Pre-scheduling Simplified

Students planning to register for winter term should begin thinking about their plans now. Pre-scheduling for winter term is planned for the week beginning December 10 and ending December 14. Steps in pre-scheduling are as follows:

All American students are invited to speak confidentially with permanent faculty advisers in order to secure permanent faculty advisers by the beginning of the winter term and prevent them from being assigned temporary advisers at the beginning of the term. All American students wishing to retain their present advisers may do so, no action is necessary to retain their present advisers. Students wishing to change advisers should call the registrar's office for an "Adviser Change Card." Whatever possible, students may change to a new adviser of their choice.

Highlights of the evening will be the giving of the annual gift by a woman who has been chosen the All-American girl. The dance will also be a homecoming dance under the leadership of Mike Key. This choral was made on the basis of five attributes: personality, beauty, athletic ability, scholarship, and character.

Future Teachers Hold Last Meeting of Term

The John Dewey chapter of Future Teachers held its last meeting of the term last Tuesday evening. Dr. J. M. Bascom opened the meeting with the presentation of Dr. Floyd A. Adams as the new advisor for the chapter. He will assist Miss Margaret Perry, chapter advisor.

Miss Mildred Martin Smith, past president of OBA, a member of the NEA executive committee, discussed "The Importance of the College of Education Commission of Teacher Education and Professional Standards" and stressed the importance of professional attitudes that each teacher should have.

She talked around the idea of "what, when, and why" of the national meetings of the NEA and how effectively these meetings can be put into immediate action through cooperative efforts. These divisions include the national, state, local, college, Teachers Educational and Professional Standards Commission, the National Relations Commission—"Upon the shoulders of巨这 few stand the answer to international relations."

She concluded her talk by recom- mendations for the future such as "What Do We Know About Our Students?" compiled by the National Relations Commission and published in our library.

Oregon Mills director of placement and P.T.O consultant, accompanied Miss Smith.

A group of two tape recordings by Dr. Addy and her PTA group at Eastern Oregon College Education and their work in the chapter.

Kappa Pi Initiates Nine Members Nov. 30

Kappa Pi, national art franchise, initiated nine members, included in the regular meeting, November 30, at the home of Mrs. Pearl B. Hines. Those initiated were: Lucille Furrer, June Hodge, of Eastern Oregon College, Eugene Blair, Sidney Stuber, and Robert Furrer.

The regular meeting of Phi Beta Sigma annual banquet was set for February 23, 1952. White and red roses were to be the color theme for the decorations. The guests were to be seated in order of importance and the guest charm of the banquet.

Men Must Register For Selective Service

Oregon State Headquarters, Selective Service System, issues a warning that failure to register is a violation of the law and failure to register within the date allowed by the Universal Military Training and Service Act as amended June 18, 1951.

A "great many youth," said Con- gressman W. M. Warren, Deputy state director, "either unwillingly or be- cause of temptation or because of--with it--attitude are failing to register at the rate of approximately 2 per cent every year in prison or a fine of $1000, or both."

It is said that a great many col- lege students and men who have been released from active service are not even aware that they are required to register, according to government officials received from local boards. "This is far from being the fact," went on the congressman. "Every one returns the form August 30, 1952, unless continuously enrolled in active duty."

A group must register and it certainly would be very wise for any one who has fallen or any reason present himself for registration to do so immediately.

All local high schools have standing instructions to submit the names of those sons who are known or are suspected of failure to register at the proper time to Federal authorities for investigation, with a record of the facts warranted.

Contest To Be Held

"Can Education Solve the Alcohol Problem?" is to be the topic for an essay contest to be held by Dr. Floyd Albin as the new co-sponsor of the local chapter.

Contributions to this contest are to be from 500 to 500 words in length. Fifteen prizes are to be sud- denly, first prize is $20.00. Four hundred and fifty summer scholarships are also to be given.

Anyone interested is asked to write the contest committee, Intercollegi- aal Education Association for Study of the Al- cohol Problem, 13 North Thrid, Portland 1, Oregon. Closing date is December 15, 1951, to see Miss Jane Hale for details.

YOUR SHOE—BREATHING IN TO

Alwaier Shoe Shop
Monday evening, before leaving for Thanksgiving vacation, the dorm had its annual Thanksgiving banquet. We had turkey with all its trimmings, topped off with a mince pie for dessert. It was all just delicious.

Last week Ann Danielson and Ruth Troyer had a birthday. Happy birthday, girls.

News of Arnold Arms
Arnold Arms news? I’m sorry there’s none. No fellows got married, no party. There have been no engagements in the past week. I guess the fellows here are a wee bit meek.

Everything well which is quite wonderful. The noise up here, it’s just like the old days. It never is quiet, there’s always a roar, as the echo rebounds from floor to floor. One thing we did in the not too distant past caused the Todd hall flag to fly at half mast. A group of 36 boys with songs paraded and sang to the girls as they never had before. Now that Sadie Hawkins day has passed, the fellows can come out of their shell and sing to the girls. So they had themselves a ball. It’s time to stop this silly chatter about things that do not matter; someday there will be a change of events and Arnold Arms news will then commence.

West House News
Ruth Ingle’s 19th birthday was acknowledged at the Thursday evening dinner on November 28. The West house girls surprised Ruth when they began singing “Happy Birthday,” and a birthday cake with 19 candles appeared from the kitchen.

Intramural

Only four teams have entered to date in the intramural basketball season, and coach Jack Milhous states that efficient organization is necessary on the part of those interested in playing on an intercollegiate basis. With simplified cooperation by interested students, the support of the student body as a whole, and intramural programs can be developed into a constructive feature.

The idea that all individuals and groups interested in participation or sponsorship contact him immediately so that schedules can be drawn for operation in the very near future.
