HOMECOMING INVITES!

Modern Education Discussed

Erb and Heffernan
Talk Before Teachers

"Make your schoolroom a miniature democracy. Apply the old theory of democracy; all for each, and each for all. If you forget all else that I say, take this idea away with you." There were the words of Miss Helen Heffernan, addressing the meeting of approximately 1,200 teachers from Clackamas, Marion and Polk counties, on the campus last Friday.

Miss Heffernan was the chief speaker at the meeting. Her topic was "The Spirit of Youth," a subject of vital importance to all students as well as to teachers. Miss Heffernan stressed the importance of furthering the child's spirit of curiosity and idealism. She also stressed the responsibility of maintaining correct means of teaching the child. The problems created by the differences between the home and the school were also discussed.

Other speakers were Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the University of Oregon; Rex Putnam, Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Miss Birdine Merrill, president of the Oregon State Teachers Association. Dr. Erb pointed out and discussed the assumptions made by the academicians regarding the relations between education and democracy. Rex Putnam presented the problems confronting the state department of education, namely; health certificates for teachers, new teachers registers, the courses of study appearing late, and the importance of educators knowing where education should fit into the present day world. Miss Merrill stressed the importance of teaching as a profession and also brought greetings to the group from O.S.T.A.

These addresses constituted the major program, but several other activities filled the day. The training schools at Independence, Rickreall and Monmouth were open, and large numbers of teachers inspected them after both series of addresses.

Future Teachers Extend Welcome

The Future Teachers of America is one of the newer organizations on the OCE campus. At present the membership consists of 11 students, who were selected on the basis of scholarship, character, personality and interest in the teaching profession.

We welcome you to the annual homecoming week end. We shall endeavor to make it a happy one for you.

Wilfred L. Husband

Colored Motion Pictures Thurs.

What could be more timely and more significant than a lecture on how to make Democracy succeed? What could do more to renew one's faith in a democracy and its ability to stay out of war; what could be more inspiring, educational, as well as stimulating than a concrete example of a modern democracy? Wilfred Laurier Husband, noted American lecturer on Scandinavian and European affairs, is well qualified to give a lecture on how such a democracy is achieved in Finland and the other Scandinavian countries.

Did you know that Finland has been able not only to cut down her unemployment from 25 per cent of her population to one per cent, but also has been able to pay her war debts, keep down living costs, and reduce class distinctions Denmark and Sweden, too, have made equally important advances in their attainment toward a perfect Democracy; and not one of the least of their accomplishments has been an active stand against Nazi Germany.

This and even more interesting information will be divulged by Mr. Husband who will, in addition, give a crystal-clear conception of what a country and its people are like and how their social-economic progress has been achieved. Not only will Mr. Husband lecture on this timely subject, but also his lecture will be accompanied by colored motion pictures which are breath-taking in their reality.

Do not miss Wilfred Laurier Husband's "North of the Wars," which will be given in the Oregon College of Education auditorium in Campbell hall Thursday, November 9, at 8:00 p.m. Admission is free on presentation of a student body ticket; otherwise it will be a nominal fee of 25 cents.

The placement office announces a meeting of all December graduates on Monday, November 6, at 4:15 in room 116, administration building. All those interested, please attend.

Council Elects Commissioners

A commission form of student government was adopted Tuesday night by the student council at their regular meeting. Ten commissioners were selected from among the council members to work with and help integrate the various types of school activities. This is an entirely new idea for student government at OCE. This type of organization will make it possible for the student council to have more direct contact with student activities.

The commissioners selected for the various activities are as follows: Athletics, Edith Swenson and Glen Anderson; social, Virginia Craven; entertainment, Byron Adams; publications, Bob Cole; finances, (executive committee) Harvey Williams, Dexter McCarty, Jean Appleberry; clubs, Bud Tuthill; publicity, Betty Doris Kirk.

The commissioners are not to supervise activities, but are merely to help promote and integrate them. Each will be responsible to the council, and will have no authority except that delegated by the council. Each commissioner will select a committee of three, one from each class, to assist him, and faculty members are being appointed to aid each commissioner. The five remaining members of the student council will act as special committee heads when needed.

