couple will be charged.

A floor show, guaranteed to interest and entertain everyone present will be the main feature of the dance. Arne Jensen will be on the program.

Door prizes will be given and only ticket holders may have a chance at the prize. Only a limited number of tickets are available. These may be purchased from members of the senior dance committee: Clifford Rick, chairman, Bette Wilson, Hugh Hassell, Bette Prick, Earl Cooper, Loyal Cody, Wendal Walden, Helen Malcolm, Keneth Lunday, Helen Fisher and Irvine Branch.

The senior slogan in response to the junior dance is "Get on the Boat" — "Anchors Aweigh."

A. W. S. Candy Sales Increase Room Fund

Associated Women Students have launched a candy sale commissary which opened Monday, January 31, and will continue for the remainder of the term and possibly a part of the following term.

It is to be held in Campbell hall for the first week from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and later in the student room, which is to be furnished with the proceeds of the sale.

The very best selections of candy bars have been made, and a popular patronage is expected.

Proceeds from the Associated Women Students candy counter in Campbell Hall will go to the student room fund. Members of the A.W.S. will tend this booth every day.

The greater the sales of candy, the sooner will the fund become large enough to begin purchasing furniture.

This is the second event sponsored by the A.W.S., the first being the popcorn sale last fall with which the girls cleared a good profit.

Theta Delta Phi also has been working with good results on this fund for the student room.

Dr. Jensen's Work To Be Published

Dr. A. S. Jensen has written a new book on Child Psychology which he expects will be published sometime next spring. He has signed a contract with Prentiss Hall publishing company in New York. It was written as a result of a serious attempt to produce a teachable text in child psychology without sacrificing scientific accuracy. It has been the author's aim to collect, evaluate, and organize the most useful and reliable material and to place it before the student in simple terms.

The term "Child Psychology" is assumed to cover the period of the child's life before adolescence.

Smoker Draws Names Of Many Contestants

Class Athletes Prepare To Prove Supremacy

The seniors are holding a hot stone as the result of a challenge hurled by the juniors stating they could, physically, whip any senior on the campus. The seniors lost no time accepting the offer and named a "smoker" as the means of determining their fistic ability. The date for the execution has not been set, but, nevertheless, with a hot stone in one hand and a glittering ax in another, the seniors are waiting for juniors braves to stick their heads around the corner.

When the juniors fully realized they had bitten off a hunk too great to swallow, they went into a huddle and summoned a list of their best sluggers and grapplers to protect their claim. Some of these are: Sullens, Welhardt, Hogan, Salvador, Grafton, Roth and Hassel.

An incomplete list of the experienced senior mitt-slingers and matmen are: Lewis Bronkey, Jensen, Bartholomew, Brandon, Kirkland. Wow! There's lead in those gloves! The boys are working very hard to get in shape.

Those who have witnessed past "smokers" can recall the huge crowd and the thrills and excitement they derived from our Oregon Normal strong men. All one has to do is watch the bulletin boards. It won't be long now!

Stirring Speech Given By Jeff Marsh at Student Body Meet

By Gene Langley

"If this school has the kind of sand that it takes to put a good annual in the hands of each and every annual-wanting student, I will personally devote all my spare time to this end," said Jeff Marsh in a speech to the associated students on Monday night, January 31.

The lack of school spirit and the slow response to the selling of the Norm, or much wanted year book, was brought before the associated

So far only 152 Norms have been sold and the remaining 148 must be sold in order to get President J. A. Churchill's O.K.

The last 100 are the hardest to sell and will take plenty of hard work, but "IT CAN BE DONE," and will be done with the cooperation of each and every student in this Oregon Normal.

There were 42 students who stayed after the student body meeting and formed a group of enthusiastic Norm salesmen. Girls as well as boys stayed and declared that it "could be done."

A Norm costs around $1,300. This takes in $70 for individual pictures, $650 for printing, $450 for engraving, $50 for traveling expenses for the ones going after adds, and $75 for incidentals. This is the cheapest for which a good annual can be purchased. And we do want a good annual!

There were eight senior salesmen and four junior salesmen before the meeting was held. Now we have 42 salesmen who are going to put the Norm over.

There will be no excuses about not having time to hear from home. Ron Foos, local radio ham, will radio your message free of charge to your home town in order that each one will be able to receive his $1.50 in time to meet the deadline.

Did you students know that Jessica Todd had a population of 97 girls who have bought less Norms than any other hall or organization on the campus. All right girls, let's make the hall 100 per cent.

