Talent Shows Will Hit the Spot

The minstrel show presented last week again revealed that many students, hereofore unsuspected, are in reality loaded—with talent—with that certain knack that is necessary to entertain others and help them forget their troubles for awhile. This is real art, but the pity is that more people do not share their artistry more often. When such talent is gathered and presented, we all enjoy the results.

The attendance at the minstrel show last week indicated that there is a wide interest in such productions hereabouts. The crowd that attended was, to say the least, enthusiastic. Evidently there is a big demand for more such activities, and there is a great opportunity for recognition in participating in such performances. In the future, we hope to see more of these, planned, presented, and performed. They really go over in a big way. —S.T.S.

Wolfs Take Valselz in First Hoop Game

Oregon College of Education Wolves got their first tryout of the 1950-51 hoop season Thursday night by downing Valsetz 67 to 58, and showed that they will be a potent threat season this year.

Getting off to a slow start, the Wolfs pushed ahead when Central Shrine Moonhead tipped in the first basket after four minutes of play. The Valsetz team showed occasional slip early in the game and made three straight baskets to take the lead away from OCE. Ray Palmier, center for Valsetz and former OCE student, led his team mates and was high scorer of the evening with 12 points, Jerry Kral, another former OCE winner, looked good for five points.

Standout for the Wolfs was letter Hal Knox. His excellent

In First Hoop Game

The Oregon College of Education Wolves played their first game of the season in a non-conference game against Valsetz. The Wolves won with a score of 67-58, showcasing their potential for this season.

The game started slowly for the Wolves, but they were able to take the lead away from Valsetz after four minutes of play. The Valsetz team showed some early slip-ups, leading to the Wolves seizing the lead.

Ray Palmier, center for Valsetz and a former OCE student, was the top scorer with 12 points. Jerry Kral, another former OCE winner, scored five points.

A standout for the Wolves was Hal Knox, known for his excellent tackling and quickness.

The game continued with both teams determined to win. The Wolves secured their first goal of the game with a score of 32-15. Once again, the Wolves proved to be the better team.

The Wolves played their second game the following afternoon, entertaining Williams U here at 3:30 in the gym. Williams is not on the OCE regular schedule and this may be the only time the teams will meet this year. Last year OCE won one and lost one to the Bears.

Coach Knox announces the schedule to complete and that the first game will be played against OCE's traditional rival, Southern Oregon, on December 1. This will be a home game.

Jack Graham provided four southdowns to open the OCE offensive and slammed home five baskets plus the extra point on a pass to Ted Shorack. East House then rallied on a tip from Ivan Burton to Milton Phil­

Simms to make the score 7-6 at the half.

Refreshed by the two-minute break at the half, the Simms began to roll. Jack Graham threw the ball to Ted Shorack who returned it through the entire East House team for a 15-yard touchdown tally.

East House scored in the last half on a drive of 13 yards, halfback to halfback. This marked the first game of the season recorded under football rules, and it is still an exciting sight to watch the trophy.

northwest, has won the first football championship in the history of the Oregon Collegiate conference.

Coached by Bill McArthur, the Wolves climaxed their 1950 campaign by nailing down title with an 11-0 victory over the Lewis Carroll College Griffins, Dec. 3-3, and wrapping up the Oregon Collegiate conference championship.

The season OCE compiled a record of six victories and two de­ defeat. After losing their first game to strong Northwest converting competition, defeating all three of their conference opponents.

In rolling to their title the Wolves defeated Oregon Technical Institu­

Amer. 2405-6, Portland College 22-19, and Washington College 23-19.