PRESIDENT'S OPEN HOUSE

It is with keen interest that we are looking forward to your homecoming on November 18.

Mrs. Howard and I are holding open house in the Administration Offices from 10:00 a.m. until noon and every alumnus is cordially invited to drop in for a handshake and a cup of coffee.

C. A. HOWARD,
President.

Archers Invite All Grads To Try Skill

As the archery club's contribution to the annual homecoming week end, an ample opportunity to shoot will be furnished all former archers. This will take place outside if the day is suitable.

During past years archers have participated in various tournaments and meets. Both the men's and the women's teams placed first in the annual State College tournament held during the spring term of 1939. In this contest Ed Miller was individual champion for men, and Bernice Wilder was individual champion for women. The women's team, competing in a national meet during the winter term of 1939, placed seventh with Maria Raz placing fifth in individual score.

Soon after school started this fall, the Archery club got under way. The plans for the year include several tournaments of which the state tournament next spring is one.

3100 Grads Sent Invitations To Attend

ALUMNI:

On behalf of the Associated Students, I would like to invite all alumni to attend the annual homecoming day on our campus.

As you all know, a great change has been made here. This is now a three-year college, it has a new name, larger curriculum, and a new president. We would like to have you become familiar with this change and homecoming week end will afford you ample opportunity. Our new president is already very popular with the students, so make it a point to meet him. Remember, you have a date with all your old friends. Meet them here November 17th and 18th. A fine time is guaranteed and the campus is yours.

HARVEY WILLIAMS,
President, A.S.O.C.E.

Senior Class Will Give Fall Formal

On Saturday night, December 2, the senior class will present the fall formal. This is the night when the results of the seniors' planning are seen. The committees appointed to do this planning are as follows:

Decorating committee: Byron Adams, chairman, Virginia Logan, Ed Miller, Mildred Hendershott, and Jerome Hanlon.

Program and guest-card committee: Margaret MacDonald, chairman, Grace Tienken and Maryjane Heason.

Invitation committee: Dorothy Hufford, chairman, Lynn Roberts, and Daisy Minton.

These committees are functioning now in order to take care of all alumni and students who, they hope, will attend. Why doesn't everyone plan to attend this formal and meet all his friends and see who else is there? Who knows? You might even meet Pinocchio!

Oregon College of Education
Monmouth, Oregon

Dear Alumnus:

We wish to inform you that you are cordially invited to attend the annual homecoming dance of your Alma Mater that is to be held in the gymnasium on Saturday, November 18, during the hours of 9 to 12 p.m.

There will be a charge of $1.00 per couple or 50 cents per individual.

The junior class has the privilege of arranging the dance, and we are preparing elaborate plans for your comfort and enjoyment, of which good music is the feature.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT TEDD

Junior class president

P.S. We'll meet you at the dance!

Elaborate Plans Set for Festivities

With every organization cooperating to the fullest extent, this year's homecoming at OCE will be the largest and best that old grads have ever attended. Gay banners and signs of welcome are being made by Phi Beta Sigma members, and they will gayly adorn the campus.

A rally of fun and frolic is planned before the "bigger and better" bonfire is lighted, and Eastern Oregon is burned to her defeat. The "rooks" are giving their best efforts to this. After the bonfire, the Collecto-Coeds are entertaining one and all at a pre-victory dance in the recreation hall.

Saturday afternoon on Butler field the Wolves meet the Eastern Oregon gridsters for the homecoming game. (Confidentially, it is whispered around, that Eastern Oregon is going to be badly beaten.)

Saturday evening in the gymnasium, the junior class is sponsoring a real homecoming dance. The gym will be attractively decorated and a very good orchestra will swing the notes for everyone's "trucking." Admission to this dance will be 50 cents for a guest card.

Sunday morning, Dr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Cox, will entertain the Collecto-Coed girls and old members who wish to attend, for breakfast.

Ray Williamson, general chairman of homecoming, and his capable assistants, Marjorie Buck and Bud Tuthill, are at the helm of this gala affair.

Following is the program of events for homecoming week end:

Friday evening, November 17: Bonfire, sponsored by the freshman class; pep rally uptown after bonfire; rally dance, sponsored by Collecto-Coeds in recreation hall.

