New OGE Library Adds Striking Note to the College Campus

Sign-Up Will Follow Time-Proved System

Registration for all freshmen and transfer students took place in the physical education building on Friday, September 21. Monday, September 24, is the day set aside for returning students to register. The same procedure as was used last year will be followed. Each student will receive a set of registration instructions and forms. These instructions should be read carefully and followed through at each step. All forms and the card must be completed legibly.

Campus Receives Face-Lifting Job

The returning students have probably noticed several changes on the campus since last spring. The entire campus has been undergoing an extensive “face lifting” by the Portland Construction Company. Dave Thompson, head of the architect, has been doing the planning for the work.

The bridge that was along the south side of the Administration building has now been a semi-circle between the Administration building and the library. Some of the shrubs were taken from in front of the Administration building and the Monmouth Elementary school.

Very noticeable, also, are the new lawns. The library is now completely surrounded by green lawns and shrubbery.

Very welcome is the new lawn between West house and Arnold Arms. West house and Arnold Arms have also received a coat of paint, new shrubs and new sidewalks.

Campbell hall has lost its try and old shrubbery only to gain some redwood trees. Cans forever are the steps that were always stumbled over by students in a hurry. They have been replaced by concrete ramps.

Dec. Grades Should Contact Mr. Lieuallen

All students planning to complete requirements for graduation from either the three-year or the four-year course at the close of fall term should call at the registrar’s office prior to October 1, and fill out application forms for graduation.

Lamron, Grove Need Business Managers

The student publications on the campus, the Lamron and the Grove, are both in need of business managers. Anyone interested in the jobs is asked to have an application with the editor of the publication or place it in her post office box. Application should state qualifications and previous experience. After consideration the editors will turn the applications over to the student council for the final decision.

The Lamron editor is Leslie Furer and the Grove editor is Mabel McKeown.

Freshmen Learn of OCE in Pre-Session

With handshake, smiles and name tags, Freshman Week began in full swing Wednesday, September 19. Old students were on hand to help with orientation of the new students and to give welcome to the new arriving students.

Wednesday evening everyone met in Maple hall for an “all-campus get-together.” Folk dances, games and refreshments, followed by social dancing were enjoyed by all.

Thursday’s schedule opened at 10:30 a.m. with Roy E. Lieuallen, registrar, providing an over-view. President, Dr. Roben J. Maaske, delivered the welcome address to the new students. “Everybody sing” music was then directed by Mrs. Denise Mur-phy, assistant professor of music.

The dean of women, Miss Jean Ewbank, spoke of Freshman Week plans, and the opportunities of OCE for women, related the history and traditions of OCE.

Music, an important part of the OCE curriculum, was introduced by Mrs. Murray and Charles Bowell, director of music.

Students to Share in Corvallis Music Series

This year, student-body cards will permit OCE students to enjoy the concert series at Corvallis. Also, bus transportation will be provided. The series starts on Tuesday, November 6, with Robert Shaw’s Chorale and Orchestra. Other numbers on the series are: The Portland Symphony, January 8; Tuffy Spinakos, violinist, January 26; Lawrence Whiteley, Negro baritone, and Elsiva Davia, Negro soprano, featuring Purdy and Bein numbers, February 18; Frasserie and Peleur, dual piano February 26; National Male Quartet, March 12; and ending the series will be Arthur Rubinhen, pianist, on April 26.

In Corvallis on Friday, October 5, will be Nelsen Eddy, baritone. This concert is by special arrangement. Tickets will be on sale.

Carters Have Son

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Carter are parents of a six pound son, born in hospital on September 12. Grads should take note. Carters have a supervisor in the selected professional minor is now also available to science majors. Several students have selected chemistry for the second sequence, rather than the 12-hour sequence.

Students Must Choose Minors

Students working toward a BS degree must present college cards for registration conferences with advisers prior to October 1, and fill out application forms for payment of tuition and fees for the second sequence.

TO THE STUDENTS --

To the returning students, this is welcome back to OCE with the wish that the coming year will find everyone filled with the spirit of cooperation that has been the keynote of the past.

To the new students, here’s a wish that they find our much-changed "remodeled" campus to their liking and that they all share a willingness to participate in our calendar of social and sports events, as well as the student government of the school. Active participation is the only way that there can be built up within the student, that feeling of loyalty, that can cause him to point with pride toward this institution and say: "That’s my school!"

Again I say welcome to OCE, and may the coming year be good for all of us.

Filmstrip Guide Is Prepared for Schools

Teachers of District 135 are the first in the state to receive copies of a new guide to filmstrip usage or--specifically--the Oregon state curriculum units.

Soon to be made available to all Oregon classroom teachers in a specially-printed edition, the guide provides pointers and sample selection of any of more than 500 filmstrips to aid in presenting any subject matter unit.

The guide is based on more than 4,600 reviews and evaluations conducted in the Minnow and Independence campus elementary schools and the OCE Instructional Materials center. District 135 teachers reported on correlation of every filmstrip listed in the guide after previews and testing tests.

Miss Emma Henkle, associate professor of education and coordinator of elementary education at OCE did specialized preview, evaluation and grade placement work on the subject.

Dr. Louis Kaplan, director of teacher education, and Dr. Elmer Enz, then principal of the campus elementary schools, aided in the compilation of classroom use and testing.

The entire project was under the supervision of Dr. Francis D. Haines, professor of education and director of OCE Instructional Materials center.

This correlation guide is the first of its kind ever produced in the Oregon state system and is available to the Guides to Elementary Education in Oregon, publications of the state department of education, which outline suggested units and areas of study in each of their subjects.

MISS VIRGINIA KEMPTON

The appointment of Miss Virginia Kempton, as director of devotional and community, with the rank of instructor, has been announced by Dr. Robert J. Maaske, president of OCE. Miss Kempton received her BA and MA degrees from the University of Oregon and has done additional graduate work at Oregon State college in the field of home economics.

She has served as a public school teacher, office assistant to the dean of women at the UIF of O and since 1949 has been in charge of a devotional at Wishita State university in Tallahassee. She succeeds Mrs. Lorna Jones who is retiring to return to Corvallis to manage her business interests there.

WELCOME TO THE CAMPUS

The Lamron takes this opportunity to welcome all the students to the campus of Oregon College of Education and hopes that they enjoy their year of working and playing together. The staff is also happy to welcome back returning students for another year.

There are many facilities on the campus for study and recreation. New people have joined the faculty. The grounds have been landscaped and the library building, completed this summer, is ready for use again. Football season is under way, and dances, movies, and concerts will also be part of the recreational schedule. If we make the most of these facilities, this year promises to be a pleasant one.

Freshmen students will be happy to hear there will be no initiation for them this year. Probably of course that they drop out immediately—if not sooner.

May we again take this opportunity to welcome you all to the OCE campus.

Science Department Buys New Textbooks

Students taking courses in the science department will be greeted by a series of new texts this coming school year. New texts have been adopted for biology, geology, and astronomy. These changes have been made in order to bring the texts up to date and to better serve our particular student needs.

Another new feature is the use of a source book, “A Treasury of Science.” It has been decided by the student in connection with the course sequences in both the biological and the physical sciences.

Students who feel that their mathematical background is insufficient are urged to take either the course in Foundations of Mathematics or Elementary Algebra before beginning their sequence in the physical sciences.
