March 12 Term’s Last Folk Dance

The last square dance of the term has been scheduled for Saturday, March 12, by Mrs. Faye Buxton and organized by the folk dance class. The schedule includes good old-fashioned square dances, orchestral dances, polka and dance band dances by invited bands.

From the Sleeps that have been made and will be made in June of the same, and by a real old-fashioned hot and cold lunch style, with a variety of foods. The dance will take place in the PE building and tea must be provided. The band will be the Columbia State College orchestra composed of Wally Meuninger, John Herbert, H. H. Holman, and Alton Hall.

A Campus As Extensive as the Goal in Our Hearts

We think the letter to the editor written by Miss Barbara Gates which we published last week not only demonstrated very English English but also stated some truths we, as a student body, would be foolish to overlook. If we are to be proud of OCE, we must make certain that its name remains beyond the confines of Monmouth. This is no raw, unseasoned institution unworthy of note. OCE has an unspoiled, fresh outlook; a wealth of tradition, a history, which no college need be ashamed of. The new publicity bureau and others are doing and will continue to do all that can be accomplished to place the name of OCE before the public.

Still noteworthy as these efforts are, there remains the wholehearted cooperation of the student body to complete the picture. As Miss Gates phrases it, "A campus is as extensive as the goal in the heart of the student body."

We are to join the ranks of those past graduates of this institution whose voices were not raised in defense, in exposition, in praise of our college? We sincerely hope not. Yet, it is easy to slip along with the current and "let George do it." Poor "George" is a pretty busy fellow. We suggest that the student body adopt collectively the name of "George," and do it ourselves.

Have you guessed the answers to the crossword puzzle? If not, here is the answer:

- Dorm: The other way, a strange sight was seen coming down the hall on the lord floor of this house. Let's Elizabeth and Sue's Pet Plus came walking down the hall with a little dog on a leash, and each girl had a rinse from the leash leading up to her hand. They brought the dog down to this writer's room and asked that his name was Oscar. Oscar was white with black spots. Now, this is all perfectly alright, and Oscar could be a nice dog. You could see him in a window, and dog couldn't be seen by anyone other than Arnold and Lois. It isn't black penguins, it's invisible dogs. What next?

- Nan Marriot, second floor resident, saw to Montana State college kids. She rented a dance with her friend, Jack Rehberg, who is a Kappa Sigma and grew and grew, but only to a few. No matter what I applied the cure-all to, they wilted all over the place.

The really big landslide came when Donna Miller attended the Portland Symphony Orchestra's final concert in Salem; and Wednesday, Wilma Speck, our star basketball player, confessed that while she was shaking Chile powder into some cocoa—"It's because my pen is still hot and I shouldn't have used a sharpener, but I'll try to scribble out a passel of news with the stub."

The next column item this week was the snow avalanche in the upper floors of the castle both late at night and in the morning. When the knights began to explore the living room to try to find out where the sound was coming from, they usually discovered that it was being produced by either former knights Dan Unruh or Will Love, or Mr. Noonan, who were in the process of running their fingers over the ivories. They occasionally found that it was from Sir Andy's electric guitar. They said other sounds were not so melodious—in fact they were positively repulsive. These were the times when they would tip Sir Andy with a brassie and we slapped the old ranch honor in fine shape.

Did you know that type of our old ranch house at the head of the column? Many thanks to our photographer, Willis Kethley, who got this unusual photo. The white stuff on the roof is snow. Remember what he said.

Knights of A.A.
Good evening, kids, this is your old Chuck Gilhes here to tell you another interesting story about the A.A. Knights or OCE. Once upon a time, there was a brave little knight, the battle, called Arnold Arms, 17 knights, a baron (Mr. Noonan), a sheriff and little grimmies. Then one day, four of the knights (Chuck Humble, Gordon Hawley, Stan Sportling, and Art Bomer) decided to move out while only two (Sir Ralph and Sir Chuck) stayed. The question for the day is: how many knights were there left at 4:4? While you're trying to figure it out, let me take you time out here and give you a new Chuck Gilhes's Aztec fortune and a zany adie.

Now that we have had a chance to recover from the thrills of the varsity's three wins in one week to wind up the season, we have delved into the book, have added, subtracted, etc., and have arrived at the following figures:

Scoring: The scoring parade this season by the OCE hoop squad was led almost all season by Jack Palmer who seemed to be the big bad wolf to our opponents. Jesse finished the season with a total of 342 points. Following his lead are Harrell Smith with 219, Mary Ellender 211, Claude Buckley 215, Bob McKee 206, Oate Hols-\[\text{\textemdash}\]weger 192, and Karl Mastin 79. Team scoring was 1152 for OCE to 1092 for her opponents.

The Wolves took ten out of two against meet college of Portland. Clark 27 also fell twice to the Wolves. The OCE hoopsters fell prey to the Willamette crew, one here and once there. Pacific U won the first of their two game series with the latter by one point on a last minute bucket on their home floor but could not repeat here at Monmouth which gave the Wolves a split. The Humboldt State Libbeygarchs downed the local crew by two points in the only contest that was played between them and the Wolves. The SOCE crew handed our boys three defeats in three contests but none were complete runaways. The Oregon Tech Owls won one game from the traveling OCE quintet on their home floor and as this was the only game scheduled that the Owls did not have a chance to even the count. Vanport accounted for two more of the Wolves' 16 losses Pacific college of Newberg fell to the Wolves' first contest in two seasons, and Lewisfield made the win column twice with victories over the local classic.

TRACK & FIELD CANDIDATES
Coach Stilwell is holding a meeting of all persons interested in the track squad at 4:30 p.m. today (Monday, March 7). The meeting will be held in the new gym where the facilities and equipment will be demonstrated. Interested is urged to attend.

Varsity To Meet All Stars Tonight
The intramural all-stars finished up their season last night when they met the OCE varsity to complete their basketball contests for both aggregations for the year. Bob McKee who was elected captain of the varsity squad will direct the varsity crew in their efforts and the all-stars will be under the hand of Archie Padberg. With this tournament has been much speculation as to whether the all-stars could hold their own with the varsity and this contest will prove the fans their answer.

The all-stars to date have won three games and lost one, due to their victory last Wednesday night over the Monmouth team. The victors were led by Ralph Stilwell with 13 points as they maintained control of the contest completely after the first quarter and went on to victory by a 67-44 score. Bill Hill followed the lead of Stilwell with 19 tallies.

Staff & Key
Upholding and selling refreshments composed this week's activities for Staff and Key. Friday evening we usheredcitizens of Monmouth and Independence in Campbell hall for the demonstration. We have the Wolves in their first contest as this was the only game scheduled for the Wolves. At the end of the season Bob McKee was elected captain. Bob was the leading scorer for the season, which is food for thought. The losses incurred this year were greater in number than the wins but the thrills that the fans experienced were hard to beat.