Saturday, November 18: Afternoon game on Butler field, Wolves vs. Eastern Oregon College of Education; homecoming dance, sponsored by junior class in the gym.

Dorm To Entertain

Attention Dorm Grads!

Homecoming week end has rolled around again, and Jessica Todd hall cordially invites you to attend the various activities to be held in your honor.

On Saturday, November 18, after the dance, the girls would like you to be present at one of the biggest and best firesides you ever attended. On Sunday, November 19, a dinner will be held at 1:00 p.m. as a get-together for all Dorm grads.

If it is at all possible for you to come, please reply immediately. We are looking forward to seeing all of you!

Ah, it approaches. What? Thanksgiving, homecoming, et al; that grand time of year when the frost is on your punkin and the golden leaves are all around. Annaway, WELCOME grads, alumni, alumna, alumnus, alumnae. Come one, come all, the key to the campus is yours!

A teacher's prayer: Go day, come day, God send payday! Old? So's Taylor, but its pretty good if you know how to take it.

Have you heard who put the white goat in West House Halloween night? But me no butts, somebody got somebody's goat. Baa.

Sad sights: Beverly Morlan absently pushing her pretty nose up with a pencil while in deep study.

Our pet peeve: When a singer or solo player in an orchestra makes a cross beat with the regular rhythm, making a nice senseless jumble. What's yours? Yeh, I know, but what else?

The little drama of Mrs. Thornton's class during last assembly was as cute as a bug's ear. Let's have more like it.

That same girl was running around again with her shoes off. What is this, a bunion derby?

As an after thought, we wonder why Pat Roy has been singing that old hit, "That's Where My Money Goes."

Since so many teachers will read this (we hope) we feel they would appreciate a reprint of one of our sagenesses of recent date — to wit: "From our observations of the teaching profession, its advantages and disadvantages, we have come to the sad conclusion that one of the biggest problems we will find when we go out to teach is that children have too many parents, or, too many children have parents!" Thank you.

Him: "I must have one more kiss, kiss, kiss, etc."

Her: "Oh, no, we haven't time, the folks will be home in an hour."
—Paraphrased from a West, Wash. C. E. joke.

Have you seen the itta bitta girl with the great big violin? She can play it too!

Anne Dresdoff has the cutest name for psych. dem. Very descriptive!

If the dear student body will bear with us, we will also reprint the following true story for the benefit of the sweet little children, to-wit: "Two small sisters had picked up the deplorable habit of swearing very authentically. The parents had been unable to break them of it and one evening when they were to have guests at dinner, they told the girls that if they would not swear during the evening, each would receive a nickel. All went well for a time, but before the end of the meal one little Miss spilled something and automatically let out a well-timed "damn". The other little Angel was highly amused and exultant that her sister had lost her nickel and immediately shouted gleefully: "Ya, there goes your nickel shot to Hell!"

OK, alumni-a-us-ae, be seein' ya the 18th, don't forget!

That Oregon ranks second only to New York in education?

That all the timber cut in the U.S. during the past 135 years would make a solid cube a mile on each dimension? (If you don't know—a cubic mile of lumber equals 1,700 billion board-feet!)

That our campus is graced with the presence of a very few good boxers!!

That the petroleum fields of Texas, California and Oklahoma have produced more oil than all the fields of Russia?

That the average human being exhales three pounds of carbon dioxide gas each day. To break down this exhaled gas and return oxygen to the atmosphere, three large trees are required.

That a new liquid coal has been developed which has power to drive a car?

That we are not the only ones to use pencil and ink. The employees of the steel industry use nearly four million lead pencils and 2,600 gallons of ink each year!

That our football lineup is the heaviest in the northwest?

That in one year the American railroads carry approximately 500 million passengers or the combined population of North and South America, the United Kingdom, Poland, France, Italy, Spain and Germany?

The Guild of St. Hilda's church held a no-host dinner at the Monmouth hotel Monday night in honor of the Reverend J. Thomas Lewis, the new vicar, and Mrs. Lewis. Guests included OCE students and faculty who are Episcopalians or interested in the Episcopal church.

WELCOME, ALUMNI!

