Need For Teachers Discussed

In a letter to Marshall M. Dana, editor of the editorial page of the Oregon Journal, Henry M. Gunn, OCE president, answered several questions on the cause of overcrowded classrooms in Oregon. He also gave his views on what to do to remedy this problem. The following article consists of several excerpts taken from this letter and from the guest editorial which appeared in the Oregon Journal. They appear in an abbreviated question and answer form.

Question: "What is wrong with the teachers college of Oregon?"

Answer: "The main cause is the low salary of the training school supervisors. Until this year, the average pay has been $300. This is less than the students they are training usually get during their first year. However, this is being remedied. This year, the minimum wage is $300. Our own students don't they turn out teachers enough, qualified enough, to meet the needs of public education in this state?"

Answer: "The most recent study on teacher supply and demand was made by Ray C. Maul for the National Education Association and is entitled "Teacher Supply and Demand in the United States." Some of the significant findings of this study follow.

1. The United States needs 109,000 additional elementary teachers.

2. Forty-three states now issue emergency certificates in order to meet this shortage.

3. Despite greatly increased post-war college enrollments, there is a noticeable increase in the number of teachers who are preparing for teaching in the elementary school.

4. The little prospect of relief from overcrowded classroom conditions is illusory unless new places are to pay nothing of the provision for enlarged enrollments in the future.

5. Little progress has been made (Continued on Page Two)

Cooperation of All Students Needed

Homecoming! The big event of the year! The students who are put in charge of engineering the event may be seen sweating over preparations for weeks before the big event, and recuperating for weeks afterward. This year, Jane K. Hamilton and Barbara Brose have been put in charge of activities for the Alumni. They have been, and are being, assisted by numerous committees and service clubs on the campus. The one central thought of all these people is to make this, the third post-war homecoming, the biggest and the most enjoyable one in the history of OCE.

This year we have another group which will be represented on the campus during the big event. This group will be from the Decor club which was organized last year. They will be entertained under the direction of Walt Ager.

Although all these people are doing a great job, it is impossible for them to do everything. In order for this year's homecoming to be the success that we are all hoping it will be, the full cooperation of each and every campus student is needed.

Students Attend Opera

A group of 20 students attended the Portland Opera association's production of Sigmund Romberg's "The Desert Song." The students traveled by bus, leaving Monday at 6 p.m. and returning around 2:15 a.m. Outside of being sleepy, the concert was described as "a pleasant evening." About half of those attending had never been to an opera before.

History Of Former Practices Thrown

The students heard programs selected by the music faculty and conducted by the director of the music department. The programs included a variety of music, ranging from Bach to Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." The students were particularly interested in the "Intermission during which refreshments were served." The event was brought to a close with Beethoven's "Symphony No. 9." (Pastoral.)

Committee Heads Named for Event

Barbara Brose and Bruce E. Hamilton, co-chairmen of the Homecoming week-end, have announced that this homecoming will be the biggest program ever to be presented to the returning alumni who will be our guests on October 22, 23. From the looks of all the hustle and bustle in the council room headquarters, it seems that their committees are certainly right. For instance, in past years, the number of letters going out to alumni averaged around 400. However Barbara and Bruce tell us that approximately 1900 grads have been contacted to date. Browsing over the schedule of events will show anyone that they can't afford to miss such a gigantic program.

The week-end will officially begin at 7 p.m. Friday when everyone will go down to the grove for a pep rally. The OCE band will be on hand for this occasion to add to the excitement. At 8 p.m., the stadium west of campus will be scene of the Homecoming football game, the biggest and the most enjoyable one in the history of OCE.

From the grove the throng will move to the freshmen bonfire, (Continued on Page Three)
Homecoming - 1948

How does that old song go? "there is no place like home." Most students from OCE or any other college will agree with this phrase, and it will make them think of home when they return home after an absence. They will think of a chicken dinner, their favorite pie, or maybe the gal, or guy, that lives next door. In other words, most of them will think of the home they were away from.

Other groups think of other things at the mention of returning home. Each year, along about this time, there is one group in which OCE is vitally interested. This is the group of alumni. These are those who have had a part of the old days, the good old days, they spent on the campus while they were attending school, and also of the good days they have had when they have met with old classmates in other schools.