The students who have bought Norms will wear red and grey ribbons and if you haven't your ribbon yet, please see Jeff Marsh, Ruth Young or Bill Smith at once.

At this time I would like to inform you that we will have two or three extra days in order to put this drive over. So, let's each and every one buy a Norm and not just be a "yes" man who agrees but does not act.

In later years much benefit and pleasure may be obtained from looking over your Norm and recalling the many happy days spent in college.

The faculty has done more than the students in trying to get the Norm. Out of 72 faculty members, over 50 Norms have been purchased by them. Approximately one-fourth of the students have bought Norms. DO YOU WANT A NORM?

Juniors and Seniors Sing Saturday Night

The Normal Sing originated last year. This contest was begun with the hope of being a tradition at Oregon Normal. Each class composes and presents a song which is to be judged on the basis of words, music, and presentation.

Last year's numbers were the Wolf Song, and Fight Team! Fight!, the former being the winner.

The date for this year's Normal Sing is February 5, at eight P.M., in the Oregon Normal school auditorium. Be sure to be there!

Our Fast Faculty

By the thermometer in Campbell hall it is clearly evident that the faculty subscription sales are creeping ahead of both seniors and the juniors. Perhaps nothing should be said about the junior class; they feel badly enough every time they pass the thermometers. A good many of them may be seen using the back door lately so that they won't have to face the facts so often.

But because the faculty section has been cheering at their good start we wonder whether they will reach the goal in a short time or if it will again be the story of the "Hare and the Tortoise?"

Senior salesmen certainly are on the job and doing a fine bit of work, not because they have outsold the juniors but because their sales are growing daily and may soon rise above the "hot" mark on the faculty thermometer.

As has been said before: "actions speak louder than words," so the mercurial action will denote more than these few words can ever hope to accomplish. So, with all eyes (juniors' included) on the rising mercury, let's watch things get hot!

Local Talent Available

We have heard it expressed from several students that the student body would greatly appreciate a faculty-talent program. As you undoubtedly know, our faculty members are talented — otherwise how could they be on the Oregon Normal staff? These talents are very diversified and sometimes very much hidden to the general public, yes, even to the general student body. If a greater part of the student body had noses for news, these capabilities would not have remained hidden as long as they have. But because a few student body members have ferreted out this interesting information, they plan to spread it around until the entire student body hounds the faculty for a wholly faculty-talent program.

Teachers, may be assured of a good turnout for this program which we hope appears in the not-too-distant future, for, after all, we are all companions working together on this world and we all enjoy some fun mixed in with our work.

It wouldn't be hard to name the parts different teachers may take in this entertainment and we know the name of at least one member who would willingly work to organize and help produce an evening of entertainment.

So, why not get together on this idea and back it 100 per cent as you have nearly done with your part of the Norm drive? This excellent piece of work shows that you are working with the students. Now they are asking you to join in the fun and make everyone happy.

Alumni

Wilford Long has accepted a fifth grade position at the Hill Military Academy in Portland.

Margaret Gilstrap has signed a contract at Barlow, near Canby. She has the upper grades and is also principal.

Sally Smith, a December graduate, is at the North Beaver school in Lincoln county. This is a one-room school near her home.

Bob Cody, '37, was elected to a position as principal of the Hubbard school the first of the year. He is also assistant coach and teaches tap dancing at Hubbard high school. He has a basketball team of his own and he says "they win every game they play."

Helen Hall, '36, resigned her position at Vernonia the first of the year to attend the Western Washington College of Education at Bellingham.

Grace White, '34, transferred from a primary position in Vernonia to a position in the St. Helen's schools, the first of the year.

Anona Hodgen of Milton-Freewater, a graduate of '28, is back with us again after teaching in Oregon, Montana and the Hawaiian Islands.

Knowest Thou This?

That the big rock that reposes so silently on the lawn in front of Campbell hall was placed there by the graduating class of 1905, and that it is known as the senior rock? And that ill fortune rapidly overtook the daring junior who would dare sit upon said rock? Perhaps you have noticed the lack of pebbles of any size around your community. The class of 1905 overcame this scarcity by hiring a team and going far out into the country until they came upon this rock, which is of glacial formation and is an oddity to this part of the country. Mayhaps there are some of you who haven't noticed this remembrance? Examine it sometime; it's interesting!

And then, as the years passed, each class graduating from this noble institution, left some remembrance for the succeeding graduating classes to gaze at in wonder. Eventually another graduating class placed the "senior bench" on the lawn in front of the library. Any junior who dares to recline upon this sacred bench will find, much to his sorrow, that he is breaking one of the established traditions of the Oregon Normal school.

