Laugh at "Charley's Aunt" on March 3-4

The above scene from Charley's Aunt, the rip-roaring comedy which starred at Campbell hall auditorium on March 3 and 4 at 8 p.m., shows Logan Forster in the role of Charley's Aunt, listening to the confidences of two sweet young things portrayed by Stella Bellingham and Joan Metcalf. George Ten-Yeck and Willis Love are waiting to get "Army" alone.

European Study Course Planned by Professor

Dr. Hermann Stiebhardt, professor of economics at Lewis and Clark college, Portland, has announced plans to conduct an eight-week study course of Europe with possible college credit from the middle of June through August. The course is to be held in such countries as France, Switzerland, Austria, Belgium, Holland and the Scandinavian countries.

Dr. Stiebhardt, who is a native of Berlin, has traveled extensively in all those countries and speaks the main European languages. He is a graduate of the University of Vienna with a degree in economics. He taught in a university and secondary school and was an instructor at the Overseas Administrative School of Harvard in the university before coming to Lewis and Clark college.

He will lecture during the passage to Europe and on the tour about the geography, social and economic problems and culture of the countries to be visited. More than half of the tour will be spent in the Alps. An outdoor enthusiast, Dr. Stiebhardt has climbed many of the largest mountain peaks in Switzerland and Austria.

It will be "one true way for the students and teachers to see Europe by means of other than bureau business," he points out. "Students will be encouraged to write paper on the countries visited on the return trip."

Dr. Stiebhardt estimates the tour will cost approximately $1,200 Portland to Portland and will be limited to 20 persons. Mrs. Steinhardt, also a teacher and linguist, will accompany and assist her husband on the tour.

OCE Debaters Enter Tournament

The OCE forensic group returned to the campus Saturday after making their third trip to Lindsey college where they participate in the intercollege forensic tournament held there last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Thirty schools were represented at the tournament making a total of over 300 debate teams. Other speech contests which were held at the tournament included impromptu speaking, extemporaneous speaking, oralatory, after-dinner speaking, and oral interpretation.

OCE had six teams in debate, one contestant in oratory, two in impromptu, one in oral interpretation and three in extemporaneous speaking. Three of the debate teams were entered in the senior division where they met (Continued on Page Two)

Chaplains Speak On Brotherhood

Father George L. O'Keefe of Salem St. Vincent DePaul Parish, and Reverend Clark S. Blake of the Methodist church at Dallas were featured speakers at the special chapel assembly held Friday, March 4, at 11 a.m. This chapel service was held to observe Inter-faith week.

Both speakers stressed the importance of unity, acceptance, and friendship toward other religions, creeds and colors. They gave examples of how America is more or less an experiment in religious tolerance and how we must work to see the achievement in the same spirit. Other nations will look toward us to see the guidance in tolerance and unity.

Music was provided by the OCE choir which sang Bach's "Meditation" and "As Torrents in Summer."

To the editor: It has been brought to my attention that during the last month we have employed Eastern Oregon and Southern Oregon students to an extent amounting to 100% of the total number of students enrolled at our college. This has raised some questions among the students, some of whom have inquired as to why we have hired these students. The reason for this is that we believe it is in the best interest of our college to have a diverse representation on our editorial board. Effective leadership in a basketball game is achieved by the teamwork and the individual, both being only a mortar, is bound to occur occasionally.

Next time before we e-mail, "Boo!" in disagreement with the other students. His step, and his fellow, to those who think to ourselves: "Boo, would my ears ever be red if I had pointed a bore like he just made?"

Crupus State college in featured as "crowning of the month" in the March issue of the Campus Magazine. It is hoped that this will interest all in the students a more active interest in the magazine, because of the close association with Oregon State, both geographically and socially.

The Campus Magazine offers OSU a helping hand in her drive to put OCE in the forefront of all universities. It is hoped that this will influence the students to a school which has so much to offer students. The magazine should remain as insignificant in the minds of both prospective students and the very students on our campus. Arent you proud of OSCe; of the friendliness, the opportunity to be an individual in the eyes of your instructor as well as in the eyes of your fellow students; of Maple hall with its five cent coffee and its nickel-free lock-up, its overstuffed easy chair, its overstuffed easy chair, its overstuffed easy chair, its overstuffed easy chair.

If you are interested in knowing what the students are thinking about, please order your own copy of the Campus Magazine today and make it a part of your daily reading.

The campus Magazine offers an opportunity to tell the colleges that we are doing some of our best work. Have sold an average of 25 magazines a month since we began working with the magazine. From 50 to 100 copies a month will sell in an active part of the magazine. The staff of the magazine have been retired, and the publication is completed, placed before you at every opportunity. The Campus covers our campus as a whole, and our campus is well-covered and is circulated widely on all these campuses. We are a part, true, a very small one, but we are a working part of the thing that can make our school a known one. A campus is as extensive as the goal in the heart of its student body.—B.O.

It looks as if spring is upon us at last, and it seems that the freshmen and sophomores are enjoying the change. The weather is pleasant, and the campus girls in particular are catching a lot of attention. The weather is pleasant, and the campus girls in particular are catching a lot of attention.