Perhaps, by the time you have read this far, you are tired of hearing so many greetings. But, since there is just nothing else to say, the Lamron staff voices in with the entire school and merchants of the town in saying "WELCOME GRADS."

We have tried to make this paper your paper. And we hope to make next week end your week end. Students and faculty members are doing their utmost to make this week end so enjoyable that no grad will be able to refuse without regretting it.

If you want to see what a real welcome is, be back on the campus Nov. 17-18-19, and you'll have the time of your life.

WHAT CAN A DOLLAR BUY?

What can a dollar buy? A few gallons of gas? A few milkshakes? A few packages of cigarettes? Or a couple tickets to the movies? These things you can get anywhere for that small sum, but we offer you one full year's subscription to the Lamron for the very same price.

But, what is in the Lamron you ask? Is it worth your money? For only half the price of a big football ticket (you sit way up in the grandstand; don't know which team is which without field glasses; and leave without knowing the score) you can read each week, from now until June, articles by big names on the OCE campus, keeping you in touch with what is going on. Here are a few: J. Byron Adams, only male society editor we know of who keeps his job in a school with a ratio of three women to every man. Joe Hall, prolific penman from The Dalles, who turns out all kinds of sports stories and manages the sport staff as editor of that page. Then there is the never to be forgotten "Sage of Cupid's Knoll," otherwise known as Paul Munsell, who uses the typewriter to tell what he sees through the keyhole. And Jerry Heaton battles to keep the women on equal footing with the men.

These are only a few of the talented writers whose material you can read every week just for dropping a dollar bill in an envelope, along with your name and address, and sending it to Al Lentz, business manager of the Lamron.

What, with the football team away this week-end, many of the dorm girls will find it a bit difficult to reconcile themselves to the less hardy specimens of manhood that inhabit the campus. Remember, girls, we too wear trousers and know the way to Independence.

The boys at West House entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Inlow at dinner Wednesday evening.

The girls at Jessica Todd had a "fireside" Halloween evening. Cider and donuts were served after the girls had played numerous games in keeping with the occasion. The program was arranged by Edna Walker, Marjorie Wise and Anna Mae Holverstott. The refreshments were

Have you heard about the "charm school" that is being organized to improve personal appearance and the manners of the girls on the campus? It is gratifying to find such a wholesome response to comments mentioned in this column.

Theta Delta Phi held its formal initiation and dinner last Monday night. Ron Foos acted as toastmaster and the talks were informal. Places were set for 20 at the candlelit table which was decorated with autumn leaves and zinnias.

Girls with glasses seldom skip classes.

West House and Jessica Todd Hall held their fall formal Saturday evening. Patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Dewey, Miss Helen Anderson, and Miss Hilda Swenson.

Elizabeth Grant was the general chairman of the dance, which embodied the harvest idea. A real grape arbor was one of the unusual touches of artistry in the decorations. The decorations committee consisted of Grace Tienken, Maryjane Heaton, Edith Svendsen, Don Gaglia and Charles Shaw.

Virginia Marten, Marjorie Buck, and Steve Mosher planned the programs and Verna Muhr and Pat Roy invited the patrons and patronesses. The music was handled by Jeanne Appleberry, Belva June Mayer and Jack Jenck and the refreshments by Ethel Reid, Mary Wolf, Jane Norene and Ed Creacy.

Pauline Stein, Doris Berreman, Teresa McClellan, Joy Thompson, Barbara Peterson, Virginia Daugherty and Eugene Ritner received.

Ruth Holbrook and Betty Mulkey were formally pledged by Collecto Coeds at the music room in Jessica Todd Hall Tuesday night. In the ceremony, Grace Tienken was character; Margie Jensen, courage; Juanita Harrington, loyalty; Jeanne Appleberry, cooperation; and Cleo Carrothers, service. Mrs. J. A. Cox was present as adviser to the group. The girls consumed cake and ice cream after the initiation.

From the looks of things around here we are having an early fall—and we don't mean the weather. Maybe that explains the reason for some of the smart looking clothes worn around the campus these days.

