Kane To Supervise Kindergarten Work

Nursery and kindergarten for children of pre-school age will be a summer feature of the OCE laboratory school at the summer session. All the pre-school work will be held in the new primary unit which features furniture and equipment especially built.

Dr. Martha T. Hocking will direct the nursery school, and the kindergarten will be in charge of Miss Mildred Kane. Dr. Hocking has had experiences in nursery school work at Vassar college and Johns Hopkins university. Miss Kane is director of the kindergarten program of the Oregon College of Education and has done advanced work in early childhood education at Columbia University.

Registration Data

Fully Described

Registration for the 1949 summer session will be held in the gymnasium between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, June 15. Payments for tuition and fees will be made in the business office in the Administration building between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The only requirement for admission to the summer session is ability to do the work. However, students who wish to become candidates for graduation from the Oregon College of Education must satisfy regular entrance requirements. Students wishing to work toward graduation (from the three-year or the degree curriculum) should file with the Registrar complete official transcripts covering all school work above the eighth grade.

Twelve quarter hours of work is the maximum standard load for the summer session. Veteran students must carry a minimum of eight quarter hours to qualify for full scholarship from the veteran's Administration.

See Miss Seavey For Housing Info

Information concerning housing for summer school students may be obtained from Miss Joan Seavey, dean of women.

Miss Seavey will be in charge of summer residence for the children begins and will spend another week after classes and in evaluating the approach and its results.

Dr. Gunn's Welcome
The entire staff takes this opportunity to welcome all of our own groups of students who will attend this year's summer session. To those of you who are new on the campus, be sure to make yourselves known to the professors and the members of the administrative staff. To those returning students who have been teaching in the field this year, be sure and let us know of your experiences in the profession and let us know in what way we can be of service to you in planning for the next year's experiences and problems.

To those of you who have been currently enrolled in the school during the past year, help us, the members of the faculty, to make this summer a most pleasant one for the visiting staff, the students new to the campus, and those who are returning to us from the field.

We hope you all have a pleasant and profitable summer and that our pleasant experiences will together make you glad that you came.

Dr. Joseph Frederick Santee, beloved professor of social studies and education, last week ended with retirement a service of 20 consecutive years to education and youth.

Leng noted for the wide range of his lectures. Dr. Santee always had a gift of personal anecdotes which he could always subject to life for his listeners.

A true democrat in the grandest sense, he had carried much of his vigorous, positive philosophy into classes, there to drive it home with a keen, but always gentle, wit and humor.

Dr. Santee was born in Oswego, Kansas, June 23, 1884. Coming to Oregon soon after the turn of the century, he became superintendent of schools at Connell, Washington, in 1914; principal of the Banks, Oregon, high school in 1916; took his B.S. degree at OCE in 1919; became principal of Corvallis junior high school in 1920, and came to OCE in 1926.

Dr. Santee continued advanced study at U. of Oregon, U. of Colorado, and U. of California at Stanford University. The degree of master of science was conferred upon him by the U. of Oregon in 1938, and he won his Ph.D. from the University of Washington in 1939.

In those days OCE offered a commercial subjects course, and Dr. Santee recalled his first teaching assignment as commercial law.

Wide-Ranging Recreational Program Is Set

Trips, Concerts, Movies, Dances  Fill Odd Hours of Summer Term

Summer session students at OCE will have an opportunity to participate in an activity program that is as varied and extensive as any ever planned for the campus. Of particular interest to all will be the square dancing program under the direction of Miss Dorothy Gillanders from Tempe, Arizona. Miss Gillanders is one of the better known square dancing instructors and teachers in the west. Students will have an opportunity to register for classes in square dancing, or they may simply join in the festivities without planning to register.

Another important part of the activity program will be bus and automobile excursions to scenic spots in Oregon. Trips to Crater Lake, the Oregon coast, to Mt. Hood, and the Columbia, to Bend and Central Oregon, are a few of the many places to be visited by the special tour groups. At least four movies will be included in the season's calendar. They will be shown every week. The series is designed to give educational and entertainment films, to be shown on alternate weeks. The entertainment choices will be current and popular releases; the educational movies will illustrate, free and inexpensive visual aids materials that may be used by the classroom teacher. Dr. Robert Arshad, professor of Physics at Albany High School, will supervise the educational showings. He feels that this program will give teachers an excellent opportunity to use the films available in this field.

Several concerts and performances by special artists will also be included. The famous Alma Althaus Trio will be presented in concert on July 7. This group was introduced last year at the CCE summer session. Mrs. Goodwin, Mr. Wanless Head Social Studies, Science Workshops

Faculty Expands

Miss Dorothy F. Gillanders, Art Supervisor, Miss Margaret R. Denney, R.N., Assistant Director of the School for Flower Arrangement, and Miss Margaret Steiger, Assistant Librarian, will be in charge of the Library.

The days on which they will not be in charge will be announced in the campus paper.

Director of Women’s Division of Arts and Crafts, University of Arizona, and Mrs. Marie Ring Erickson of the Arizona State College, and Dr. Lucius Gillanders from Arizona State Teachers College, will work with the student leaders in the development of the southern regional division. They will register as extension students or $25.00 fee for full-time study.

Third, those students who wish to receive credit for graduation will need to register as special students or $25.00 fee for full-time study. They may file an application for "reserve credit" which will grant them the right to take graduate courses toward an advanced degree at the University of Oregon.

One advantage of the light teaching load is the opportunity for individual and tutorial work on difficult subjects.