And, speaking of traditions, didst thou know that for years the May Day fete was one of the most important events of the year and was a day when all the alumni and the townspeople gathered on the campus for a gala celebration? This was a day of dancing, athletic events, and numerous other contests whereby the juniors and seniors settled all doubts as to which class should be the ruling spirit of this institution. There were maypole dances on the campus, a May Queen was elected and crowned, a pageant was held — in fact, two days were set aside to allow the students to give vent to their enthusiasm and to forget, for a time at least, this trivial matter of examinations that is just a mere incidental in the life of a student.

This program had a very simple beginning with the two classes gathering on a certain day to improve the appearance of the campus. Each class brought lunches and had an enjoyable time working together for a common cause. Then, as each year passed by, this program became more elaborate and enlarged until two days were required.

But, alas, this fine old tradition began to waver and in the last two years has been allowed to fade completely away. Now, hear ye, we are (we hope) a lively and progressive group of students and should be able to again bring this May fete to the front. If everyone would cooperate and show enough enthusiasm to warrant our having this gala day, we are certain that the members of the faculty would cooperate with us to reestablish this ancient custom.

The juniors and seniors have been flippantly passing challenges back and forth, and we think that this would indeed be something worth while to enter into and would remove all doubt as to which class could do most for the school as a whole. Or, since the esteemed upper classmen are very busy practicing teaching and would not have too much time to devote to a program of this kind, the juniors, with the help of the seniors who could donate some time, could sponsor this day.

Miss Hodgen plans to teach in Alaska next fall, which requires three years of work instead of the ordinary two.

Perhaps the many societies and organizations would construct floats, a band could be secured, and a parade that would live long in the memories of all who beheld it, could be given. In fact, there are many possibilities that give food for thought.

And in the matter of electing a May Queen, funds to help with the publication of the Norm could be raised. An election of candidates for May Queen could be held and votes sold at a very small price with the proceeds being turned over to the Norm fund.

What boy wouldn't like to be "king for a day" — perhaps there'd be no "slimp," son, but some lucky lad could rule for a day or two at least without having to abdicate.

Mayhaps some of you are thinking that it's a bit early to broach the subject of a May fete? Wouldst thou remember that in a few short weeks the spring term will be upon us, and that it isn't long from then till the merrie month of May? And that, if a program is to be worked out, some time will be required to organize such a move properly? Think it over. I'll be seeing you!

Engagement and Wedding Told

Little did anyone realize that when he saw Bertha Grosebeck and Art Evanson strolling around the campus, that someday it would really come to something.

Last November the two became engaged. Although Art is still attending school, Bertha is busy teaching school.

They plan to be married sometime in late summer.

Another surprise for many Normal School students was the marriage of Ernie Huber and Hester Howard. They were married November 18.

West House Will Dance

Meeting early last week the Tau Kappa group's president, Wayne Adams, appointed Linden Lunday and Kenneth Bach as dance committee with the result that a dessert dance will be held February 9. Members will bring ladies from any house to glide about the living room and dining room to the strains of the Wurlitzer. The customary ice cream and cake will be served.

Todd Hall Holds Faculty Dinner

Every term the girls of Jessica Todd Hall give a dinner in honor of the faculty members. The formal event this year took place Wednesday, January 26 at six o'clock with more faculty members present than usual. All were so busy talking before six that hardly anyone heard the announcement for dinner. Gumdrops decorations and candle favors for place-cards and souvenirs, made the tables attractive. During the dinner the girls sang songs, in which the faculty members joined. Coffee was served in the music room where a delightful surprise awaited. Indian girls from the Chemawa Indian School sang songs and did an Indian swan dance. Each girl wore her tribal dress. After a bit more conversation, teachers and students said goodnight, and 'quiet' once more reigned in the dorm.

Bishop Honored At Dinner

A visit from Bishop Benjamin Dagwell was the occasion for a delightful no-host dinner at the Monmouth hotel last Tuesday evening. The guests numbered 38 in all, many of whom were students of the Oregon Normal School and faculty. The Rev. D. Vincent Gray of Corvallis, introduced Bishop Dagwell.