Next Friday evening a goodly number of this group will again appear in Monmouth to celebrate their annual homecoming. A vote of thanks goes to Sheriff Brown and Bruegger's, who are along in making preparations for the alums, and to Wally who is arranging entertainment for the Dads who will be present.

This is not enough. It is impossible for a few students and their committees to shoulder the entire load and to make it a success. It will take the whole-hearted cooperation of each and every student on the campus if this week-end is made into made into the third quarter with their first touchdown versus the Wolves.

Whisker History

Traveling on a bus-saw and the result pleased everyone. From this, on very often, the beard party was distinguished. Each man grew a beard for his face, added to his natural capacities or position. Along in here somewhere the silly-goose, chin whiskers, and "Oh, Grampa!" made their appearance.

Near the end of the last century some joker who was unable to grow any hairy adornments, made quite a hit with the ladies, by this time, probably very few people would dare to make a whisker like a large cocoon on a mass of underbrush. This trend continued, and in the beginning of the century another idea, the official beard, was introduced. By 1938, the trend was reversed. There was a blizzard of beards.

The question was discussed and it was soon found that there is very sufficient grounds for argument. Some people for the year were discussed and it was decided that the group will meet each Thursday noon. The group, which is already of good size, did not want the season to stop just yet. They, too, have an old-fashioned gathering place of their own, the senior common room.

The foremen club held their second meeting of the year last Tuesday noon. Mr. George Herd- man, who sponsored the discussion of the year is "Resolved, That the OCE community has grown a great deal since the establishment of the school." In the discussion, it was said that the year is "Resolved, That the OCE community has grown a great deal since the establishment of the school." Arnold Arms

The Burglars combed the Arnold Arms team the first three weeks of the season, and although Arnold Arms pushed them down the two-yard line for a no good. At the end of the third quarter, the game was tied 17-17. However, Arnold Arms scored again to finish the game ahead 23-17. On Saturday afternoon, Bob Recheley led the Robots on a drive that made the second half of the game. The Wolves beat Monmouth 27-13, and the game was over Monmouth, and Matt Scott was the star of the game.

Collecto Coeds

At their first meeting of the year, September 30th, Collecto Coeds were faced with the problem of electing a new president, and the new president, Miss Blythe, became the leader of the group. Staff & Key

Staff and Key met Thursday night to formulate plans for the biggest event of fall term, the annual All-American formal, to be held on December 4.

Because so many of our 15 members have been suffering from frozen fingers, we unanimously voted to sell coffee rather than coke at the Homecoming game. Staff and Key will, for the first time in several years, again sell copies of OCE. If you missed your chance to buy them at the gate Friday night, contact any member of staff and key.

Psych Movies Being Shown

Influence of environment upon early childhood is the subject of several movies given by Dewey in his psychology courses and other students who are taking the course this term.

One depicting the early life of a Navaj child was shown in the math building last week, and the other two will be shown before the end of the term.

Subjects of the latter movies are the influence exercised on the infant during the first few days at the hospital and the conditioning of children that may take place at clinics.

West House

This week, West House is proud to introduce another who is new to our campus. Dick Chatterton is a transfer from the Vanport Extension Center, a vet, and fisherman during his summer vacation. He says that he likes his newly-adopted school very much and is very thankful to a certain buddy who recommended OCE to him.

Dick is 22 and, as common among guys of his age and experience, he finds the routine of school work monotonous. He graduated from high school at Newport, which is his home town, in 1945. A little less than a year later he yielded to the romantic pictures drawn by the naval recruiting officer and left for the lovely mountains of northern Idaho, where he attended a training camp better known to the common man as Parris Island.

From then until May, 1946, he traveled extensively. Dick attended school for amphibious officers at California, Calif., and he says that, contrary to the claims of the natives, California had nothing that left a yearning in his heart.

After leaving California on a navy transport, Dick visited those marvelous places such as Alaska, New Zealand, China, and Okinawa. While traveling through this part of the country, he sat in on some fire works then proceeded to China. By this time he held a rating of signalman 2nd class. He spent some time helping the navy and the army near Korea and then finally returned home.

A lot of people still being jumped through his veins so he started fishing. He still follows this occupation during the summer.

West House lost its first game of the season to Wolf Knights last Wednesday evening. However, the boys looked good and they are planning on making their next game a big one.