Color-conscious Ed Miller strolls about the libe in a stylewise teal blue sweater these evening. Doris Berreman concentrates in a luscious wild rose pleated wool frock, and we don't blame others for concentrating on her.

Many are commenting on the fashionable coral taffeta formal worn by Jean Inlow at the Cornelius hall dance. Harry Johnson was the proud escort and the envy of many.

Last Saturday night at the social hour Eleanor Beckley, of secretary fame, casually remarked, "It is betted to be looked over than to be overlooked." From the looks of things Eleanor practices what she preached.

And then there was the freshman who wanted to know where Cupid's Knoll was.

And then there was the junior who was only too glad to give full directions.

And then there was the senior who merely sat and looked bored!

We can't help getting back to the time-worn topic of etiquette. Remember, even if you do have rheumatism, it is still good form to open the door for members of the fairer sex, and for older people, lest we forget.

The old witch visited sister witches at Jessica Todd hall Halloween night, and many of their hauntings were very timely. Verna Muhr stated that she's been haunting all right. Lynne Leahy said her main trouble was that she hadn't been using the right technique. Witch Felder commented that Lynne Leahy was having a "Hal" of a good time and that witch "Penny" seemed to be having a "Cole" time.

West house seems to be having its share of trouble these days. We understand some one got their goat in a big way. From rumors heard we gather that their Halloween party was definitely not a flop, but Satch did. For more information see Satch.

In closing, may we remind you not to forget to come home on homecoming.

WOLF SPORTS

11-Man Game Set for Tuesday Afternoon

O'Connel Men To Play Indep. High

Barring hurricane, fire, flood and earthquake, O'Connel will send his Wolf-pups against the Independence High Hopsters in the Hop Bowl come Tuesday afternoon. "Skeets" will weld a team averaging between 170 and 180 pounds, well balanced in offense and defense with plenty of weight and speed in the backfield. The team has plenty of passers and at least three backs of the power type.

Louie Graven will probably handle the passing and speed plays from his quarterback spot. Purvis or Crook will take care of the fullback position with Clark as punter and Austin, a pass receiver and blocker, at the halfback posts. Speedy Ross Graham and Dick Dietrick will alternate at halfback spots.

Except for 130-pound Harrington, an end, the line packs plenty of weight, with an abundance of speed at the end and running guard positions. Ends are Harrington and Mahar; tackles, Crook and Williamson; guards, Winfrey and H. Graven. Don Gaglia will hold down the center post. List of reserves is incomplete, but they are not numerous, this being one of the two weaknesses of the team. The other is lack of experience in playing together.

Anything may happen Tuesday, so, let's all be there and see this team in action.

Lewis Clark As Score Forecaster

Lewis Clark, OCE senior, according to the boys who know, is building himself quite a reputation as a football game forecaster. To date, Clark as accurately forecast the results of 55 out of 56 games.

Believing that Clark has a definite service to offer, the Lamron has arranged for him to do a bit of independent prognosticating. Each week in this section of the paper the outlook for the next week's games will be given.

Clark's dope is that the week end of November 11 will see Gonzaga trampling over Montana, Washington State beating Idaho, University of Washington winning from the University of California and the University of Southern California toppling Stanford by at least two touchdowns. The University of Portland is slated to win from Fresno State and the College of the Pacific should take the California Aggies.

Clark sees Willamette taking Pacific and, sad to say, OCE being humbled by Humboldt. Santa Clara will beat Michigan State, San Jose will outplay Redlands, and the University of San Francisco is slated to upset the Gaels of St. Mary's while Oregon State is taking the University of Oregon.

Inside Dope

by L. F. BRIDGE

Due to a little Oregon precipitation and the beautiful weather, the famous old football spirit hovers over Oregon College of Education as proudly as ever. Even though the gridsters of the Wolf team have had some past disappointments, they haven't for once lost their confidence; in fact, a few losses have caused them to practice more diligently in order to show what they really can do. While lined up in formation, they appear to have great strength and power. These vulnerable giants are showing more decision in their offensive line plays and formations than they have previously. They have improved a great deal since the start of the season, and they should make a better showing now.