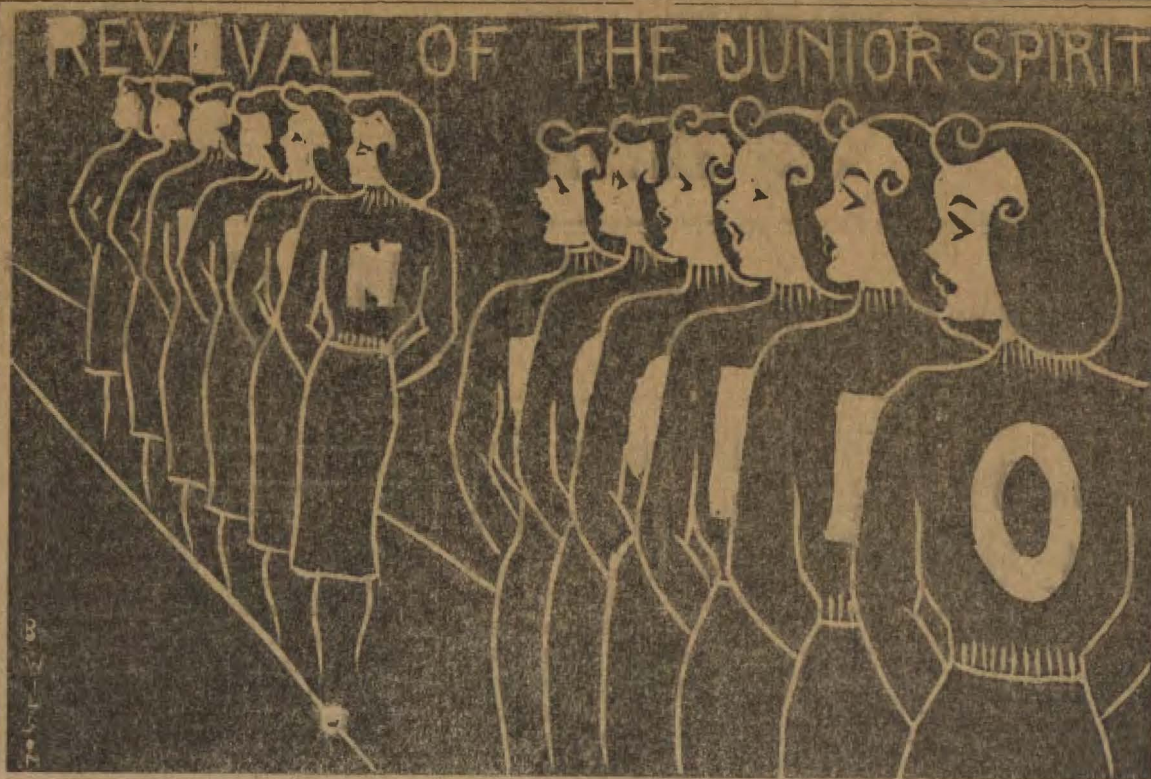

Professor Group Plans Meeting

The Monmouth chapter of the American Association of University Professors will have a dinner on February 8 at Jessica Todd Hall. The guest speaker of the evening will be Dr. M. Elwood Smith, dean of the lower division of the Oregon State System of Higher Education. Dr. Smith's topic will be: "What Every Teacher Should Know."

India Topic of Internationals

An interesting discussion of the peoples and customs of India was presented to the International club Wednesday, January 26. Miss Muriel Jones, an O.N.S. senior who was born in India and spent much of her childhood there, was speaker. Miss Jones illustrated her talk with a number of art and adornment worn by the natives. Of particular interest was an explanation of the cast system and of its effect on the social order. The speaker expressed it as her belief that, while a definite start had been made toward breaking down cast barriers, it would still take many years to make any perceptible showing. Mahatma Gandhi has lost some of his popularity, she believes, by sponsoring the cause of the untouchables.

Previous to the lecture the society elected Harley Morris, vice-president to fill the unexpired term of Frances Deltrich, who did not return to school this term. President Art Evanson was in charge of the meeting.

CAMPUS MINSTREL

Sweet greeting, folks, come gather round and hear our little lay. We'll serve up—a la thumb nail sketch—the happenings of the day.

An interesting assembly. This guy Riley knew his stuff. Seems back in the old days their courtship kind of tough.

The hoopsters battled with the SONS and called it even—seven—then took the Packards for a bout—won by a big decision.

Yep, folks, we're going to have a Norm, to help us recollect the lad or lass we fall for and classes we neglect. It may take a little hustling by the chap who sells the ads, and perhaps we'll have to write back home and get some checks from dads, but in years to come we'll thumb it through and gaze in admiration at the kid Mrs. Beulah Thornton gave an "A" in composition.

