Dear Editor:

For the past year OCE has had a considerable government, an endless maze of meetings and decisions. The student body has had an efficient director that has met with little or no opposition.

Why this belligerent attitude? Why aren't at least a third of the enrolled students satisfied with the government? Why aren't you content with the government as it is? Why aren't you interested in your own welfare and the government's welfare?

Dear C.O.E. students:

Now we are initiating a new constitution, one of the best that has ever been written. This constitution should be pondered before the day of the vote. This is a constitution to benefit you, the voters. Why not attend, at least examine the proposed change which would be a most necessary measure for your government?

The present constitution should be revised some time ago. It should have been written by an organization representing the student body. We, the student body, should be more interested in the government of our school, instead of letting just a few people work, instead of letting just a few people work, instead of letting just a few people work, instead of letting just a few people work. Why not attend, at least examine the proposed change which would be a most necessary measure for your government?

There is a vast difference between the present and the new constitution. By examining both, you may be surprised with the results.

Posted on the bulletin boards in Campbell hall and the administration building is a list of students who have not yet completed their tetanus tests. All of these people are asked to report to the health service this afternoon, Monday, regardless of whether the first or second test is to be given. It is hoped that this testing be completed in the very near future in order that arrangements may be made for follow-up examination of the students who have shown positive reactions to the test.

Students who were given the Schick test on Thursday of last week are reminded to report to the health service on Tuesday afternoon, April 13, in order that the tests may be read.

Those persons who show a positive reaction to the test will then be given an opportunity to take the diptheria toxoid which provides immunity to this disease. The immunization is given in a series of three doses at three-week intervals, and the cost is 25 cents.