In the evenings when football practice gets under way, one may hear a loud booming voice which keeps all the players on their toes and in fighting condition. It is the fiery Ed Miller, who can be shifted to any line position at any time. The 175-pound lineman was a reserve last year and seems to have ability in other sports. He played football at St. Helens high school under the famous Jerry Lillie. Ed has a genial personality and is well known on the campus.

The center who started for the Wolves against Multnomah college made an excellent showing. He is Leonard Wiehrdt, who originally came from St. Helens and played center there under Coach Jerry Lillie in 1935. He is a consistent center, a good offensive player, and is very alert on the defensive. The 22-year-old lineman, weighing 186 pounds, has a winning personality, and is popular with the students. Leonard has been a reserve for the past two years and is now a senior.

Robert or "King" Cole is a fast-running and aggressive guard on the Wolf team. He sometimes is shifted to a blocking back position, where he does a great job of blocking the opponents for the OCE passers. "King" Cole hails from Woodland, California and played two years of football there before coming to Monmouth. Bob is 19 years old and weighs 186 pounds. He is proving himself to be quite a socialite on the campus.

Bob Willis, the big fast 206-pound guard, is becoming a whale of a player, as he gains more of the fundamentals and tactics of football. He showed promise at the start of the season and has been gradually improving, but is more or less handicapped by having no previous football experience before entering college. Willis has demonstrated his ability by having both a good offensive and defensive charge, and will undoubtedly go places on the old gridiron next year. The big fellow hails from our Capitol City, Salem.

by Dorothy Hufford

La Danza has been initiating Virginia Dougherty, Virginia Martin, Joy Thompson and Margaret MacDonald both formally and informally the past week. The group, totaling 15 members now, is starting to work on dances to be presented winter term.

Anita Davidson proudly announces these girls to be at the front ranks in the hiking field: Helen Husby, Ruby Grell, Elva Grell, Alma Penrod, Betty Siestreen, Jean Sandblast, Elsie Noble, Dot Hufford, Hope Creighton, Hazel McMullen and Clara Hatcher.

A somewhat chagrined, but not permanently hurt, House of David was taken for a fall by the Independent B's. By special request the score is not being published, as the House of David holds that "it was sort of a preliminary warm up."

While we're mentioning victorious teams, Nelson Hall, Power House and Independent A's can step up and take their well earned bows.

Have any of these idiosyncrasies caught your eye—the Davidson and Coyle set up, Elsie Knope's terrific sock, the Severson and Houghtaling serves, and the Barber umpiring?

Wolves Fall Before Pac. Lutheran 45-7

90 Yard Kick-off Return Is Feature

Pass interceptions, 90-yard kick-off returns, and spectacular completed passes featured the 45-7 victory of Pacific Lutheran college over the Oregon College of Education Wolves at Tacoma Saturday night.

Pacific Lutheran's first two touchdowns came in the first quarter on long passes followed by successful conversions. The second quarter saw the Lutheran boys capitalize on an OCE fumble and go over for the third touchdown. Another touchdown was made later in the same quarter to bring the score to 27-0.

The Wolves kicked off at the beginning of the second half and Tammerovik, big Lutheran halfback, returned it 90 yards for the fifth touchdown. The Lutherans scored again in the third quarter and once more in the last. Oregon's lone touchdown came in the last of the fourth quarter on a series of line bucks that saw fullback Barnes go over for the score. Anthol Riney converted.

Despite the unevenness of the score the Wolves had it over the Pacific Lutheran's on first downs, garnering 14 to the opponents' 13. OCE also made more yardage from rushing than did the Lutherans. The final score was 45 to 7.

Coach Cox's entire football squad made the trip, leaving Monmouth Saturday morning and returning Sunday noon. Starting line-up for the Wolves was: Szedlak and Stoneberg, ends; Mason and Hankel, tackles; Vlcek and Cole, guards; Miller, center; and Barnes, Riney, Gigler and Satterlund, backs.

SMILING, COURTEOUS SERVICE

by JOE HALL
(Lamron Sports Editor)

Welcome home, grads! Coach Al Cox has prepared an extra special homecoming grid dish for you—namely one game with the highly vaunted football squad from the Eastern Oregon College of Education. The eastern boys have had a pretty successful season. Advance dope has it that the EONS' offense is built around one hard-running halfback by the name of Blackman. The Quinn men have the reputation of being able to pass all over the lot and this fact, combined with a barrel-full of Coach Quinn's trick plays including the old statue of liberty, and some smooth working end-arounds should give Cox's army a really busy day.