Now that entrance tests are over, the instructors go in session to try to find a way to end mentality depression.

Miss Muriel Jones, of Indian ways, showed customs rural and urban; should see Art Evanson adorned in yellow coat and turban.

A club of those who can't agree is Mr. Kerr's ambition. Worst of it is they argue 'til they can't make a decision.

Well, adieu, folks, times a-wastin'. Hope you like our little verse. Watch out for our next convulsion—this is bad—it will be worse.

SONS Guests At Social Hour

The boys of the Southern Oregon Normal school basketball squad were guests of the Associated Students at the regular social hour on Saturday, January 22, following the game.

Appropriate decorations, consisting of large "welcome" banners and black-and-white drawings of basketball players, life-size, drew the attention of the dancers.

Music was furnished by the Wurlitzer, and the good selection of numbers was much enjoyed by the large crowd of students and guests.

Gene Langley, master of ceremonies, introduced members of the Sons team, each of whom spoke briefly. Many former students were also present at this dance.

Elect New Members

The Collecto-Coed club, a group of senior and junior women who promote interest in athletics and in student activities, held their election of new members at the last regular meeting. New members include: June Ogden, Portland; Martha Ann Blair, Monmouth; and Esther Bracken, Monmouth. Informal initiation of these members was held January 31 with a joint committee of Dorothy Burch, Pat Young, Helen Brandon and Verna Mae Garish handling the initiation. Formal initiation will be held February 6. Helen Brandon and Dorothy Burch will be in charge.

ONS Faculty Attend Opera

The Salzburg Opera Company presented a very fine opera, "Così Fan Tutte" by Mozart in Portland, January 18. Those hearing the opera commented on the well trained voices of the youthful singers. Some of the music lovers of our faculty attended, namely: Mrs. Florence Hutchinson, Miss Emma Henkle, Miss Anne O'Neill, Miss Leonard, Miss Gallagher, Miss Hilda Swenson, Mrs. Beulah Thornton, Miss Blanche Duguid and Miss Gill.

COMING EVENTS ARE LISTED

Staff and Key Name Pledges

At the last meeting, January 18, the following pledges were elected into the club: Dorothy Brown, Portland; Barbara Scott, Beaverton; Mildred Ostland, St. Helens; Esther Bracken, Monmouth; Bessie Christensen, Empire; Karen Duntun, Woodburn; Helen Malcolm, Portland. Informal initiation was held Tuesday, February 1.

Plans are being made for a winter formal, to be held February 19, under the sponsorship of Staff and Key.

SMILING, COURTEOUS SERVICE

Well, I've got orchids on my mind and I won't be able to sleep until I get them off my chest. No, it's not what you think—they're not for the wife. They are to you Students of O.N.S. with a card which reads, "A bouquet of orchids for the students of Oregon Normal school at Monmouth. Their hospitality and good sportsmanship stunned our athletes. As far as the Humboldt State college basketball team is concerned, O.N.S. players and students are the best in the west by test." The above is from the Humboldt Lumberjack, weekly school paper.

I know of nothing better than this to boost our school and in the future let's try to impress other visiting teams the same way.

Now—to get down to a few facts and figures. The following percentages were taken as results from the first 10 basketball games.

Percentage in Making
Field Goals	Free Throws
Hogen	.428	.000
Miller	.371	.666
Mohler	.363	.625
D. Gronquist	.360	.587
Peterson	.356	.750
Baughman	.309	.587
Lewis	.264	.545
B. Gronquist	.000	.500

At this writing we have lost only two ball games and that is good percentage in anybody's league. Stanford with her high-scoring Hank, Lulsetti has lost only two games so far this year and they are considered tops in basketball. Not that we can boast of any Hanks, in our lineup, but we still have our cue-ball row and that's something lots of teams can't claim.

It would be worth your time to come over and watch the intramural basketball games the men are playing now. The teams are evenly matched and play every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4 p.m.

Linfield has really taken it on the chin this basketball season. Two weeks ago when we played them, they were minus two of their regulars and I have been informed that both men will be lost to the Wildcats the remainder of the season. Monk Walton, high-scoring Linfield guard, may even have to have a serious leg operation, due to an infection he received before Christmas.

Our player for the week goes to Jake, Jason, Miller, Wolves' forward. Big Jake hails from St. Helens and stands out on the team as being one of the most consistent players. Miller with an average of .371 in dunking field goals and .666 in foul attempts, plays a bang up offensive game and is a hard man to shake loose when he is guarding you. Big Jake is what we call a tournament player. By this we mean that when we really need points, Jake can go out and get them.

