2014

Viewpoint (Art and Descriptive Text)

Kaylyn Hill
Western Oregon University, khill13@wou.edu

Stacey Roten
Western Oregon University, sroten11@wou.edu

Siyu Wang
Western Oregon University, swang12@wou.edu

Jimmy A. Wilder
Western Oregon University, J iwilder10@wou.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.wou.edu/pure

Part of the Graphic Design Commons

Recommended Citation
Hill, Kaylyn; Roten, Stacey; Wang, Siyu; and Wilder, Jimmy A. (2014) "Viewpoint (Art and Descriptive Text)," PURE Insights: Vol. 3 , Article 3.
Available at: https://digitalcommons.wou.edu/pure/vol3/iss1/3

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Scholarship at Digital Commons@WOU. It has been accepted for inclusion in PURE Insights by an authorized editor of Digital Commons@WOU. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@wou.edu.
Abstract
This art was created as part of a class zine project. The concept/direction for the zine was generated by a group of students, then selected by the class for use. This cover was a collaborative interpretation of that concept conceived of by Kaylyn Hill, Stacey Roten, Siyu Wang, and Jimmy Wilder. The design was executed by Kaylyn Hill.

The problem the class addressed was:

Imagine that hundreds of designers used their skills and creativity to respond to the most important and newsworthy issues of today. This collection will be the focus of a blog, a book, an exhibition, a documentary... (it doesn’t really matter what format or media it might be, ultimately). How would this kind of graphic statement—this power used for good, for awareness, for protest, etc.—be expressed? What would you title it? What visual treatment might be applied to or accompany that title?

The "Viewpoint #nofilter" concept reflects the act of looking closely and critically at world events and responding with honesty. Therefore, there are many perspectives of the world shown but within a form that also resembles an eye, a target, a print registration mark, etc.

The art was modified for the cover of PURE Insights, but is presented here in the original form.

Keywords
#nofilter viewpoint perspective media design zines