Speaking of matters a little closer to date, this week end's game with Humboldt State Teachers at Arcata, California, bids fair to be a very scrappy affair. The Humboldt line is rumored to be stronger than that of the Wolves and the California boys are said to have a pair of colored halfbacks who work from the backfield with spectacular results. So far this season Humboldt has been undefeated and untied. The traveling squad consisting of 20 players, has not yet been named by Coach Cox.

Regarding matters a little nearer home—our man of the week is Veronika's gift to OCE, quarterback Everett Meeker. Meeker has been out of the Wolves' line-up with an injured knee since the first game of the season but has been far from lost to the squad. Each night finds Meeker out with the boys in an assistant coach position, helping some Wolf who has forgotten his play or who needs a pointer or two. What is more—the boys really like and appreciate his work. More power to you, Ev!

Some of the fellows have been talking about the possibility of a ping-pong tournament. It seems that each and every man or woman on the campus, who has ever held a ping-pong paddle in his hand figures himself as a prospective champion. A tourney, with adequate prizes and recognition for the winner seems like the logical way to settle the whole affair. The sports page of the Lamron will stand in back of anyone who wants to sponsor the affair. Let's hear from you.

practice would have made them an unbeatable outfit. If anyone who has possibilities or thinks he has possibilities as a tennis player will check in with Mr. Dodds or Johnny Haworth, he will be well received.

Speaking of tournaments, the handball tourney is taking hold very slowly. The main trouble seems to be that the inexperienced players are a little bashful about learning the game. It really is an easy sport to learn and proficiency comes with practice. If you find yourself gaining a little too much weight, you might try it as a drugless reducing agent. It works!

The tennis squad's idea of starting practice in the fall and continuing it through the winter by using the gym facilities seems to be an admirable idea. Last spring, the trouble seemed to be in not enough practice. The boys last year played good enough ball but a little more Homecoming is the only game to be played on Butler field this year. Next season we hope to see the Wolves playing more games at home and on a real field. The ground is being leveled and carpenters are at work on a new civic field and grandstand just west of the college. Next year, if things go as planned, the present field will be used for baseball and football practice with all scheduled home games being played, it is hoped, on the new turfed and lighted athletic arena.

"Fighting Finn," gets his nickname from his ancestors who fought their way from the Orient to Finland, and never knew what it was to say die. As a quarterback, he has developed marvelously, being a capable defensive player and a hard blocker.

Adrian Dickson, better known as "Shamby Amby" by his teammates, is the speed merchant of the Wolf squad, playing both the right half and left end positions. He is one of the Wolves' best pass receivers and is usually on the receiving end of John Showalter's passes. Dickson, originally came from Oregon City high school, weighs 172 pounds and has shown his ability as a basketball and baseball player. He was one of the OCE reserves last year.

Men Plan for Christmas Ball

Plans are developing rapidly for the Christmas ball to be given by the Associated Men Students on December 9. The plans were originally for a dance having a theme concerning the waterfront, but were changed according to the wishes of the faculty. "This is the last big social event of the term and should and will go over big," reports Byron Adams, chairman of the dance committee.

Incidentally, Associated Men, the faculty has chosen our group to sponsor one of the biggest social events of the term and if we all swing in together, we can give a Christmas Ball that will leave them talking for months.

RECEPTION FOR OLD COLLECTOS

Collecto Coeds extend to you a sincere welcome to return to the OCE campus as guests of the entire Associated Student Body and as special guests of the Collecto Coed organization.

Saturday morning we would like to have each one of you drop into our reception room in Campbell hall to receive your alumnae Collecto Coed badge and chat a bit with the old members. Sunday morning Mrs. J. A. Cox has generously invited the club to have breakfast at her home, including any and all of those alumni members of the club who can manage to come.

We will be expecting you on the campus to enjoy the programs that have been arranged for you on Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Pen and Parchment Extend Their Greetings to All Old Students

Pen and Parchment extends a sincere welcome to its alumni members and the rest of you returning grads.