It seems a shame to lose out on all the good traveling teams such as the Jessie Owens' All Stars, the House of David and the Red Heads, an all girls team. But the A.A.U. is so strict about colleges playing these teams that most schools pass them up.

Did you notice the drawings in the old gym the other night when the Sons were invited to the social hour? I'm speaking of the two basketball players that some had drawn on the white pair, very nice I'd say.

The Bellingham five used something this year that no other team has used against us. Did you notice that they used two separate teams in the first half, trying to wear our boys down? That is good basketball but Coach Cox had too many good subs for them and as a result the Washington boys ran themselves ragged.

Have you ever wondered why Oregon State football men do not have sprained ankles? Anyway here would be something that might be in their favor. Last fall they used enough tape that if it was put end to end it would reach eight and a half miles long and be one and a half inches wide. That's tape in anyone's language.

Did you read the scores of the O.S.C.-Idaho series. O.S.C. took it on the chin the first night 49 to 26 and the next evening 29 to 26. Looks as if Slats will have to change his zone defense.

Wolves and SONS Split Two Game Series

It seems that our basketball boys play for "keeps" when they engage an opponent for an evening of basketball tossing. At any rate, the Wolves have won eight games while losing only two, one to Humboldt and one to the Sons. The games with Humboldt and the Sons were very hand-fought and exciting—or did you see them. Methinks that the boys should be complimented on their excellent showing of good sportsmanship and teamwork, for, after all, that is the main idea of these contests.

Have you noticed that there has not been a great rush for the exits between halves of the games? Wonder if the excellent displays and maneuvers of the "fifteen rahs" could be the reason that most of us remain in our seats? Many of the staid citizens of our fair village are remarking about the sudden awakening of spirit of the students at the games. Methinks that these "fifteen rahs" and our two lively yell leaders deserve all the support and backing that we, as students, can give them as they are really the cause of the "re-awakening."

Wonder if the male members of our student body could organize a drill team to assist during halves? Surely, we men wouldn't allow the girls to do all the work of keeping that "old fighting spirit" flaming, would we? Or would we? Maybe we could hold an A.M.S. meeting sometime and talk things over?

It has been suggested that "charity begins at home" in this manner of providing entertainment for our student assemblies. A program that could be amusing and of interest to the students could be worked out by the members of our faculty. We are certain that the students would appreciate an opportunity to be observers once instead of being observed. We are positive that many members of our esteemed faculty have divergent talents and could produce a very fine program. It is rumored that Al Cox has had piano lessons, and no doubt other members could work out a supporting program. What say you?

It is quite evident that the seniors are taking this matter of putting the Norm across very seriously. At any rate their thermometer is gradually creeping up to the top. What say, juniors, here is a chance to do something for the good of the school instead of for your own individual needs. Isn't there a passage in a book someplace that says something about "united we stand; divided we take a spill!"

Our social hours are turning out to be really "social hours." The last two Saturday nights we are sure that the boys from Humboldt and Ashland had a very enjoyable time. Did you notice how the members of our Pep club saw to it that our guests had many partners for the different numbers. Is there a book by the name of "Greener Pastures?" No fooling, girls, you are doing an excellent job of things. More power to you!

Ah, a mystery! How did one of our sports reporters disappear so quickly and completely in McMinnville the night of the Wildcat-Wolf game? How many miles is it as the crow (doesn't) fly, Dean?

It has been asked, "what has happened to the associated men students? Aren't they going to organize this year?" Methinks that now is the time for good men to come to the aid of their party. Just a thought—united boosters can lick united knackers!

What does the president of the student body stand for? Because he does not wish to sit down.—Billings Burps.

Bellingham Five Take Trouncing

The Wolves drubbed the Western Washington College of Education of Bellingham, Washington, Saturday night by a score of 51 to 36. The game was played on the O.N.S. court.

Peterson of the Wolf squad starred in the feat of hooking the first field goal of the game, but the Vikings, under the leadership of Nelson and Moses had plenty of life and took an early lead of 9 to 6. The Wolves then tightened up in a hurry and with the help of Baughman, tied the score at 10-all. The Vikings were then replaced by a "brand new" squad fresh and "arin' to go," but Hogen, flashy Wolf forward immediately scored a field goal, starting a lead for his team. With the first half coming to a close Peterson, playing a smart brand of ball, Mohler and Hogen all helped to keep the Wolves in the lead. The half-time score was 22 to 17.