Lyle Hays has the honor of being the first West House casualty of the year. He made the mistake of swimming in a pool, and according to a coach during football ' reunions with the Monmouth high school last week.

Wolf Knights

A meeting was held last Thursday night to welcome the three new members, Dick Chatterton, Bruce E. Hamilton, and Les Fedler. Although the members were not able to get together on the ticket gates at the OCE-Klamath game last Friday.

Crimson O

Calling a special meeting of the campus dramatic group, students last Monday night was John Ulrich, president of Crimson O. The primary purpose of this meeting was to inform all prospective members that try-out will be held tonight, October 18, at 7 w. tock. All students who are interested in drama and who would like to join the club are cordially invited to try-out today. As a matter of fact, any old and new members are urged to attend this meeting so that tryouts will be held tonight, October 18 at 7:30 p.m. at which time more definite plans will be laid.

Todd ball dining-room. Everyone that knows with Miss Claggett in charge, could be nothing short of sensational.

The greatest dance of the year, the annual Homecoming Dance, is slated for Saturday evening from 9 to 12. Kurt Keaton and his orchestra will supply the music for this gala affair. Kurt recently was a top sensation as Charlie Berletti lead trombone played and we hear that all his arrangements are written by a member of Charlie Sprink's band. It sounds good, it is good, so let's all turn out to make this the highlight of the week-end.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the annual Homecoming Chapel service will be held with Dr. Ray mond A. Whitley, Jr., of Willamette university, as the main speaker. This is to be held in the auditorium of Campbell hall.

As far as a theme for the week-end is concerned, it is decided to use "Block OCEB" and that's just what everyone plans to do.

biggest game of the season with the Wolves, pointing away at their southern neighbors from SOCE. Mac seemed well pleased with the showing of the team last week-end and claims that we will be there in the way. So lets make this a game to remember in the history of winning football games of OCE. There will be half-time entertainment composed of a wagon race and tug of war between the fresh and sophomores.

Immediately after the contest there will be a pot-together dance for everyone in the rec hall, with a short ceremony dedicating the new brick bar.

Saturday is the big day for all alumni. With many opportunities being offered among those at present on the payroll, registration will start this morning and the day's events will be offered to alumni at 12:15 which also will be held in the rec hall.

Barbara Oaks claims that a combination of talent "fit for Broadway" is ready for the show to be held at 5 p.m. in the auditorium of Campbell hall.

Southern Oregon will be tough, unequivocally stated Coach McArthur. The reason for his alarm is their 48-24 beating of Cal. Aggie. The Bad Raiders scored seven touchdowns via the aerial route and, according to McArthur, this means a lot of work on pass defense this week. All of the Southern Oregon's eleven, visitors over the Wolves by a 24-6 count last year, will be back except for last year's Little All-American, Chuck D'Autremont. Jandreau handles the quarterback spot in the Boudier's "T" formation. McArthur, never optimistic, makes no prediction other than that the team will be in there fighting.

H.S. Coach Acts As Assistant Coach

H. S. Coach is experimenting with the two unit system. Encouraged by the second team line's appearance in the Pacific college game, he has to have an offensive line and a defensive line. If plans materialize, McArthur hopes to use the following combination on offense: Hill and Hey, ends; Riles and Thayer, tackles; Mulkin and Sparks, guards.

The intramural touch football game was dropped this year. The reason given was that there were not enough players and that there were too many players on the other sports teams.

INTRAMURAL ITEMS

The intramural touch football season opened with a bang last Wednesday. Merriam and Arnold Arms squads posted first round victories.

Most of the fireworks were provided by the boys from AA, as they posted the Burglars, last year's champions, 12-6. After trailing 6-0 at the half, the Burglars came back to take the lead on the next play. They scored the tie to make the score 12-6.

The J.V. game against Linfield was a step in the right direction. The boys played to win, and gave undertakers a juicy, vacity team is valuable. Let's hope that the idea of a J.V. team will be kept in mind next year.

In the Intramural football game, the Wolves actually made more yards rushing from SOCIE'S three touchdowns were scored on long runs. Furthermore, the mental attitude of the team is favorable, a point not to be overlooked. All the boys were praised for the Ashland game last year, and it is certain that they will be looking for revenge this time. In addition, the game will be played at home, and with support from the stands, it should prove to be quite a contest.