Speaking of spring, the other day Leo Haszutink, who comes from Macon Pest, said in his room, John Atlas: "I think I hold a bold chop? John looked quizzically and said, "That was that, but that coat."

Staff & Key
Staff and Key is sorry to see basketball season drawing to an end. However, there are always good things connected with the bad, no more ice cream bar selling for a while! To acquire our new pledges with the organization of staff and key, the bicentennial was read at our meeting Thursday evening.

Why was Elected to Staff and Key was the 200 word themes read by new members. Perhaps the most notable of the themes was that idea she is a member due to "big sister." The reason Marilyn Schrunk explained was that "I love them very personally." Margaret Nyo's practical reason seemingly related was she was dubious as to her reason for election. The history of Thelma Berboy's life to the present time included her ambition to became a member as the explanation of her membership. Each theme we extremely well-organized and now is added to our collection of pledges.

Here is a riddle for you to solve: Three men walked into a hotel and asked how much it would cost them for a room for a night; when spoken she told them that it would cost $30 or $10 each. They paid $10 apiece and went upstairs to their room. Now, the clerk felt kind of guilty for having charged them so much for the room, so she called the bell-boy and told him to take $5 upstairs to the man and to divide it between them. The boy took the money but, while on his way upstairs, he decided that he didn't know how to divide $35 ways, so he kept $2 and gave each of the three men 11 dollars. Each man paid his $10, so for a total of $30, but now he recollected $1 back, making his total payment only 29. Now, here is the riddle: if the three men have 30 dollars and the bellboy has $2, making a total of $32 -- where is the other dollar? Solution next week in case you haven't already figured it out for yourself.

Last week was Brotherhood week, but let's have it next week, and make every week Brotherhood week -- here at OCE, at home, wherever you are. Remember that all men are created equal and that means equal!

Knights Of A.A.

Greetings, all ye friends and knights of the dinner table. This is your rather beaten and fatigued
Sir Gilahad, writing on the old quill and parchment to send another castle to you. Yours truly humbly apologies for not having anything in last week's Lamron, but due to the fact that I was in the infirmary all week,
sentoring an eye on Sir Wilde costumes perhaps poster and knew which was kept an eye on me, I was unable to get any news to write. However, I do try to make up for it this week.

The Knights of A.A. were very prudent to have Dr. Arne Bjornberg visit our castle when he was here and meet several of the fellows. In the evening Mr. Nolon took him to see the basketball game. It was the first that he had ever seen, and he was very interested in it. He was amused almost as much by the antics of the high school cheer leader as he was by the actual game.

Perhaps the most novel news of the last couple of weeks has been the visit that we had from a couple of ways popular, particularly around
St. Valentine's day, Sir Cupid.
Wounded By his arrows was Sir Chuck Humble, who now not only takes care of his red horse,
much chivalry, but also has begun to think about his Lady Mary
E. I know Sir Chuck's A.A. roommate, Sir Gordon Hewitt, must have been pitched a little too, because this week he placed a ring on the finger of Lady Norma Jean. Wow, take a look at the ring, gorgeous!

Last week we were invaded some writing legends. No, none of the knights have lost any legs lately-- the legs were for some of the furniture in that some;

Wolves Defeated 26-24

The highlight of WAA basketball this week was the Wolverines' 26-24 defeat of the formerly untouchable Willamette University WAA crew of Salem. The local girls got off to a fine start and continued on to a 14-24 victory last Wednesday.

The Wolves surged ahead early in the contest, while the Salem girls tried hard to catch up. The local girls led by points to come up and kept the Wolves off balance throughout the game. Unbeaten in 20 games this year, the Salem crew is now 2-3 in the conference.

The second half started and the Wolves crew made their last stand for the lead and just about caught up. Their rally was not quite enough, however, and the local girls ran off with the game by two points.

Frosh Whipped 20-11 By Sophs

The sophomores built up a nine-point lead in the first half of their game with the freshmen last Wednesday and continued on to a 13-11 victory for OCE.

The second half saw the freshmen make a bid for the lead but it was not enough. This gave the sophomores the upper hand.

The Summation Of Les McKim

By Lester McKim

There are strange things afoot this night moon. By moon light, this is the tale of a good man and a great order.

The college deans describe queer scenes to their hearts. For the knowledge that comes of the night is not always welcome. The teaching order has its limitations.

For a ride to the well-known castle.

That I picked up the key and ran ready to go now to control on how to be kind.

Now when you see me at old OCE looking both jolly and mean, the chances are great that I'm casting my bail.

I plowed through the old campus miles,

That is why we'll recall when we are gone.

And are settled with some little

The poor folks speedier to meet up the facts

That was a trip we made in the year of our Lord.

And I'll soon be gone on another journey.

I wish I knew where to put them.

I wonder what that song means to them?

I wish I knew that the song meant something to them.

The small quarters of Sir Stan Brown has been the center of many early morning debates and discussions. We understand that Sir Stan and Sir Marv Hart have talked long about many things including their studies and some things that wouldn't exactly come under the classification of "studies."

We'll, friends, my berry juice ink is just about gone and my quill is running dry, so I guess I'll just have to close up shop and come again some other time.