At the start of the second canto the quintet from Bellingham, led by Moses, started running over the Wolves. Three field goals were quickly added to their score, all made by Nelson. The Wolves, with a one-point lead settled down and a barrage of short shots, long shots, and fouls followed. Baughman and Mohler ran the score up considerable. Coach Cox put a different squad, consisting of Miller, Piert, Riney, Lewis, and Davis in the game and each scored one or more points before the end of the contest.

Mohler and Baughman hooked 12 points each. Peterson and Hogen made nine and six points, respectively. The lineups:

Linfield No Match for Wolves

With the fighting spirit of the Wolves going full blast against the Wildcats of Linfield college last Wednesday the Normal team won a one-sided affair by the score of 43 to 27. At the first blast of the whistle the casaba tossers from O.N.S. started potting field goals. Mohler and Gronquist did most of the shooting while Miller and Peterson starred by feeding the ball to Baughman along with the other two flashy hoopers.

Without their sparkplug, Walton, Linfield was almost helpless during the entire contest as the boys of that school were off their shooting. Purcell was the only Wildcat who could hit the hoop and he led his teammates with 10 points.

Taking 17 players with him, Al Cox used them all to advantage. The starting lineups:

Oregon Normal 43		27 Linfield
Mohler 10		10 Percell
Hogen		8 Stranz
Baughman 5		Anderson
D. Gronquist 10		5 Morris
Peterson 4		2 Robins
Subs: O.N.S., Piert 4, Huston 2, Miller 3, Ellingsworth 2, Davis 2, B. Gronquist 1; Linfield: F. Coade 2.

WOLFERETT YOWLS

By Mary Fossatti

More than 50 students are registered in the tapping class under the direction of Miss Jane Potter. This is the largest class ever registered in this particular area—even boys are enrolled. New routines and original ideas keep the whole class bubbling with enthusiasm and interest.

Next Monday evening, February 7, marks the opening of the house volleyball tournament. If as much enthusiasm and rivalry is shown here as in last fall's house basketball—sport spectators have much to look forward to. Twelve houses make up the house league, and each is just as strong as the other. It is remembered that all house team members look on the bulletin board for the scheduled practices.

It has a sort of mysterious name and it seems also to vary—I mean this business of school spirit, support or good old fashioned rah rah! To most students the meaning is rather puzzling—why it is thus, is not known. First, they get all pepped up about the debut of a new sport. They pledge support. Oh, no, of course they would not miss a game—no! Finally the support, which was promised, begins to slacken. Four, five, or even six games are played; interesting games too, but before very long the crowd diminishes. I'll not be pessimistic, but I will say this has been the general rule. At this time of the year, basketball is at its peak. Let's keep our spirits high and support our teams, whether it's womens interscholastic or varsity competition, they need it!

It has been suggested for those who desire to sit around and spend a nice, quiet, enjoyable evening, to concentrate on the manly sport of bridge. This is only a suggestion as a means of meeting the sporting desires of all students.

W.A.A. held a very interesting meeting last Thursday evening in recreation hall. Among the things discussed were the awarding of points for the fall term and an initiation party to be held some time next week. The entire point tabulation has not yet been completed, but was expected. The final plans for the initiation party are in the hands of Mary Ellen Mitchell, chairman, and Mary Fossatti, Maria Raz, Hilda Speas, and Frances Farley. Depending upon the transportation problem, the party will be either a swimming party at Oregon State college or a costume party in the gymnasium. The announcement of the decision will be made the latter part of this week—watch the bulletin board for it.

At the dawn of each term new girls are always seen around the campus. It is for them that this little article is written concerning the activities of W.A.A. This association for women is a large organization and is purely recreational. This year it is headed by Nancy Kistler, who is very interested in sports and has done much to promote its many activities.

The requirements for belonging to the association are 50 points secured through various sports. This year the association is the largest it has even been and many are due for their sweaters this spring.

Activities for which points may be earned are house basketball, hiking, class basketball, house volleyball, class volleyball, tennis, La Danza, handball, and baseball.

CLASS BASKETBALL

This year the series will be played off by the double elimination method. In this way chances for championship are more evenly distributed.

You juniors and seniors—come out and support your team. Remember, the junior-senior challenge is still on!

The first game scheduled is between the junior first team and the senior first team.

Wolves Win First Game 48-40 Lose Second with 32-34 Score

The Oregon Normal School Wolves took the first encounter of the "little civil war" from the Southern Oregon Normal flye by a 48 to 40 count here January 21.