We know you have not forgotten how much you enjoyed Pen and Parchment nor the purpose for which it was organized.

We congratulate you on what you've accomplished with the club, and since then, in the literary field. The club's first meeting on Oct. 24, began a drive for new members, hoping to discover and encourage young literary talent.

This year's officers are: Roberta Mott, president; Elsie Houghtaling, vice-president; Laura Hedine, secretary-treasurer. Miss Helen Anderson is our honorary member, and our three other faculty advisers are: Dr. E. F. Barrows, Miss Edna Minus and Dr. J. F. Santee.

La Danza Trains for Esthetic Dancing

LaDanza is one of the sparkling organizations of the campus. Its purpose is to train girls in the art of creative or esthetic dancing, and to exhibit to the student body its skill. To appreciate this art, one must have a definite sense of the beautiful in rhythm, expressed through the means of the human body.

The members develop ease and grace in walking and dancing, besides developing poise. Strength and relaxation, both requisites for a good performance, are cultivated and used by the girls in their dancing.

Last year, during All Parents week end, the La Danza group put on a dance as a part of an assembly program in Campbell hall. Plans are being formulated now for an assembly program during winter term. It promises a treat for all, and will give a chance for some, who are uneducated in the appreciation for this art, to get acquainted with it.

Breakfast Event For Staff & Key

Remember all the black cats and 13's decorating the walls at the superstition dance? Staff and Key sponsored this dance on Friday, the 13th. Also at the regional convention, Staff and Key had charge of several booth from which they handed out tickets.

Four new members were elected at the regular meeting held October 31. They are: Margaret MacDonald, Daisy Minton, Virginia Martin and Elizabeth Grant. Informal initiation is to be held at Mrs. Florence Hutchinson's home on November 7.

Staff and Key is planning to have a homecoming breakfast at the hotel on Sunday morning, November 19. All former members are cordially invited. We hope many will plan to attend. If any member who wishes to come will write to Lenora Jensen, Monmouth, Oregon, a place will be reserved for her.

Williams House Holds Pot-luck

Williams' House was the scene of a colorful pot-luck dinner and initiation Tuesday evening, October 31. Clever place cards marked the places for Audrey Coyle, Hazel McMullen, Ruth Bigert, Helen Pape, Dessie McClay, Margaret Heller, Ruth Rabel, Melba Whitney, Elsie Eskeldson, and the newcomers to Williams' House, Maxine Enney, Betty Howe, Wardine Forrest, Beulah Powell, Ruby Berg, Marjorie Ashby, Mrs. Ruby Meyers and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Williams.

After fortifying themselves well with several courses, the girls felt able to withstand the initiation of the freshmen. Ruby Berg gave a highly personal account of the private life of — (well, just someone she knew.) A very real imitation of one of OCE's faculty was the contribution of Maxine Enney. Marjorie Ashby was right at home—doing a bit of opera. Curiosity made Wardine Forrest the victim of the group—an explanation of her rating a '39 Chev. Beulah Powell also did an imitation of a life experience. Betty Howe concluded the initiation with a narrative.

Grads, why don't you take the opportunity of keeping in contact with your school? For only $1.00 a year you can receive the Lamron each week during the regular school year. For subscriptions, write to Elmon Lentz, business manager, the Lamron.

Freshmen Plan For Bonfire

The first regular meeting of the freshmen class was called to order last Monday morning by the president, Walt Vincent. Minutes of the two meetings of the executive council of the class were read by Beverly Morlan, secretary. An announcement was made concerning the committee's plan for the homecoming bonfire. The fire will be built Friday morning in order to avoid the burning of it prior to the appointed time, Friday night. The class, although having last choice in appointing advisers, wisely chose Mr. Christensen and Mrs. Blackerby. Bill Wiest was appointed by the executive council to act as reporters for the class.

FREE BREAKFAST

Theta Delta Phi welcomes all returning members to a breakfast to be held in the lunch room of the Training School on Saturday morning of homecoming week end. It will be worth your while to attend not only for the meal but for the chance to meet old friends and become acquainted with the members now in school. There will be no charge.