Due to the clever dribbling of Dick Gronquist, who garnered 13 points along with "Moose" Mohler's seldom-miss shots which netted him 19 points, the Wolves were hard to stop.

The game was fast but very rough and as a result the Sons lost two men by the foul route and the Wolves lost three.

The Wolves started out with blood in their eyes and ran up a 12 to 3 score in the opening minutes of the game. But several long shots by Scroggins and Leavins of the Sons brought the score up to 25 to 20 at the half way mark.

The second half was just a repetition of the first. "Moose" Mohler and Gronquist went to work and as a result the score ended up 48 to 40.

Baughman, rangy O.N.S. center, played a steady game at the pivot post and took more than his share of the backboards. Little Tommy Hansen ex-all-state high school basketball player from Franklin high in Portland was one of the fastest men on the floor and scored 11 points. But 18-year old Sether was high-point man for the Sons, with 13 counters, 11 of these coming in the last half of the game.

Hogen, sub guard for the Wolves, showed some promise of being a great help to his team with a little more experience. The summaries:

Angels Win From Wolves

After being beaten earlier in the season by the Oregon Normal basketball squad, the Mount Angel college quint invaded the territory of the charging Wolves and upset them on their own court last night by a margin of five points.

The Wolves, sure of themselves, took a running lead at the beginning of the game. Gronquist scored a field goal in the first 30 seconds, and a little later scored another. Baughman then completed a free throw making the score five to nothing in their favor. The Mount Angel quint, slow in starting, came up in a hurry. Haenor tossed in a field goal and a gift shot, and Burrel made another two points, tying the score. Christenson pulled the Angels in the lead by scoring two points. This worried the Wolves and Mohler managed to slip one in to make it seven-all. The Wolves were decidedly "off" the rest of the evening, and the Angels got all the "luck" from then on. Led by Burrel, Nolan and Christenson, the Angels kept surging ahead and ran circles around the Wolves. Half-time score was Mount Angel 22, O.N.S. 11.

In the last canto the Wolves were desperate in their attempt to rally. Coach Cox tried several combinations and finally Lewis, Riney, Mohler, Baughman and Gronquist were in there fighting to gain a hold. Mohler, Peterson and Gronquist all scored a few points but the Angels were too far in the lead and the game ended 40 to 35 for them.

Gronquist was high point man for the Wolves with 11. Burrel and Nolan shared honors for the Angels with 12 each. The lineups:

The Southern Oregon Normal school basketball team won the second game of the "little civil war" from the Wolves January 22 by a 34 to 32 score.

The second game saw some of the best defensive playing that the two teams could muster up. Howard Scroggins, Sons, guard, was the outstanding man of the evening on defense, holding the usual high scoring Dick Gronquist to three field goals and two free throws.

The game started off as if Southern Oregon Normal would win in a walk. The Sons' stubborn defense held the Wolves without a field goal for the first 17 minutes of play. But Peterson broke through at this point for a cripple and Mohler sank two turn shots in quick succession to bring the score to 14 to 17 at the half time in favor of the Sons.

With this new spurt of life, the Wolves came back in the second half to dunk three field goals in a row while the Sons were collecting one foul shot. The Wolves took their first, and last, lead of the ball game at this point by a 20 to 18 score. Leavens, pivot man for the Sons, then tied the score with a beautiful howitzer from mid-floor. Kennitzer, Son guard, made good two follow-up shots in quick succession to give the southerners a 24 to 20 lead.

From there it was Tommy Hansen that picked up a couple of set-ups, aided by Leavins' three foul shots, that really put the game on ice for the visitors.

The Wolves, trailing 34 to 23, made a final bid but fell short by just two points. Coach Cox's crew showed the Sons that stalling against them was not a good idea. The Wolves collected nine points in the final four minutes of play while the Sons scored two free throws and it was the gun that really stopped the Wolves from winning the game.

Mohler again was high point man for the evening with 12 markers. Hansen led the Ashlanders with 10 points. The summaries:

Packards Lose In Last Half

The Oregon Normal basketball team defeated the Pacific Packards, of the Portland American league, 42 to 22 in a game played in the local gymnasium last Tuesday evening.

The game, played before a small but enthusiastic crowd, was of interest especially because the Portland team featured a former O.N.S. star, John Sellwood, along with several other recent college stars.

Baughman was high point man for the evening with 15 counters. Mohler crowded him with 13. Helser, for the Packards was high with 8 scores.
